Ike Given New Series Of Vital Medical Tests

WASHINGTON, Feb.11 (AP) — President Eisenhower spent 70 minutes today at the Army's Walter Reed Hospital where physicians completed a new series of medical tests on him.

The results, to be announced in three or four days, could be a big factor in whether he seeks re-election.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, announced after the hospital visit that a team of top-flight doctors had completed medical tests which included X-rays, fluoroscopic studies, a blood chemistry analysis, and a cardiogram tracing heart performance and repair of heart damage since Eisenhower's attack last Sept. 24.

On Tuesday the doctors will get together for consultations based on results of the medical tests. They will make public their findings either that same day or Wednesday morning.

This was the first full-scale physical examination the President had undergone since mid-December.

When he arrived at the hospital with Mrs. Eisenhower in midafternoon the President looked a bit grim. On leaving one hour and ten minutes later, however, his face lighted in a smile. There was no immediate word on what the physicians may have told the chief executive and Hagerty said there would be no announcement before Tuesday.

Four-Way Race For Mayor Is Rumored Here

First City Primary Expected May 22; Plans Incomplete

Monroe's city government is on the verge of an election, with four men rumored as possible candidates for mayor.

The four men are John E. Coon, present mayor; Jack Howard, defeated in 1952 by Coon; William Rodriguez, former commissioner of finance and utilities; and Jamar Adcock, contractor and businessman.

Unofficial reports have it that Mayor Coon will accept an appointment to a state job to be offered by Governor-elect Earl K. Long. Coon has neither confirmed nor denied these reports.

More recently it has been unofficially reported that Commissioner of Streets and Parks Wayne Huckaby will be named to a state highway department job by the incoming governor.

Huckaby said yesterday that he has no commitments at this time.

Long was unavailable for comment yesterday.

George Fink, secretary of the city Democratic executive committee, said Friday that the date of March 19 has been set tentatively for a meeting of his committee to call a primary election.

He said the first primary election date, also tentative, is May 22, with a runoff, if any, on June 24. The general city election, in which Democratic candidates would campaign against Republican and other candidates, is set for July 17, Fink said.

Qualifying dates will be from March 20 through March 29.

To be elected for the city government this year are the mayor, commissioner of streets and parks, and commissioner of finance and utilities. These three make up the city council.

Asked by a Morning World reporter about their possible candidacies for mayor, three men answered with the following:

Howard—"I have not officially decided."

Adcock—"I don't know. I have been approached with requests to

Man Who Fled U. S. Tax Trial Shot To Death

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 11—UP—The Post-Dispatch said Saturday Carl W. Helfrich, who fled the United States in 1951 to avoid trial on a charge of evading $494,000 in income taxes, was shot to death Friday night at Acapulco, Mexico.

The newspaper said Helfrich, who operated a fleet of six launches in Acapulco harbor, was shot twice by a gunman who had hidden near Helfrich's automobile parked near the wharf.

The shooting was witnessed by several persons but none was able to identify the slayer.

Helfrich 55, made a fortune as a coal dealer, gambler and politician in East St. Louis, Ill.

He was indicted May 7, 1952, by a federal grand jury at Danville, Ill., on the tax evasion charge. He had fled to Mexico, however, in August, 1951, selling all his holdings a few days before the government fixed tax liens totaling $401,944 against him.

His attractive former wife, Alma Walton Helfrich of East St. Louis, from whom he was divorced twice, lives in Acapulco.

Death Roll Rises As Blizzards Hit Western Europe

LONDON, Feb. 11 (AP)—Blizzards scourged Western Europe today. They sent four ships aground and brought fresh terrors to the disastrous two-week freeze. The death toll mounted to 269.

Two Royal Air Force helicopters swooped out of the snows to rescue 10 British seamen clinging to the side of their grounded tugboat, the 592 - ton Rumania. The Rumania keeled over on the treacherous Long Sand 15 miles off the English east coast as it tried to pull off the grounded Brazilian freighter Loide-Honduras.

One helicopter hauled up eight men. Usually it can carry three. The other hovered 10 feet above the roaring waves to snatch the skipper and radio officer to safety.

Nine French fishermen stuck aboard the 70-ton trawler Marylis, ashore near Carnsore Point, southern Ireland. A lifeboat tried to tow them into deep water but failed. Police stood by on cliffs with rescue gear should the little ship start breaking up.

A lifeboat went out to help the 215 - ton Dutch motorship Tonny, aground off Scotland's east coast near Berwick. The ship floated off and later was reported drifting out to sea.

Oil Executive Denies Making 'Bribe' Offer

But Probe Reveals Money Came From Him Indirectly

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP) — The 2,500 cash "campaign donation" rejected by Sen. Francis Cace (R-SD) at the height of the hot fight over the natural gas bill came from the president of an oil and gas company, Senate investigators learned today.

But Howard B. Keck, president of Superior Oil Co. of Calif., swore he never knew the money was offered to Case until the senator arose in the Senate Feb. 3 and announced he was turning it down.

Elmer Patman, an Austin Tex., lawyer for Superior Oil, testified he happened to have some "personal funds" belonging to Keck, and used them to make the $2,500 contribution. He turned the money over to John M. Neff, lawyer-lobbyist, who gave it in the form of 25 $100 bills to a friend of Case's in Sioux Falls, S. D.

Neff declared Patman produced the money after Neff expressed belief Case would support the gas bill. Both Neff and Patman denied the gift had anything to do with the bill.

"There were no strings attached," they said.

Case told the Senate the contribution made him suspect there must be "extraordinary profits" for somebody in the bill, which would exempt natural gas producers from direct federal regulation. He voted against the bill Monday, but it passed the Senate and is now on President Eisenhower's desk.

The principal business of Superior Oil Co. is crude oil and natural gas. Foes of the gas legislation charged it would cost consumers millions in higher gas bills; backers of the legislation denied this, and said the measure was necessary to encourage exploration for gas.

Demands have been heard for a broader investigation to learn whether any other contributions were made. Sen. George (D-Ga), chairman of the Senate committee set up to determine whether the $2,500 was an improper attempt to influence Case's vote, said tonight the committee will have to

Youth Stabbed

Police Act To Quell Rowdyism At Mardi Gras

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 11—UP—Police stepped up their drive against rowdyism at the Mardi Gras parades today after violence broke out between Negro and white teenage gangs and a masker suffered a serious eye injury when a missile was thrown at a float.

Mayor deLesseps Morrison warned that what he called hooliganism will not be tolerated and that police have been instructed to eliminate it.

In the outbreak of violence last night, Rodney Guillot, 17, was stabbed in a dispute between five white youths and some dozen Negroes. The youth was treated at Charity hospital and held for observation.

Morrison disclosed that a masker on one of the Momus parade floats Thursday night suffered a serious injury to an eye. A sharp-spined pellet went through the eye-hole of his mask and badly pierced the cornea of his eye.

"We had been bombarded by rocks and pellets from the crowd for a block or so," the masker, who was not identified, said.

Some of the carnival float riders said if the missile throwing kept up it could mean the end of the Mardi Gras parades.

"No one wants to stand up there and be thrown at," they said "It's too dangerous."

The maskers are members of carnival organizations that stages parades. The maskers toss favors from the floats to the eager-armed watchers along the streets.

"The police department has been instructed to take firm, immediate and effective action to break up this type of hooliganism," Morrison said. "I am appealing to these thoughtless persons to stop this dangerous practice once and for all. Mardi Gras is still the greatest free show on earth. Let's not mar it for ourselves or for the persons who ride the floats."

Some 14 parades are scheduled from now through Mardi Gras day next Tuesday when Rex, the Lord of Mis-Rule, reign supreme, to end the carnival season.

Spies Burgess, MacLean Break Four-Year Silence

Fled To Aid Understanding, Britons Claim

Contend Neither Has Ever Been Russian Agents

MOSCOW, Feb. 11—UP—Former British diplomats Guy Burgess and Donald MacLean who disappeared from Britain in 1951 broke a four-year silence Saturday to say they fled their homeland to contribute to East-West understandings, not as fugitive Communist spies.

"Neither of us has ever been Soviet agents," they said.

MacLean, former head of the American section of the British foreign office, and Burgess, a second secretary who once worked at the British embassy in Washington, met with two British and two Russian newsmen in Moscow's national hotel.

The meeting was the first confirmation to the Western world that the pair had come to Russia. Both men disappeared from Britain in May, 1951, taking an English Channel steamer to France.

MacLean's American-born wife, Melinda, and their three children followed him behind the Iron Curtain in Sept. 1953.

(A British government white paper published last fall said the two diplomats had been under surveillance before their flight. Former Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison, in office in 1951, said he ordered them picked up for questioning on May 25 of that year, the very day they fled.)

In a statement to the four correspondents which was later broadcast by Radio Moscow the two Britons said:

"It seems to us that doubts and speculation as to our present whereabouts and our former activity may represent a small but significant factor which has hitherto been used and may again be used by the opponents of Anglo-Soviet mutual understanding.

"In view of these considerations we thought it better to publish this statement:

"We arrived in the Soviet Union in order to make our contribution

Body Of Missing Man Discovered In Cypress Creek

The body of a 79-year-old Ouachita parish man was found in the back waters of Cypress Creek in Ward Nine, one-quarter mile from his home about noon yesterday by one of many persons engaged in a search for him.

The dead man was identified by Dr. J. T. French, Ouachita parish coroner, as A. Jack Wheat, Route 3, West Monroe. Wheat, a World War I veteran, was last seen by a relative on February 2, according to the Ouachita parish sheriff's department.

Neighbors who had not seen Wheat for some time reported to the sheriff's department late Friday and a search was organized.

Parish deputies Friday night searched immediate vicinity where he was thought to have disappeared.

Yesterday deputies and other persons entered into a search for the man. Sheriff Bailey Grant flew the newly acquired department airplane over the area yesterday in an attempt to locate the man.

George Hagler, one of the horseback riders in the search discovered the man's body about noon Saturday, face down in a clump of half - submerged brush near the bank of Cypress Creek.

Hagler's attention to the entanglement of brush was attracted by the red cap Wheat was wearing when last seen.

"There is no evidence of foul play," Dr. French said yesterday when viewing the body.

Sheriff authorities theorized that Wheat became lost due to the extreme amount of high water, which could have caused the elderly man to lose his "bearings."

On the night of February 2, Frank Allen, husband of Wheat's neice in Bosco, rowed the elderly man across the Ouachita river after a visit, according to parish deputies. This supposedly was the last time the man was seen.

Orleans American Legion Probes Series Of Lectures To Be Presented At LSU

BATON ROUGE, Feb. 11—UP— A New Orleans American Legion Committee on Americanism is investigating a series of sitizenship lectures to be given at Louisiana State University by a Columbia University law professor.

When Kent H. Courtney of New Orleans, committee head, heard that Prof. Walter Gellhorn of Columbia was to lecture here next month he began an investigation.

Courtney said he questions Gellhorn's appearance on an LSU platform because of his alleged association with Communist-influenced oragnizations.

Week Sees New Flare Of Tempers On Integration

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Feb. 11 (AP)—Mob violence overrode a court order and a state judge threatened jail for federal agents this past week as tempers flared afresh in the 'continuing struggle over racial integration in the South.

From one end of the Deep South to the other, embers of resentment smouldered against the U.S. Supreme Court's antisegregation edicts.

The spotlight of international publicity focused on the University of Alabama campus here where cursing, stone-throwing mobs forced the Board of Trustees to exclude Miss Autherine Lucy from classes "until further notice."

Backed by a federal court order, the 26-year-old Birmingham Negro secretary had become the first of her race to sit in classes at the 125-year-old university Friday, Feb. 3.

There were noisy demonstrations last weekend and these reached a violent peak Monday when nearby factory workers and students rioted on the campus.

University authorities were struck with rocks and eggs as they spirited Miss Lucy through an angry crowd which grew to an estimated 3,000 or more.

The trustees' action barred Miss Lucy from the school "for her own safety." But she quickly asked a federal court in Birmingham to order the school to allow her to resume studies. She charged that the mob action was a "clever

New Red Effort To Split Britain And U.S. Seen

By The ASSOCIATED PRESS

The unveiling in Moscow of Burgess and MacLean looks like the opening shot in a new Kremlin campaign to drive a wedge between Britain and the United States.

The campaign could be planned to reach its crescendo when Nikita Khrushchev and Nikolai Bulganin make their visit to Britain in April. It is two-edged: On one side the Soviet leadership will atempt to woo Britain; on the other stir up animosity between the two great Western Allies.

Burgess and MacLean are suited for the object of spreading animosity. They have already been the cause of bad feeling between London and Washington and now they will cause more.

The controversy over how much damage MacLean and Burgess did to the West keeps popping up. It was raised again last week when Gen. Douglas MacArthur replied to former President Truman on

Old Maid Bookkeeper's Take Might More Than Double Brinks Case Loot

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 11—UP—The kindly old maid bookkeeper of a savings firm, dipping into the till over the years for charity, friends and kinfolks, may have made off with more than double the Brink's loot, auditors indicated Saturday. They said losses may run to $2.8 million.

Miss Minnie C. Mangum, 52, also may have set a record for the amount of an embezzlement, federal accountants said. They said her former firm, the Commonwealth Building and Loan Assn., placed in receivership immediately when they found its entire reserve fund of $2.1 million apparently drained.

For 20 years, Miss Mangum headed-up the bookkeeping department of Commonwealth, picking girl assistants right out of business college "to learn my system." But her system backfired just before Christmas when one of her young women recruits publicly challenged her entry system and put a federal auditor who overheard her on the spinster's trail.

A quick audit showed the firm might be as much as $900,000 short and Miss Mangum was charged specifically on Dec. 29 with a $100,000 theft. She was released in bail while a more complete 30-day audit was taken. That check showed that the reserve fund had vanished and the auditors began another 30-day examination which is still going on.

Some bank officials estimated the total losses to the loan association, including interest and earnings from the period "years ago" when Miss Mangum began embezzling, may run as high as $2.8 million.

The gang that looted the Brink's depository in Boston in 1950 got only $1.1 million in negotiable cash. The gang was rounded up by the FBI recently.

Miss Mangum admitted when the auditors confronted her with the original shortages that she had started taking money from the firm "years ago," but had no idea how much.

She lived modestly in a $10,000 house but examiners found she had bought lavish homes for relatives at fashionable Virginia Beach, contributed heavily to church and charity and was known as a "soft touch" for anyone she took a liking to. She was devoted church worker.

Since her arrest authorities have been searching out and attaching her various properties and interests including $50,000 in cash and securities. It was not yet known how much could be recovered.

Case told the Senate the contribution made him suspect there must be "extraordinary profits" for somebody in the bill, which would exempt natural gas producers from direct federal regulation. He voted against the bill Monday, but it passed the Senate and is now on President Eisenhower's desk.

The principal business of Superior Oil Co. is crude oil and natural gas. Foes of the gas legislation charged it would cost consumers millions in higher gas bills; backers of the legislation denied this, and said the measure was necessary to encourage exploration for gas.

Demands have been heard for a broader investigation to learn whether any other contributions were made. Sen. George (D-Ga), chairman of the Senate committee set up to determine whether the $2,500 was an improper attempt to influence Case's vote, said tonight the committee will have to

Police Act To Quell Rowdyism At Mardi Gras

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 11—UP—Police stepped up their drive against rowdyism at the Mardi Gras parades today after violence broke out between Negro and white teenage gangs and a masker suffered a serious eye injury when a missile was thrown at a float.

Mayor deLesseps Morrison warned that what he called hooliganism will not be tolerated and that police have been instructed to eliminate it.

In the outbreak of violence last night, Rodney Guillot, 17, was stabbed in a dispute between five white youths and some dozen Negroes. The youth was treated at Charity hospital and held for observation.

Morrison disclosed that a masker on one of the Momus parade floats Thursday night suffered a serious injury to an eye. A sharp-spined pellet went through the eyehole of his mask and badly pierced the cornea of his eye.

"We had been bombarded by rocks and pellets from the crowd for a block or so," the masker, who was not identified, said.

Some of the carnival float riders said if the missile throwing kept up it could mean the end of the Mardi Gras parades.

"No one wants to stand up there and be thrown at," they said "It's too dangerous."

The maskers are members of carnival organizations that stages parades. The maskers toss favors from the floats to the eager-armed watchers along the streets.

"The police department has been instructed to take firm, immediate and effective action to break up this type of hooliganism," Morrison said. "I am appealing to these thoughtless persons to stop this dangerous practice once and for all. Mardi Gras is still the greatest free show on earth. Let's not mar it for ourselves or for the persons who ride the floats."

Some 14 parades are scheduled from now through Mardi Gras day next Tuesday when Rex, the Lord of Mis-Rule, reign supreme, to end the carnival season.

Spies Burgess, MacLean Break Four-Year Silence

Fled To Aid Understanding, Britons Claim

Contend Neither Has Ever Been Russian Agents

MOSCOW, Feb. 11—UP—Former British diplomats Guy Burgess and Donald MacLean who disappeared from Britain in 1951 broke a four-year silence Saturday to say they fled their homeland to contribute to East-West understandings, not as fugitive Communist spies.

"Neither of us has ever been Soviet agents," they said.

MacLean, former head of the American section of the British foreign office, and Burgess, a second secretary who once worked at the British embassy in Washington, met with two British and two Russian newsmen in Moscow's national hotel.

The meeting was the first confirmation to the Western world that the pair had come to Russia. Both men disappeared from Britain in May, 1951, taking an English Channel steamer to France.

MacLean's American-born wife, Melinda, and their three children followed him behind the Iron Curtain in Sept. 1953.

(A British government white paper published last fall said the two diplomats had been under surveillance before their flight. Former Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison, in office in 1951, said he ordered them picked up for questioning on May 25 of that year, the very day they fled.)

In a statement to the four correspondents which was later broadcast by Radio Moscow the two Britons said:

"It seems to us that doubts and speculation as to our present whereabouts and our former activity may represent a small but significant factor which has hitherto been used and may again be used by the opponents of Anglo-Soviet mutual understanding.

"In view of these considerations we thought it better to publish this statement:

"We arrived in the Soviet Union in order to make our contribution

New Red Effort To Split Britain And U.S. Seen

By The ASSOCIATED PRESS

The unveiling in Moscow of Burgess and MacLean looks like the opening shot in a new Kremlin campaign to drive a wedge between Britain and the United States.

The campaign could be planned to reach its crescendo when Nikita Khrushchev and Nikolai Bulganin make their visit to Britain in April. It is two-edged: On one side the Soviet leadership will atempt to woo Britain; on the other stir up animosity between the two great Western Allies.

Burgess and MacLean are suited for the object of spreading animosity. They have already been the cause of bad feeling between London and Washington and now they will cause more.

The controversy over how much damage MacLean and Burgess did to the West keeps popping up. It was raised again last week when Gen. Douglas MacArthur replied to former President Truman on

Body Of Missing Man Discovered In Cypress Creek

The body of a 79-year-old Ouachita parish man was found in the back waters of Cypress Creek in Ward Nine, one-quarter mile from his home about noon yesterday by one of many persons engaged in a search for him.

The dead man was identified by Dr. J. T. French, Ouachita parish coroner, as A. Jack Wheat, Route 3, West Monroe. Wheat, a World War I veteran, was last seen by a relative on February 2, according to the Ouachita parish sheriff's department.

Neighbors who had not seen Wheat for some time reported to the sheriff's department late Friday and a search was organized.

Parish deputies Friday night searched immediate vicinity where he was thought to have disappeared.

Yesterday deputies and other persons entered into a search for the man. Sheriff Bailey Grant flew the newly acquired department airplane over the area yesterday in an attempt to locate the man.

George Hagler, one of the horseback riders in the search discovered the man's body about noon Saturday, face down in a clump of half - submerged brush near the bank of Cypress Creek.

Hagler's attention to the entanglement of brush was attracted by the red cap Wheat was wearing when last seen.

"There is no evidence of foul play," Dr. French said yesterday when viewing the body.

Sheriff authorities theorized that Wheat became lost due to the extreme amount of high water, which could have caused the elderly man to lose his "bearings."

On the night of February 2, Frank Allen, husband of Wheat's neice in Bosco, rowed the elderly man across the Ouachita river after a visit, according to parish deputies. This supposedly was the last time the man was seen.

Question Appearance Of Columbia Prof

BATON ROUGE, Feb. 11—UP— A New Orleans American Legion Committee on Americanism is investigating a series of sitizenship lectures to be given at Louisiana State University by a Columbia University law professor.

When Kent H. Courtney of New Orleans, committee head, heard that Prof. Walter Gellhorn of Columbia was to lecture here next month he began an investigation.

Courtney said he questions Gellhorn's appearance on an LSU platform because of his alleged association with Communist-influenced oragnizations.

His committee is part of the first congressional district's American Legion organization, Courtney said.

"We are still investigating," Courtney said. "And we'll report

Week Sees New Flare Of Tempers On Integration

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Feb. 11 (AP)—Mob violence overrode a court order and a state judge threatened jail for federal agents this past week as tempers flared afresh in the continuing struggle over racial integration in the South.

From one end of the Deep South to the other, embers of resentment smouldered against the U.S. Supreme Court's antisegregation edicts.

The spotlight of international publicity focused on the University of Alabama campus here where cursing, stone-throwing mobs forced the Board of Trustees to exclude Miss Autherine Lucy from classes "until further notice."

Backed by a federal court order, the 26-year-old Birmingham Negro secretary had become the first of her race to sit in classes at the 125-year-old university Friday, Feb. 3.

There were noisy demonstrations last weekend and these reached a violent peak Monday when nearby factory workers and students rioted on the campus.

University authorities were struck with rocks and eggs as they spirited Miss Lucy through an angry crowd which grew to an estimated 3,000 or more.

The trustees' action barred Miss Lucy from the school "for her own safety." But she quickly asked a federal court in Birmingham to order the school to allow her to resume studies. She charged that the mob action was a "clever

MUSKEGON, Mich., Feb. 11 — UP—Police, the Coast Guard and volunteers joined Saturday in the dramatic rescue of 60 fishermen who were stranded on a huge ice floe in Muskegon Lake.

The fishermen were cut off from the mainland when a sudden east wind parted the ice. Within minutes the breach was too wide for the fishermen to risk jumping.

A Coast Guard boat, an unidentified tug and a fleet of row boats manned by police and volunteers raced to the rescue and evacuated the fishermen in less than an hour.

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Feb. 11 — UP— Six European foreign ministers Saturday agreed to ask their governments to create a continental atomic energy pool.

Foreign Minister Paul Henri Spaak of Belgium said after a four and one-half hour conference that the six ministers would report back to their governments and meet again next month to make final decisions.

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 11—UP—The kindly old maid bookkeeper of a savings firm, dipping into the till over the years for charity, friends and kinfolks, may have made off with more than double the Brink's loot, auditors indicated Saturday. They said losses may run to $2.8 million.

Miss Minnie C. Mangum, 52, also may have set a record for the amount of an embezzlement, federal accountants said. They said her former firm, the Commonwealth Building and Loan Assn., placed in receivership immediately when they found its entire reserve fund of $2.1 million apparently drained.

For 20 years, Miss Mangum headed-up the bookkeeping department of Commonwealth, picking girl assistants right out of business college "to learn my system." But her system backfired just before Christmas when one of her young women recruits publicly challenged her entry system and put a federal auditor who overheard her on the spinster's trail.

A quick audit showed the firm might be as much as $900,000 short and Miss Mangum was charged specifically on Dec. 29 with a $100,000 theft. She was released in bail while a more complete 30-day audit was taken. That check showed that the reserve fund had vanished and the auditors began another 30-day examination which is still going on.

Some bank officials estimated the total losses to the loan association, including interest and earnings from the period "years ago" when Miss Mangum began embezzling, may run as high as $2.8 million.

The gang that looted the Brink's depository in Boston in 1950 got only $1.1 million in negotiable cash. The gang was rounded up by the FBI recently.

Miss Mangum admitted when the auditors confronted her with the original shortages that she had started taking money from the firm "years ago," but had no idea how much.

She lived modestly in a $10,000 house but examiners found she had bought lavish homes for relatives at fashionable Virginia Beach, contributed heavily to church and charity and was known as a "soft touch" for anyone she took a liking to. She was devoted church worker.

Since her arrest authorities have been searching out and attaching her various properties and interests including $50,000 in cash and securities. It was not yet known how much could be recovered.

N E Spring Play Based On Novel By C Marshall

Catherine Marshall's best seller novel, "A Man Called Peter," is the choice for Northeast State's spring play, which will have a two-night run, March 1 and 2, in Brown Auditorium on the campus. Curtain time is 8 p.m.

J. C. Wallace, speech major of Holly Ridge will carry the lead role that of Peter Marshall, in the three-act production, adapted from the novel by John McGreevey.

Faculty director of the play is George C. Brian, assistant professor of drama, who is being assisted by Betty Jean Jones, a student majoring in speech.

The story involves numerous characters. Besides the young minister, Peter Marshall, there are his devoted wife, their small son, a pair of spinsters a distinguished senator, two pretty high school seniors, an underprivileged teenage boy, a troubled girl about to break her engagement to her fiance, her career-minded mother and hen-pecked father, and a talented young man in his late teens.

These persons unfold the story of Peter Marshall, to whom life is service. He has gathered into his home the young people of the community. He makes their joys and sorrows his own. His wife, Catherine, played by Sarah Batton, realizes how willing he is to tax his strength in behalf of others, but by good-humoredly evades her to shield him.

Endeavoring to render service, Peter Marshall sometimes offends the more conservative elements in his church. Two older members are scandalized when they walk in on the minister illustrating (with the tea cloth on his head) how to play the role of an Arab sheik. But the minister has more serious problems. He even oppo-es a distinghished senator when he finds him determined to jail a boy who has erred but is now determined to live honestly.

The minister's burden becomes heavier when his wife's health fails and then his own, just as he is about to start a new and important undertaking. But in the finale the audience sees the indomitable spirit of Peter Marshall triumphing over every threat.

Cotton Futures Market Continues Upward Climb

Best showing was made by the nearer months, Nearby March surged ahead as strong demand for spot cotton in Southern markets encouraged buying here. The nearer deliveries were aided, too, by a continued tightening of the free cotton supply situation.

New crop months derived support from expectations that the new farm program will be a constructive one from the growers point of view. Traders were encouraged by the Senate Agriculture Committee's stand favoring farm price supports at 90 per cent of parity.

Enthusiasm was tempered somewhat, however, as traders realized that even with a support level of 90 per cent, a change in the definition of parity base quality would result in a lower level of price support on an active dollar-and-cents basis.

Attractive attention in trade circles was a report that when bids were opened Feb. 6, the federal government had sold 41,295 bales of upland cotton for unrestricted domestic use — the largest sale since this program was started last May 9. Total sales under the program making a total of 723,469 bales

Also of interest was the latest report on export sales by the Commodity Credit Corp. The CCC disposed of 107,130 bales of its surplus stock against bids opened Feb. 7, making a total of 623,469 bales sold thus far under its surplus export program.

Private export sales for the week ended Tuesday were estimated by the New York Cotton Exchange Service Bureau at 23,000 bales vs. 8,000 a week ago and 75,000 in the like week of 1955. This would lift total sales for the season through Tuesday to 915,000 bales, as compared to 2,041,000 bales at approximately the same time last season.

Jefferson Parish Primary Election Probe Completed

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 11—UP—A five-day probe by state investigators into alleged primary election irregularities in Jefferson parish was completed today and preparation of a report on the results was in the mill.

Assistant attorney general Michael E. Culligan Sr., said the report of his investigatiins would require about three days preparation. He said he would make known his findings to Attorney General Fred S. LeBlanc.

Charges and counter - charges were hurled during the hearings in the Gretna courthouse the past week by opposing political factions following mass public demonstrations over alleged vote frauds the day after the Jan. 17 Democratic primary.

William Klause, parish clerk of court, said he turned over tally sheets the night of the election as fast as they were available. But a group headed by Jules Mollere, successful candidate in the race for commissioner at large, charged mutilated absentee ballots found in a trash barrel in the rear of the Gretna courthouse the night of the election was "prima facie evidence of irregularities on the part of the clerk of court."

Chief deputy assessor L. Herman Gaudet said it was a "deliberate damnable lie" that he had touched any of the election returns.

J. Edgar Hoover Lauds Boy Scouts On Their Record

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, told the Boys Scouts of America in a 46th anniversary message that they "have every reason to be proud of the movement's earned record" and that their volunteer services "have greatly enriched the nation."

Scouts in the Ouachita Valley Council and others all over the nations will today end Boy Scout Week and a celebration of 46 years as an organization for betterment of boys' lives.

The scouts this year launched a four year program called "Onward for God and My Country." Hoover told the scouts that the program "is most timely and needed."

Hoover is a member of the National Council of the Boy Scouts. In 1943 he received the Silver Buffalo, its highest award "for distinguished service to boyhood."

The Council is made up of the following parishes:

Wife From Iraq Names Cousin As Husband's Slayer

The case, complicated by broken english and conflicting stories, involved Mrs. Victoria Haisha, 23; her cousin, Maurice Hamilton, 20, and her slain husband, Aziz, 35.

Police found Haisha dead in his bedroom early Friday. He had been stabbed in the chest three times.

Mrs. Haisha told police after hours of questioning Saturday that Hamilton stabbed her husband in his sleep, then tried to make it look as though it was the work of a burglar. The woman originally said her husband was slain by a husky dark-skinned burglar who broke into their apartment near downtown Detroit.

Hamilton and Mrs. Haisha are third cousins through the marriage of Hamilton's father, a Scotch engineer working in Baghdad, to his Iraqui mother. The youth came to Detroit to attend school. Mrs. Haisha came to Detroit last February to join her husband, who planned to open a grocery.

Mrs. Haisha accused Hamilton of the slaying when the two were confronted at police headquarters.

She added that she and Hamilton had been keeping company recently and frequently had intimate relations. Interpreters said Hamilton promptly denied the slaying but they were unable to determine how he answered the intimacies charge.

Mandatory Jail For Drunk Drivers Favored By Long

WINNFIELD, La., Feb. 11—UP—Gov.-elect Earl K. Long today said he favors mandatory jail terms for persons convicted of driving while intoxicated.

"If we had a road or highway just for drunk drivers that might be all right," he said. "They could run into each other. But you hardly can drive from one town to another today without meeting some drunk at a wheel."

Long said that he did not know what the jail term should be for the offense, but that the newspapers would perform a service by polling the public on what penalty is warranted.

"I hope we get a legislature that will help me accomplish my program," he said.

The antarctic continent has 6,205,000 square miles.

Sen. Long Sure Ike Will Sign Natural Gas Bill

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11(UP(—Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La.) said today he is sure President Eisenhower will sign the natural gas bill.

He said this was a "logical conclusion" since everyone who has studied the problem on the President's behalf favors the legislation; several Federal Power Commission members recommended it; and a majority of Republican senators voted for it.

"It seems to me that it would be fantastic for the President, with his background as a man who relies upon his trusted subordinates, to reverse the judgment of all those in whose hands he has placed the study of this matter," Long said.

Dorothy Lamour Sees Mardi Gras Carnival Parade

The attractive movie star said "I hope everything goes all right so I can actually stay here for Mardi Gras," which falls on Tuesday.

Miss Lamour was dressed in a conservative black suit, looking more the part of an attractive mother of two children, rather than the sultry sarong-clad siron of past screen fame.

The scouts this year launched a four year program called "Onward for God and My Country." Hoover told the scouts that the program "is most timely and needed."

Hoover is a member of the National Council of the Boy Scouts. In 1943 he received the Silver Buffalo, its highest award "for distinguished service to boyhood."

The Council is made up of the following parishes:

The case, complicated by broken english and conflicting stories, involved Mrs. Victoria Haisha, 23; her cousin, Maurice Hamilton, 20, and her slain husband, Aziz, 35.

Police found Haisha dead in his bedroom early Friday. He had been stabbed in the chest three times.

Mrs. Haisha told police after hours of questioning Saturday that Hamilton stabbed her husband in his sleep, then tried to make it look as though it was the work of a burglar. The woman originally said her husband was slain by a husky dark-skinned burglar who broke into their apartment near downtown Detroit.

Hamilton and Mrs. Haisha are third cousins through the marriage of Hamilton's father, a Scotch engineer working in Baghdad, to his Iraqui mother. The youth came to Detroit to attend school. Mrs. Haisha came to Detroit last February to join her husband, who planned to open a grocery.

Mrs. Haisha accused Hamilton of the slaying when the two were confronted at police headquarters.

She added that she and Hamilton had been keeping company recently and frequently had intimate relations. Interpreters said Hamilton promptly denied the slaying but they were unable to determine how he answered the intimacies charge.

Mandatory Jail For Drunk Drivers Favored By Long

WINNFIELD, La., Feb. 11—UP—Gov.-elect Earl K. Long today said he favors mandatory jail terms for persons convicted of driving while intoxicated.

"If we had a road or highway just for drunk drivers that might be all right," he said. "They could run into each other. But you hardly can drive from one town to another today without meeting some drunk at a wheel."

Long said that he did not know what the jail term should be for the offense, but that the newspapers would perform a service by polling the public on what penalty is warranted.

"I hope we get a legislature that will help me accomplish my program," he said.

The antarctic continent has 6,205,000 square miles.

Sen. Long Sure Ike Will Sign Natural Gas Bill

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11(UP(—Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La.) said today he is sure President Eisenhower will sign the natural gas bill.

He said this was a "logical conclusion" since everyone who has studied the problem on the President's behalf favors the legislation; several Federal Power Commission members recommended it; and a majority of Republican senators voted for it.

"It seems to me that it would be fantastic for the President, with his background as a man who relies upon his trusted subordinates, to reverse the judgment of all those in whose hands he has placed the study of this matter," Long said.

Dorothy Lamour Sees Mardi Gras Carnival Parade

The attractive movie star said "I hope everything goes all right so I can actually stay here for Mardi Gras," which falls on Tuesday.

Miss Lamour was dressed in a conservative black suit, looking more the part of an attractive mother of two children, rather than the sultry sarong-clad siron of past screen fame.

Greatest Business Boom Slackens Pace But Gains Over 1955 Still Holding

NEW YORK, Feb. 11 (AP) — The nation's greatest business boom slackened its pace a bit this week, although most lines still showed thumping gains over year-ago levels.

It was apparent that the wheels of industry were spinning at a slightly less furious speed. Auto manufacturers announced new cutbacks; rail freight loadings and coal production eased off. The stock market went into a mild decline. Some congressmen demanded easier mortgage terms to reverse what they called a sharp downturn in home construction.

Partly offsetting these declines was a burst of activity in the petroleum, chemical, paper and furniture industries. Oil companies smashed all records for production and refining of crude oil. Retail trade was still on the upbeat. Department store sales for the nation as a whole were five per cent greater than a year ago although here, too, the trend was up in some spots and down in others. Five of the nation's federal reserve districts—Atlanta, Dallas, Richmond, Kansas City and St. Louis—reported a decline in department store business from the corresponding week of last year.

Adding it all up, you got this picture: The economy, pushed to the limit in 1955, was taking time out to consolidate its gains.

The auto industry striving to curb the hottest production pace in its history, applied the brakes a little more firmly this week.

Chrysler, the nation's third largest automaker, announced it would lay off 5,400 production workers Monday, swelling the number idled since mid-December to 26,400, or nearly one-fifth of the company's total labor force. Ford laid off 950 more in Cleveland.

Word of the latest Chrysler layoffs coincided with announcement of the company's sales and profits performance for 1955 — earnings were the highest in five years—at 100 million dollars vs. 18½ million in 1954—and sales of nearly 3½ billion set a record.

Other earnings reports made news: Socony Mobil Oil Co. estimated its 1955 profits at a record-busting 200 million dollars, up 10 per cent from the year before; U.S. Rubber Co. reported net income of 33½ million, up 20 per cent and a new high. Net profits of R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. hit a new peak of 53¼ million, up 19 per cent, as sails of the company's filter-tip cigarettes doubled.

Net income of the nation's 130 class 1 railroads totaled 917 million dollars, up 36 per cent. The New York Stock Exchange reported that dividends paid on listed stocks in 1955 totaled a record 7½ billion dollars, up 15.7 per cent. Personal income of Americans last year touched a record 303½ billion dollars.

There was still a good solid foundation for an even higher level of prosperity in 1956. One bright spot was the construction industry. Although home building showed a greater-than-seasonal decline last month, construction of factories and other industrial buildings pushed along at a record clip. Spending on industrial construction hit a new monthly high of 228 million dollars. Despite bad weather, a January record was set for construction of schools, highways, sewers and water systems. Total spending on all kinds of construction, including homes reached 2¾ billion—down 10 per cent from December but still the highest for any January on record.

The week brought new evidence that 1956 is likely to be a year of rising costs and higher prices.

Starting in April, industrial consumers will pay 15 to 50 cents more for a ton of soft coal, and around five per cent more for "pop" and beer bottles. Steel prices may move up shortly. Declares "Iron Age," national metal working weekly: "The steel price pot is about ready to boil over. Some producers are beginning to champ at the bit. If the pressure grows strong enough, there could be an across-the-board price increase of $3 to $4 a ton, soon."

Blanket wage and salary increases of six per cent throughout the oil industry may be translated into higher prices for crude oil, although major producing companies aren't talking about it now. Motorists may find themselves paying higher federal taxes on gasoline. Congress is studying a bill that would jack up the federal tax on gasoline to help finance a 15-billion-dollar road construction program. Mailing costs may soon head upward: Postmaster General Summerfield has asked for a 406½-million-dollar boost in postal rates.

There was welcome news this week for millions of U.S. telephone users. That clanging, jingling telephone bell may be on the way out. Bell Laboratories Inc., research arm of AT&T, is testing a new, musical signal that reproduces the melodious and slightly mournful tone of an oboe or clarinet. It will get its first try in Crystal Lake, Ill. Then, if the tests pan out, the new tone system will be installed in telephones across the nation.

Apology For Mob Violence Charge Asked By Union

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Feb. 11 (AP)—United Rubber Workers Local 351 has demanded "a public retraction and apology" for a statement that Goodrich tire plant workers were leaders in the University of Alabama disturbances.

The local union's executive board said "We do not condone mob violence and flatly deny" that Goodrich workers incited the demonstrations.

Riotous disturbances broke out at the University when Autherine Lucy, 26-year-old Birmingham Negro began attending classes last Friday. They reached a climax when university officials said Miss Lucy narrowly escaped being killed before she was spirited away.

The union called on Dean Louis Corson "and any other officials at the University of Alabama responsible for this criticism" for a retraction.

Corson was not available for comment.

Corson reported to a faculty meeting Tuesday that leaders of the rioting were "a hard core of outsiders," and referred specifically to employes of the Goodrich plant and Holt foundry.

Tuscaloosa Police Chief W. C. Tompkins Jr., was quoted as saying rubber workers were leaders of the violence, but the union published a statement by Tompkins denying making any such remarks.

"Many of the employes at the B. F. Goodrich plant are students at the university who work the night shift and attend classes during the day" the union statement said. "If Dean Corson was able to determine if some of these people were Goodrich workers he failed to mention whether they were students or not.

"If they were students then their presence on the university campus is normal as class attendance is compulsory. People from all walks of life were on the university campus the day these demonstrations occurred and if any Goodrich employes were there they were spectators and not participants."

Rigorous Action Taken In Riots At Madrid University

MADRID, Feb. 11 —UP— The government Sunday invoked "rigorous" measures which include temporary suspension of civil rights as a result of three days of political riots between opposing student factions at the University of Madrid.

Responsible sources said suspension of the civil liberties guaranteed in the constitution would mean exile for some or all of the seven persons arrested Friday night as instigators of the riots which were climaxed Thursday by the shooting of a Falangist student.

They pointed to the fact that one of the clauses abrogated states that "all Spaniards have the right to freely fix their place of residence within the national territory."

Deporters could be sent to the Canary Islands or Spanish possessions in Africa, the sources said.

The decree cancels for three months Articles 14 and 18 of the constitution providing for personal liberty which holds that no person may be held under arrest for more than 72 hours without formal charges.

Political dissidents now may be tried directly by military tribunals on charges of violating state security, a catch-all law.

World Controversy Over Balloons

Balloons, the first contraptions that ever lifted man off the ground and into the sky, are very much in the news nowadays.

Soviet Russia and such satellites as Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Albania are erupting with protests against the United States and charging that our country is conducting espionage over Middle and Eastern Europe and Asia by recourse to balloons.

Bulgaria announced that its anti-aircraft guns had shot down numerous American balloons carrying cameras and propaganda material.

Moscow arranged a huge display of supposedly captured American balloons and equipment.

In a formal protest to the United Nations, Bulgaria claimed that the balloons "constitute a serious danger to the normal maintenance of air communications over Bulgarian territory."

From Soviet Russia and its westward satellites the charges have arisen that these eastward-drifting contrivances have caused airline wrecks and tragedies.

Is a balloon a menace to airline navigation? Our own airline experts in America are well equipped to answer that question. Do the Soviets have an honest grievance?

According to public knowledge, two types of balloons are floating eastward over Europe into Asia. One type is small, loaded with leaflets—financed and launched by American private donations, intent on keeping the spark of freedom alive in enslaved countries now under the Iron Curtain. The other is a weather balloon, much larger, sponsored by our government in the interests of science and with nothing in it that should be objectionable to Soviet nations.

Is there, somewhere in between, a third type of balloon designed by our government for espionage? No proof whatever exists in that direction.

Recently The Morning World pointed editorially to the astounding fact that a U. S. weather balloon launched in Japan, riding high in the "jet stream" landed quickly in Mississippi, having passed over or near Monroe.

By the same token, the rotation of the earth and the powerful eastward drift of high air currents, such objects launched in Western Europe find their way into Eastern Europe and Asia.

They are potential but unguided weapons if turned to military use.

The nations are nearing a Geophysical Year, in which our country proposes to launch about 15 earth satellites, circling the globe every few hours, probably in different directions and orbits.

Equipped with cameras, these satellites could photograph Russia every few hours; and they wouldn't get in the way of any Soviet aircraft.

Their purpose is not espionage, and the results of this vast and exciting experiment will be made known equally to all nations participating—Russia included.

The point is, the era of the balloon, pioneer of flight, wanes rapidly. The balloon is an inefficient instrument, a prototype of the horse and buggy days in America, valuable now only as a method of gathering weather information that could be gathered more quickly and accurately by plane; and of ideological leaflets that drift eastward from centers of freedom in Western Europe, to fall nobody knows where.

If all balloons were abolished tomorrow, the net effect on the Cold War and the state of the World probably would be negligible.

We live in a jet age, an atomic age, too fast for balloons.

"Competition Will Be Tougher"

Chain Store Age has something significant to say about the prospects of retailing in 1956: "The indications are that retail sales will be bigger than ever....But.... this does not mean that the increased volume will be evenly distributed. It won't. One reason it won't is the great number of new stores that will be in the picture. In other words, competition will be tougher than ever, and every merchant will have to do his best job even to equal last year's volume—let alone get his share of additional business which will certainly be available."

A survey indicates that the chains will open 10,000 stores in 1956, as against 8,950 last year. Additional thousands will be opened by independent merchants, who will be competing vigorously both with chains and among themselves for the fickle favor of the buying public.

What does mean to you, the consumer? It means that merchants of all kinds and in all fields will be working harder than ever to please you. It means that bigger and more attractive stocks of goods will await your examinations. It means that there will be more informative and interesting advertising and other promotion. And it means, pricewise, that you will get the best possible return from your retail dollar.

These are the sure fruits of free and open competition.

Films For The Farmer

The welfare of many a business enterprise largely depends upon the welfare of agriculture. Some business enterprises have recognized this and are acting accordingly.

The Union Pacific Railroad is a good example. Back in 1943 it started an agricultural motion picture program. Twelve films have been released and up to 100 prints of each are in use. They are loaned to farm, civic, church and other organizations without charge, and so far have reached more than 7,000,000 people. They deal in an instructional manner with matters of specific interest to the farmer—wheat smut control, cattle production, saving little pigs, culling chickens, and so on.

In the long run, the solution to the big farm problems will come from improved farm techniques and attitudes. A program such as the UP's is of great value.

Crawford W. Long was the first doctor to use ether as an anesthetic in surgery say medical historians.

Editor Monroe World:

It is a ridiculous but pitiable plight that four GI's in Japan are to be tried in a Japanese court. It is Un-American and the executive branch of our government cannot constitutionally make treaties with any country without the consent of the United States Senate. And the United States Senate would never sign a treaty whereby a member of our services could be tried by a foreign court.

The men in service are under military jurisdiction and protection. Only our military can legally try them if they commit a misdemeanor or felony outside of the jurisdiction of our state or national courts.

A service man on leave is not released from service and in no way should he be deprived of any protection that is his American right.

God pity America if the American people do not loudly and unanimously condemn such usurpation of power by the executive branch, power still rests with the people. Speak now. Do not let one American service man stand trial in any foreign court. We would call him traitor if any service man were to let us down in any way. What are we if we let him down? Are we sissies? Are we cowards; are we too pre-occupied with personal affairs to care what happens to somebody's boy. The next one may be yours. But let us stop this now and never have a next one.

This letter is being written, I am sure, on behalf of the nearly one thousand Baptist ministers in Louisiana for the splendid coverage your people gave the recent Evangelistic Conference conducted in this church.

Though you will receive few letters such as this, we want to let you know that many many commendable statements were made concerning this coverage. We join the many other church groups in this area in saying "thank you" for your religious news service.

Communists Spread Race Hatred

Bastrop, La.

Editor, Morning World:

On July 4, 1776, our founding fathers declared the rights and privileges of a free and independent people and on October 19, 1782, the attributes of those privileges were surrendered to the American people at Yorktown. For 60 years thereafter, the American people progressed and prospered as no nation ever did before. Everybody was free except the Negro slaves who had been imported from heathen Africa by the British. Immediately after the British surrender, prelates of various Christian churches, and Christian civic workers, began a movement to liberate those Negro slaves, but on account of their ignorance and incapability to promote their own civilization, they could not be liberated at once. It was necessary to educate, civilize, and prepare those people for respectable citizenship; but before this could be accomplished: they were given "Paul's thorn in the flesh," by the Communists.

For lack of space I cannot relate in detail the Communist insurrection in Germany in the 1840s, which ended in 1848, with the expulsion of more than a million insurrectionists. Most of them fled to the United States, bringing with them, their "Anarcho - Communist manifesto." All of them were trained soldiers who did service in the Prussian revolution. Among them were General Joseph Weydemeyer, who commanded the union Army at St. Louis, Karl Marx, Frederick Engles, and numerous other Communist leaders who took part in fomenting a revolution in the United States. More than one half of the union Army were German Communists, including many of their commanding officers. Their purpose and intention for enlisting in the Union Army is obvious, but that being a failure, they finished off, by assassinating the President.

Communists are not quitters. They work while we sleep. They exhaust every art in their ingenuity to destroy religion and civilization. They contrive in every way to create racial hate with the express purpose of establishing a Communist fifth-column in the United States. They continually dwell on the theory of "Negro liberation." They never mention the fact that on April 9, 1865, the Negroes were liberated and made as free as white people; long before they were capable of promoting their own civilization. They never mention the fact that white taxpayers build and facilitate free schools for them, and give them every opportunity to do something for themselves. And if Negroes will quit their niggardly way of botching, slubbering, and half doing things, and put on a little pride, use a little energy, and plenty soap and water; clean up their civic socieities like white people, pretty soon they would be getting places.

Thank you so much for your article of January 31, about our newly organized club, Louisiana Association of Laryngectomers.

We are proud of our organization, and we have high hopes of helping to make the public aware of cancer, and that all is not hopeless after the removal of the larynx.

I can say that with the utmost conviction as I have had surgery for cancer of the throat twice in 15 years.

The first time it meant giving up my teaching career, which is my profession. After that surgery, I became a welfare visitor, but after my last surgery three years ago, I felt that maybe a profession with less speech might be better. I took up typing and short hand which is why I am now doing clerical work.

We do hope you will visit our club soon.

Thank you again for your article. I enjoyed it so much.

The Ins Go Out

Eros, La.

Editor, Monroe Morning World:

I read with much interest, the letters in your public forum, yesterday, Feb. 5th, concerning Mr. Dave Pearce and Mr. Fred LeBlanc, and their rights, and the peoples' rights having been taken away from them, by the State Central Committee. I also saw Mr. Dave Pearce and Mr. Birdsong on TV Saturday afternoon, telling the people, what an awful state of affairs our country had gotten into, when the state central committee could deprive the people of their rights, as they had done in the case of Mr. Pearce and Mr. LeBlanc, and Mr. Pearce said that he knew that it happened in Russia but that he didn't think that it could happen here, in our country.

Well, I believe Mr. Pearce and Mr. LeBlanc and Mr. Birdsong are as old as I am, and I can very well remember in the elections of 1940 when the Hon. Sam H. Jones was elected governor, the late Hon. E. A. Conway was elected secretary of state and he died before taking office the 2nd term and the State Central Committee certified one Hon. James Gremillion and the people had no say in that, they had no chance to vote and express their wishes, as Mr. Gremillion had not received the votes of the majority.

Then in the elections of 1952, the late Hon. W. E. Anderson was re-elected commissioner of agriculture, and before he took office for the 2nd term, he died, and Mr. Pearce was appointed to the unexpired term and then Gov. Kennon appointed him for a full four year term. The people had defeated Mr. Pearce just some two or three months before he was given the four year appointment. I never heard one word from Mr. Pearce, Mr. LeBlanc or Mr. Birdsong, back there when those men were put in office without the people having a say in it, they were IN'S then and it was alright, but now that they are the OUT's they think it is awful bad.

I think Mr. Pearce is a fine man, and have nothing to say against what he has done in office, and the same goes for Mr. LeBlanc, but I think that the vote showed that the people did not want their services any longer and it does look like they could take defeat and get down without accusing honorable men like Hon. Camille F. Gravel, John McKeithen, and the many others of wrong doing. I think that 73 to 4 votes in the central committee action, should be proof enough as to the peoples' wishes.

We see that Hon. Leander H. Perez voted for the resolution, and we all know that he was not a Long supporter, as he was supporting Gov. Kennon's candidate for governor. It is well known that Mr. Perez is a very able lawyer, and we believe that the resolution must have been in accord with the law or he would have voted against it. We can be sure that some of the 73 votes in the committee were not trying to do Gov. Long's wishes, don't you think?

I would like to say to the Solid Citizen of Delhi, that it looks like Mr. Long's hand was called Jan. 17th last, when better than 421,000 people spoke to Mr. Long and said WE ARE TIRED of what we have had, and we want someone who will have all the peoples' interest at heart. I say you are pretty small when you can't take defeat, and let the majority rule, you said you were a Louisiana born Democratic citizen, the way your letter reads, you should left the Democratic off. The four gentlemen you speak of must be like yourself (die-hards'. I would guess that you voted in one of those newspaper polls that Mayor Morrison talked so much about.

While in U. S. A., he had ham-and-eggs or beefsteak every breakfast, now his diet is bread, greens, an occasional onion, with mutton once yearly. Should we marvel that such as he do not hesitate to commit a crime to gain admittance to this Land of Gold?

Washington, on 10 July, 1775, issued this order to recruiting officers: "You are not to enlist any person who is not American born, unless such person has a wife and family, and is a settled resident in this country."

The Hyphenates, mostly alien-born, demand erasure of fingerprinting from the McCarran-Walter Immigration Code. This, the work of five years by Congress, is the modernization of the 1921 Quota Act. The Hypenates boasted they would "amend it to death" by 1930. Today their strategy is unchanged.

Seem To Be Subversives

Ruston, La.

Editor, Monroe Morning World:

Your recent editorials, Sunday and Monday, pertaining to the Communist - inspired Desegregation Ruling of the nine disingenious old men were master pieces. These two editorials should be read by every patriotic American. Your editorials should induce all 12 of the southern states to band together and turn all their power to interposition, and soon. We have been caught in a Communist trap which calls for internecine warfare. Using our Negroes as a spearhead, Communist agitators and carpetbaggers have a green light to stir up trouble anywhere. The improvident ruling of those nine old men is backing them up.

At this time, it has been our misfortune to have a Fair Deal packed Supreme Court. As you have previously stated, none of them had any judicial experience as required by the constitution. But all nine took an oath to abide by and uphold the Constitution. Evidently the New-Fair Dealers believed they had a permanent lease on the White House and they needed men to back them up. We were hell - bent for socialism or communism.

There has been more than a connubial glow among the Communists and some of the justices who made the desegregation ruling. Both Frankfurter and Reed stood up for Alger Hiss while Hiss was under trial (Frankfurter was born in Austria and a phalanx of his proteges have turned out to be communists). Justice Douglas blocked the Rosenberg execution, lounged among the communists in China. Minton and Black have, at times, acted the parts of leftists. According to statement of Sen. Eastland, all nine were brainwashed by the communists.

If 12 of the southern states will band together, turn to interposition, then we will once more have peace among the races in the South. Bear in mind that Soviet Russia is behind this desegregation.

THE DAY A MOMENTOUS ANNOUNCEMENT WAS MADE

Shocked At Court

Columbia, La.

Editor, Monroe Mrning World:

I was shocked at the Louisiana Supreme Court ruling on refusing a second primary for Fred LeBlanc and Dave Pearce.

Why must a small group of men headed by a dictator refuse the million voters of Louisiana their privilege of selecting candidates of their choice? This, in my opinion, is falling into the doctrines and principles of the dictatorship of Russia.

Earl Long received a majority of the votes and therefore is the governor - elect. How can Gremillion and McCrary acquire their offices when the majority of the voters did not cast their ballot for either of them? It is time for the people of Louisiana to wake up and see the situation as it really is.

Louisiana and her people have enjoyed four prosperous years of clean government. Chep Morrison or Fred Preaus would have certainly continued Louisiana's move to prosperity and greatness. We can expect in the next four years to either stand still or go back to the days of corruption that prevailed throughout Louisiana for many years.

How long can this Un - American, undemocratic ruling continue in Louisiana before the voters will cast off this old gang and elect a group of people who can give Louisiana her rightful place among the 48?

A LOUISIANA VOTER

Is Against Intergration.

Ruston, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Although the Negro is uniquely melanotricious and his body is provided with pigment glands for his coloring, the South does not refuse integration solely because of his color. There are other reasons.

First, the South firmly stands for the preservation of the white race. Integration inevitably leads to amalgamation of the two races and amalgamation leads to the extinction of the white race.

Second, integration is certain to be detrimental to peace and harmony of the two races. When the Negroes were brought to this country a few generations ago they were a deplorable sight, an inferior race of people two-thousand years behind the white race. Today their deeds show that they have not made suitable proficiency in the past to entitle them to integration with the whites. In the year 1954 figures compiled by the FBI from 1174 cities in which the Negro population was around 10 per cent showed he was far in the lead as a lawbreaker.

He is only 10 per cent of the population but police records show he committed 60 per cent of the Murders, 64 per cent of aggravated assaults, 41 per cent of simple assault, 56 per cent carrying concealed weapons, 45 per cent liquor law violations, 49 per cent of robberies, 54 per cent narcotic drug law violations, 41 per cent of rapes, 48 per cent of prostitution and commercialized vice, 68 per cent of gambling.

Third, integration strikes at the heart of health of the white race. Here in Louisiana in one year 17,771 cases of veneral disease were reported. 16,197 cases were from colored people. No doubt, hundreds of cases were not reported. This unbiquitous malady can spread at drinking fountains.

Fourth, integration furnishes the Communists fertile ground to sow their seeds of hatred. Education for the Negroes is not the foremost aim of all this; we know now that the idea was spawned in the Kremlin for revolutionary purposes. Ukases of the Soviets are "Divide and conquor" and "Sow hatred among the masses who disagree with us" and that is the power behind desegration or integration.

The Negroes pay about three per cent of these funds; The South is giving them 50 per cent of the benefits, "Equal facilities."

Timmons In Washington

By Bascom N. Timmons

Let's Get Going

Distasteful as it may seem, Congress could take a lesson from the unlamented Adolph Hitler in its approach to the gigantic road program upon which it must act at this session. One of Hitler's first decisions on assuming his disastrous dictatorship was probably his soundest — to build the system of Autobahnen, or super-highway crisscrossing his comparatively small empire.

That his program was chiefly for military purposes does not detract from the fact that it provided the first system of through, high speed highways in any country. Now Congress is struggling with a similar idea, complicated by political, sectional and local considerations which are inevitable and probably desirable in a Republic, as opposed to a totalitarian state.

What now confronts this country is a national highway system in which two thirds of the roads are below minimum safe driving standards. The result has been a toll of traffic accidents, against which the President of the United States has protested, since they have resulted in more deaths than in all of our wars.

Hitler's ugly ghost would find that in the United States, 60 per cent of the main highway traffic is crowded into 7 per cent of the mileage. A similar condition still exists in Germany, where both Soviet and U.S. armed forces have made good use of the Autobahnen, but only the U.S. has done anything about maintaining the high speed highways.

Basically the U.S. has an excellent system of roads — the interstate highway system of which all but 2200 miles have been built. It includes 37,800 miles, linking 90 per cent of all cities with a population of 50,000 or more. It also serves 45 per cent of the rural population and 65 per cent of the urban population.

Of this system five miles are old and one mile is adequate. The cost of rebuilding and expanding is estimated at 40 billion dollars. Obviously this tremendous project cannot be achieved in one year, or even five years. It is the result of national expansion, at a gradual prewar rate and of wartime deterioation under heavy traffic.

The plans for the new highway system are ready but the legislation and the financing are not. While Congress votes vast sums for defense, with 16½ billions allocated to the Air Force, the system of domestic defense, in which the road system would play as important a part as it did in Hitler's program of aggression, is held up while congressional committees devise a tax plan to meet the cost.

That cost is tremendous. It has been estimated as high as 10 million dollars a mile for four lane highways through cities and towns. The dollar won't buy what it would before World War II, when the U.S. prided itself on the world's best highway system. Even in rural areas, the modern road system is estimated to cost $200,000 a mile.

New roads must be built to sustain heavy truck as well as passenger traffic. That apparently must suffice for the next 20 years, though engineers are convinced that eventually a separate high speed system for truck traffic must be constructed. But trucking companies have protested higher fuel and tire taxes for the new road program and their objections have convinced members of Congress that one tax rate for passenger cars and a higher rate for commercial vehicles would be discriminatory.

Congress has a horrible example of inefficient highways at its doorstep — U.S. No. 1 between Washington and Baltimore, which has one of the highest casualty rates of any superhighway in the U.S., is hemmed in by roadside stands and advertising billboards, and is crowded with trucks at all hours of the day or night. Maryland has made progress in building alternate highways, but the number of defense bases along No. 1 still keeps the death toll high.

The annual cost in accidents, time lost, wear and tear on automotive equipment for the United States is estimated at some 3 billion dollars a year. For an efficient country, that's a heavy toll.

World Controversy Over Balloons

Balloons, the first contraptions that ever lifted man off the ground and into the sky, are very much in the news nowadays.

Soviet Russia and such satellites as Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Albania are erupting with protests against the United States and charging that our country is conducting espionage over Middle and Eastern Europe and Asia by recourse to balloons.

Bulgaria announced that its anti-aircraft guns had shot down numerous American balloons carrying cameras and propaganda material.

Moscow arranged a huge display of supposedly captured American balloons and equipment.

In a formal protest to the United Nations, Bulgaria claimed that the balloons "constitute a serious danger to the normal maintenance of air communications over Bulgarian territory."

From Soviet Russia and its westward satellites the charges have arisen that these eastward-drifting contrivances have caused airline wrecks and tragedies.

Is a balloon a menace to airline navigation? Our own airline experts in America are well equipped to answer that question. Do the Soviets have an honest grievance?

According to public knowledge, two types of balloons are floating eastward over Europe into Asia. One type is small, loaded with leaflets—financed and launched by American private donations, intent on keeping the spark of freedom alive in enslaved countries now under the Iron Curtain. The other is a weather balloon, much larger, sponsored by our government in the interests of science and with nothing in it that should be objectionable to Soviet nations.

Is there, somewhere in between, a third type of balloon designed by our government for espionage? No proof whatever exists in that direction.

Recently The Morning World pointed editorially to the astounding fact that a U. S. weather balloon launched in Japan, riding high in the "jet stream" landed quickly in Mississippi, having passed over or near Monroe.

By the same token, the rotation of the earth and the powerful eastward drift of high air currents, such objects launched in Western Europe find their way into Eastern Europe and Asia.

They are potential but unguided weapons if turned to military use.

The nations are nearing a Geophysical Year, in which our country proposes to launch about 15 earth satellites, circling the globe every few hours, probably in different directions and orbits.

Equipped with cameras, these satellites could photograph Russia every few hours; and they wouldn't get in the way of any Soviet aircraft.

Their purpose is not espionage, and the results of this vast and exciting experiment will be made known equally to all nations participating—Russia included.

The point is, the era of the balloon, pioneer of flight, wanes rapidly. The balloon is an inefficient instrument, a prototype of the horse and buggy days in America, valuable now only as a method of gathering weather information that could be gathered more quickly and accurately by plane; and of ideological leaflets that drift eastward from centers of freedom in Western Europe, to fall nobody knows where.

If all balloons were abolished tomorrow, the net effect on the Cold War and the state of the World probably would be negligible.

We live in a jet age, an atomic age, too fast for balloons.

"Competition Will Be Tougher"

Chain Store Age has something significant to say about the prospects of retailing in 1956: "The indications are that retail sales will be bigger than ever....But.... this does not mean that the increased volume will be evenly distributed. It won't. One reason it won't is the great number of new stores that will be in the picture. In other words, competition will be tougher than ever, and every merchant will have to do his best job even to equal last year's volume—let alone get his share of additional business which will certainly be available."

A survey indicates that the chains will open 10,000 stores in 1956, as against 8,950 last year. Additional thousands will be opened by independent merchants, who will be competing vigorously both with chains and among themselves for the fickle favor of the buying public.

What does mean to you, the consumer? It means that merchants of all kinds and in all fields will be working harder than ever to please you. It means that bigger and more attractive stocks of goods will await your examinations. It means that there will be more informative and interesting advertising and other promotion. And it means, pricewise, that you will get the best possible return from your retail dollar.

These are the sure fruits of free and open competition.

Films For The Farmer

The welfare of many a business enterprise largely depends upon the welfare of agriculture. Some business enterprises have recognized this and are acting accordingly.

The Union Pacific Railroad is a good example. Back in 1943 it started an agricultural motion picture program. Twelve films have been released and up to 100 prints of each are in use. They are loaned to farm, civic, church and other organizations without charge, and so far have reached more than 7,000,000 people. They deal in an instructional manner with matters of specific interest to the farmer—wheat smut control, cattle production, saving little pigs, culling chickens, and so on.

In the long run, the solution to the big farm problems will come from improved farm techniques and attitudes. A program such as the UP's is of great value.

Crawford W. Long was the first doctor to use ether as an anesthetic in surgery say medical historians.

God Pity Our GI's

Oak Grove, La.

Editor Monroe World:

It is a ridiculous but pitiable plight that four GI's in Japan are to be tried in a Japanese court. It is Un-American and the executive branch of our government cannot constitutionally make treaties with any country without the consent of the United States Senate. And the United States Senate would never sign a treaty whereby a member of our services could be tried by a foreign court.

The men in service are under military jurisdiction and protection. Only our military can legally try them if they commit a misdemeanor or felony outside of the jurisdiction of our state or national courts.

A service man on leave is not released from service and in no way should he be deprived of any protection that is his American right.

God pity America if the American people do not loudly and unanimously condemn such usurpation of power by the executive branch, power still rests with the people. Speak now. Do not let one American service man stand trial in any foreign court. We would call him traitor if any service man were to let us down in any way. What are we if we let him down? Are we sissies? Are we cowards; are we too pre-occupied with personal affairs to care what happens to somebody's boy. The next one may be yours. But let us stop this now and never have a next one.

Communists Spread Race Hatred

Bastrop, La.

Editor, Morning World:

On July 4, 1776, our founding fathers declared the rights and privileges of a free and independent people and on October 19, 1782, the attributes of those privileges were surrendered to the American people at Yorktown. For 60 years thereafter, the American people progressed and prospered as no nation ever did before. Everybody was free except the Negro slaves who had been imported from heathen Africa by the British. Immediately after the British surrender, prelates of various Christian churches, and Christian civic workers, began a movement to liberate those Negro slaves, but on account of their ignorance and incapability to promote their own civilization, they could not be liberated at once. It was necessary to educate, civilize, and prepare those people for respectable citizenship; but before this could be accomplished: they were given "Paul's thorn in the flesh," by the Communists.

For lack of space I cannot relate in detail the Communist insurrection in Germany in the 1840s, which ended in 1848, with the expulsion of more than a million insurrectionists. Most of them fled to the United States, bringing with them, their "Anarcho - Communist manifesto." All of them were trained soldiers who did service in the Prussian revolution. Among them were General Joseph Weydemeyer, who commanded the union Army at St. Louis, Karl Marx, Frederick Engles, and numerous other Communist leaders who took part in fomenting a revolution in the United States. More than one half of the union Army were German Communists, including many of their commanding officers. Their purpose and intention for enlisting in the Union Army is obvious, but that being a failure, they finished off, by assassinating the President.

Communists are not quitters. They work while we sleep. They exhaust every art in their ingenuity to destroy religion and civilization. They contrive in every way to create racial hate with the express purpose of establishing a Communist fifth-column in the United States. They continually dwell on the theory of "Negro liberation." They never mention the fact that on April 9, 1865, the Negroes were liberated and made as free as white people; long before they were capable of promoting their own civilization. They never mention the fact that white taxpayers build and facilitate free schools for them, and give them every opportunity to do something for themselves. And if Negroes will quit their niggardly way of botching, slubbering, and half doing things, and put on a little pride, use a little energy, and plenty soap and water; clean up their civic socieities like white people, pretty soon they would be getting places.

Editor, Morning World:

Thank you so much for your article of January 31, about our newly organized club, Louisiana Association of Laryngectomers.

We are proud of our organization, and we have high hopes of helping to make the public aware of cancer, and that all is not hopeless after the removal of the larynx.

I can say that with the utmost conviction as I have had surgery for cancer of the throat twice in 15 years.

The first time it meant giving up my teaching career, which is my profession. After that surgery, I became a welfare visitor, but after my last surgery three years ago, I felt that maybe a profession with less speech might be better. I took up typing and short hand which is why I am now doing clerical work.

We do hope you will visit our club soon.

Thank you again for your article. I enjoyed it so much.

The Ins Go Out

Eros, La.

Editor, Monroe Morning World:

I read with much interest, the letters in your public forum, yesterday, Feb. 5th, concerning Mr. Dave Pearce and Mr. Fred LeBlanc, and their rights, and the peoples' rights having been taken away from them, by the State Central Committee. I also saw Mr. Dave Pearce and Mr. Birdsong on TV Saturday afternoon, telling the people, what an awful state of affairs our country had gotten into, when the state central committee could deprive the people of their rights, as they had done in the case of Mr. Pearce and Mr. LeBlanc, and Mr. Pearce said that he knew that it happened in Russia but that he didn't think that it could happen here, in our country.

Well, I believe Mr. Pearce and Mr. LeBlanc and Mr. Birdsong are as old as I am, and I can very well remember in the elections of 1940 when the Hon. Sam H. Jones was elected governor, the late Hon. E. A. Conway was elected secretary of state and he died before taking office the 2nd term and the State Central Committee certified one Hon. James Gremillion and the people had no say in that, they had no chance to vote and express their wishes, as Mr. Gremillion had not received the votes of the majority.

Then in the elections of 1952, the late Hon. W. E. Anderson was re-elected commissioner of agriculture, and before he took office for the 2nd term, he died, and Mr. Pearce was appointed to the unexpired term and then Gov. Kennon appointed him for a full four year term. The people had defeated Mr. Pearce just some two or three months before he was given the four year appointment. I never heard one word from Mr. Pearce, Mr. LeBlanc or Mr. Birdsong, back there when those men were put in office without the people having a say in it, they were IN'S then and it was alright, but now that they are the OUT's they think it is awful bad.

I think Mr. Pearce is a fine man, and have nothing to say against what he has done in office, and the same goes for Mr. LeBlanc, but I think that the vote showed that the people did not want their services any longer and it does look like they could take defeat and get down without accusing honorable men like Hon. Camille F. Gravel, John McKeithen, and the many others of wrong doing. I think that 73 to 4 votes in the central committee action, should be proof enough as to the peoples' wishes.

We see that Hon. Leander H. Perez voted for the resolution, and we all know that he was not a Long supporter, as he was supporting Gov. Kennon's candidate for governor. It is well known that Mr. Perez is a very able lawyer, and we believe that the resolution must have been in accord with the law or he would have voted against it. We can be sure that some of the 73 votes in the committee were not trying to do Gov. Long's wishes, don't you think?

I would like to say to the Solid Citizen of Delhi, that it looks like Mr. Long's hand was called Jan. 17th last, when better than 421,000 people spoke to Mr. Long and said WE ARE TIRED of what we have had, and we want someone who will have all the peoples' interest at heart. I say you are pretty small when you can't take defeat, and let the majority rule, you said you were a Louisiana born Democratic citizen, the way your letter reads, you should left the Democratic off. The four gentlemen you speak of must be like yourself (die-hards'. I would guess that you voted in one of those newspaper polls that Mayor Morrison talked so much about.

Segregation

Tallulah, La.

Dear Editor:

It seems to me that we miss the significance of this whole school segregation business. Doesn't it look to you as though it follows a pattern? Stir up trouble, divide and conquer, send peace overtures, then attack!

Haven't we heard that strikes are just for practice? Don't we hear, ever so often about plans for cutting whole cities out of power and communication?

Seem To Be Subversives

Ruston, La.

Editor, Monroe Morning World:

Your recent editorials, Sunday and Monday, pertaining to the Communist - inspired Desegregation Ruling of the nine disingenious old men were master pieces. These two editorials should be read by every patriotic American. Your editorials should induce all 12 of the southern states to band together and turn all their power to interposition, and soon. We have been caught in a Communist trap which calls for internecine warfare. Using our Negroes as a spearhead, Communist agitators and carpetbaggers have a green light to stir up trouble anywhere. The improvident ruling of those nine old men is backing them up.

At this time, it has been our misfortune to have a Fair Deal packed Supreme Court. As you have previously stated, none of them had any judicial experience as required by the constitution. But all nine took an oath to abide by and uphold the Constitution. Evidently the New-Fair Dealers believed they had a permanent lease on the White House and they needed men to back them up. We were hell - bent for socialism or communism.

There has been more than a connubial glow among the Communists and some of the justices who made the desegregation ruling. Both Frankfurter and Reed stood up for Alger Hiss while Hiss was under trial (Frankfurter was born in Austria and a phalanx of his proteges have turned out to be communists). Justice Douglas blocked the Rosenberg execution, lounged among the communists in China. Minton and Black have, at times, acted the parts of leftists. According to statement of Sen. Eastland, all nine were brainwashed by the communists.

If 12 of the southern states will band together, turn to interposition, then we will once more have peace among the races in the South. Bear in mind that Soviet Russia is behind this desegregation.

THE DAY A MOMENTOUS ANNOUNCEMENT WAS MADE

Shocked At Court

Columbia, La.

Editor, Monroe Mrning World:

I was shocked at the Louisiana Supreme Court ruling on refusing a second primary for Fred LeBlanc and Dave Pearce.

Why must a small group of men headed by a dictator refuse the million voters of Louisiana their privilege of selecting candidates of their choice? This, in my opinion, is falling into the doctrines and principles of the dictatorship of Russia.

Earl Long received a majority of the votes and therefore is the governor - elect. How can Gremillion and McCrary acquire their offices when the majority of the voters did not cast their ballot for either of them? It is time for the people of Louisiana to wake up and see the situation as it really is.

Louisiana and her people have enjoyed four prosperous years of clean government. Chep Morrison or Fred Preaus would have certainly continued Louisiana's move to prosperity and greatness. We can expect in the next four years to either stand still or go back to the days of corruption that prevailed throughout Louisiana for many years.

How long can this Un - American, undemocratic ruling continue in Louisiana before the voters will cast off this old gang and elect a group of people who can give Louisiana her rightful place among the 48?

A LOUISIANA VOTER

Ruston, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Although the Negro is uniquely melanotricious and his body is provided with pigment glands for his coloring, the South does not refuse integration solely because of his color. There are other reasons.

First, the South firmly stands for the preservation of the white race. Integration inevitably leads to amalgamation of the two races and amalgamation leads to the extinction of the white race.

Second, integration is certain to be detrimental to peace and harmony of the two races. When the Negroes were brought to this country a few generations ago they were a deplorable sight, an inferior race of people two-thousand years behind the white race. Today their deeds show that they have not made suitable proficiency in the past to entitle them to integration with the whites. In the year 1954 figures compiled by the FBI from 1174 cities in which the Negro population was around 10 per cent showed he was far in the lead as a lawbreaker.

He is only 10 per cent of the population but police records show he committed 60 per cent of the Murders, 64 per cent of aggravated assaults, 41 per cent of simple assault, 56 per cent carrying concealed weapons, 45 per cent liquor law violations, 49 per cent of robberies, 54 per cent narcotic drug law violations, 41 per cent of rapes, 48 per cent of prostitution and commercialized vice, 68 per cent of gambling.

Third, integration strikes at the heart of health of the white race. Here in Louisiana in one year 17,771 cases of veneral disease were reported. 16,197 cases were from colored people. No doubt, hundreds of cases were not reported. This unbiquitous malady can spread at drinking fountains.

Fourth, integration furnishes the Communists fertile ground to sow their seeds of hatred. Education for the Negroes is not the foremost aim of all this; we know now that the idea was spawned in the Kremlin for revolutionary purposes. Ukases of the Soviets are "Divide and conquor" and "Sow hatred among the masses who disagree with us" and that is the power behind desegration or integration.

The Negroes pay about three per cent of these funds; The South is giving them 50 per cent of the benefits, "Equal facilities."

Timmons In Washington

By Bascom N. Timmons

Let's Get Going

Distasteful as it may seem, Congress could take a lesson from the unlamented Adolph Hitler in its approach to the gigantic road program upon which it must act at this session. One of Hitler's first decisions on assuming his disastrous dictatorship was probably his soundest — to build the system of Autobahnen, or super-highway crisscrossing his comparatively small empire.

That his program was chiefly for military purposes does not detract from the fact that it provided the first system of through, high speed highways in any country. Now Congress is struggling with a similar idea, complicated by political, sectional and local considerations which are inevitable and probably desirable in a Republic, as opposed to a totalitarian state.

What now confronts this country is a national highway system in which two thirds of the roads are below minimum safe driving standards. The result has been a toll of traffic accidents, against which the President of the United States has protested, since they have resulted in more deaths than in all of our wars.

Hitler's ugly ghost would find that in the United States, 60 per cent of the main highway traffic is crowded into 7 per cent of the mileage. A similar condition still exists in Germany, where both Soviet and U.S. armed forces have made good use of the Autobahnen, but only the U.S. has done anything about maintaining the high speed highways.

Basically the U.S. has an excellent system of roads — the interstate highway system of which all but 2200 miles have been built. It includes 37,800 miles, linking 90 per cent of all cities with a population of 50,000 or more. It also serves 45 per cent of the rural population and 65 per cent of the urban population.

Of this system five miles are old and one mile is adequate. The cost of rebuilding and expanding is estimated at 40 billion dollars. Obviously this tremendous project cannot be achieved in one year, or even five years. It is the result of national expansion, at a gradual prewar rate and of wartime deterioation under heavy traffic.

The plans for the new highway system are ready but the legislation and the financing are not. While Congress votes vast sums for defense, with 16½ billions allocated to the Air Force, the system of domestic defense, in which the road system would play as important a part as it did in Hitler's program of aggression, is held up while congressional committees devise a tax plan to meet the cost.

That cost is tremendous. It has been estimated as high as 10 million dollars a mile for four lane highways through cities and towns. The dollar won't buy what it would before World War II, when the U.S. prided itself on the world's best highway system. Even in rural areas, the modern road system is estimated to cost $200,000 a mile.

New roads must be built to sustain heavy truck as well as passenger traffic. That apparently must suffice for the next 20 years, though engineers are convinced that eventually a separate high speed system for truck traffic must be constructed. But trucking companies have protested higher fuel and tire taxes for the new road program and their objections have convinced members of Congress that one tax rate for passenger cars and a higher rate for commercial vehicles would be discriminatory.

Congress has a horrible example of inefficient highways at its doorstep — U.S. No. 1 between Washington and Baltimore, which has one of the highest casualty rates of any superhighway in the U.S., is hemmed in by roadside stands and advertising billboards, and is crowded with trucks at all hours of the day or night. Maryland has made progress in building alternate highways, but the number of defense bases along No. 1 still keeps the death toll high.

The annual cost in accidents, time lost, wear and tear on automotive equipment for the United States is estimated at some 3 billion dollars a year. For an efficient country, that's a heavy toll.

'Moderate' Approach To Integregation Puts Backers Of Stevenson On Spot

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson apparently has put some of his Northern and Southern supporters on a political spot by his "moderate" approach to the problem of school integration.

Stevenson, who is running for the Democratic presidential nomination, recently said that if he were elected he would not cut off federal funds from segregated schools or use U.S. troops to enforce racial integration.

He called for a gradual approach to this problem, suggesting that the goal for achieving integration might be set for 1963, a hundred years after the emancipation proclamation.

For some Southerners who don't think integration ever will be accomplished in some sections of the South, this represented little more than a promise to conform with a Supreme Court opinion they are committed to oppose in every legal way.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala) said nevertheless that he believes Stevenson helped himself in the South by taking the stand he did. Sparkman, the 1952 Democratic vice presidential nominee, is backing Stevenson even though Sparkman is strongly opposed to integration.

"He is the candidate of moderation," Sparkman said. "He has taken a more conciliatory attitude toward this program than any other Democratic candidate of stature. I think it has helped him in the South."

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn), an advocate of integration who is supporting Stevenson, made it clear he would have preferred a much stronger strand against segregation.

But he said he thinks Stevenson's position "on matters of importance to the country is sound."

Most Democrats seemed to think Stevenson was appealing to an element of voters in the South that think integration is inevitable but must come about gradually.

Stevenson may need more Southern support than he received in 1952 if he is to win the nomination at this year's Chicago convention.

As the situation now shapes up, states likely to have favorite sons and thus deny their votes to Stevenson on the early ballots could tie up 360 votes. These include Ohio, Michigan, New York, Texas, New Jersey, Missouri and Kentucky.

Outside of Florida, where the 28-vote convention delegation will be chosen in a primary, there are 218 convention votes represented in Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia.

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, apparently is going to get his state's 32 votes, might win Wisconsin's 28 by default, and boost his total in other primaries.

This year 686½ votes are needed to win the nomination. Any combination of favorite sons, a solid South and Kefauver followers which picked up scattered support elsewhere probably could stymie Stevenson in the early balloting.

On the other hand, if Stevenson can get early support from such potential favorite sons as Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey, and break into the South, opponents might find him hard to stop.

They hope to halt him in the critical primaries in Florida and California where Kefauver is his chief opponent. If Stevenson doesn't win both of these tests, his strength will melt away.

Approval Given Building Program

PINEVILLE, Feb. 11 —(Special) —Architect's drawings for Louisiana College's proposed new $500,000 dormitory building program were approved this week by the school's long range building committee, according to announcement from Dr. G. Earl Guinn, L. C. president.

The group acting on authority vested in them by the school's board of trustees, also authorized completion of these sketches within the immediate future so that bids on the new structure may be received on or before May 1.

The drawings were presented by J. Cheshire Peyton, Shreveport architect.

The committee also approved drawings of campus lay-out which were submitted by Donald Bush, representing Hare and Hare, Kansas City site planners and landscape architects.

Upon recommendation of this firm, the committee decided that the new men's dormitory will be between the baseball field and the veterans apartments on the back campus.

This structure will be three stories high and will house 100 additional male students, Dr. Guinn explained.

In addition, a new wing will be added to south side of Cottingham hall, newest women's dormitory. This will care for additional 50 coeds. Total cost of the two projects will approximate $500,000.

Application for this loan has already been given preliminary approval by the Federal Home and Housing Finance Agency, according to a report received this week by President Guinn. In fact, funds to that amount have been reserved, he said.

Former Official Hurls Charges At State Department

CHICAGO, Feb. 11—UP—Bryton Barron a former State Department official, charged Saturday the department has become a "bureau-and distorts information.

He was among a string of speakers who criticized the department and American foreign policy in addresses before the Abraham Lincoln National Republican Club.

Other speakers before an estimated 500 "conservative Republicans" included Sens. William S. Jenner of Indiana and George W. Malone of Nevada and Reps. Usher L. Burdick if North Dakota and Frank T. Bow of Ohio, all Republicans.

Barron, former head of the State Department's treaty division who compiled the Yalta Papers, pictured the department as a "self-nointed elite" that is now almost beyond reach of Congress and the people.

"It is no longer a government bureau," he said. "It has become a free-wheeling, almost independent branch of government, a petty sovereign state."

"Even members of Congress are dependent upon scraps of information," Barron said.

He said the Yalta Papers as released by the State Department were a "distorted, incomplete" compilation.

Barron, who retired last week after 26 years in the department, said many papers "which might have put the elite in bad light were carefully omitted."

He urged the department to follow the lead of Abraham Lincoln and "promptly" publish diplomatic correspondence.

Stock Market Takes Setback During Week

NEW YORK, Feb. 11 (AP) — The stock market took a moderate setback this week for obvious technical and political reasons.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped $3.60 to $174 in a series of four straight daily declines followed by a partial recovery on the fifth and last day.

Despite corporate news that was good for the most part, the market had ample technical reason to adjust itself downward. In the prior week there was the best week's gain on average since early November and five straight daily rises. So some profit-taking was in the cards.

The senate's 11th-hour maneuverings with the natural gas bill led to increased interest in shares of companies with pipelines and big reserves of gas.

Ford Motor stock, traded over the counter touched a low of 59⅝ bid this week but recovered to a final bid of 60⅝ compared with last week's final bid of 63⅞.

The corporate bond market backed and filled this week in inconclusive fashion. U. S. Treasury obligations swung over to the downside with long range bonds weakest.

Optimism About Gulf Of Mexico Grows Increasingly Among Offshore Oilmen

HOUSTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—Offshore operators are becoming more and more optimistic about the Gulf of Mexico.

Daily crude production from Louisiana tidelands wells now is about 100,000 barrels, with many wells idle for lack of transportation to a market.

Operations are at an all-time high. About 70 new wells and tests are being drilled and the number is expected to increase.

Optimism continues despite very slow return on tremendous investments.

L. F. McCollum, president of Continental Oil Co. a major offshore operator, said his company has recovered only 10 per cent of a 70 million dollar tidelands investment. He is not discouraged.

"These figures are not at all indicative of things to come," McCollum said.

McCollum estimated all offshore operators combined have discovered about 1½ billion barrels of oil reserves and about 10 trillion cubic feet of natural gas reserves.

The operations are becoming more extensive as new equipment capable of probing for oil miles offshore and in very deep water is developed.

The CATC Group in December completed a well in 97 feet of water 20 miles off the Louisiana coast. On a dual completion test it flowed at 410 barrels daily at 13,614 feet and 348 barrels at 9,874 feet. The nearest production was 15 miles away.

In November, Continental and Shell Oil Co. pooled resources for an expensive venture with a wildcat 63 miles off the Texas coast in 90 feet of water. Drilling begins shortly.

Expensive equipment and transportation are major problems.

A recent survey reported 82 Louisiana tidelands wells drilled in 1953 cost almost six times more than the U.S. land average. The report emphasized the 1953 wells were drilled in fairly shallow water, that equipment for deeper areas become operative only after that time.

Offshore drilling rigs cost $1,500,000 to $3,000,000. Drilling barges cost from 2 to 5 million.

About half the 60 or more fields discovered in the gulf are shut in for lack of economical transportation. A few companies have tied their offshore wells with mainland outlets by pipe line.

A Houston firm, Offshore Gathering Corp., in November filed application for a certificate of necessity to construct the gas line portion of a proposed 150 million dollar gas and oil pipe line system to serve Louisiana tidelands production.

The 360-mile parallel lines—30-inch pipe for gas, 20-inch for oil—would extend about 25 miles offshore from the Sabine River to the Mississippi River.

Many new mobile drilling platforms are being designed and constructed.

Zapata Off-Shore Co. recently paid 2 million dollars for a 4,000-ton, half-acre triangular platform supported by three 140-foot silts.

Humble Oil, an early offshore operator from permanent platforms, has called for bids for a new mobile unit for operations in water 30 to 70 feet deep.

American farmers own 7 million motor vehicles and 4.5 million horses and mules today. Ten years ago, they owned 5.6 million vehicles and 11.9 million horses and mules.

'Moderate' Approach To Integregation Puts Backers Of Stevenson On Spot

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson apparently has put some of his Northern and Southern supporters on a political spot by his "moderate" approach to the problem of school integration.

Stevenson, who is running for the Democratic presidential nomination, recently said that if he were elected he would not cut off federal funds from segregated schools or use U.S. troops to enforce racial integration.

He called for a gradual approach to this problem, suggesting that the goal for achieving integration might be set for 1963, a hundred years after the emancipation proclamation.

For some Southerners who don't think integration ever will be accomplished in some sections of the South, this represented little more than a promise to conform with a Supreme Court opinion they are committed to oppose in every legal way.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala) said nevertheless that he believes Stevenson helped himself in the South by taking the stand he did. Sparkman, the 1952 Democratic vice presidential nominee, is backing Stevenson even though Sparkman is strongly opposed to integration.

"He is the candidate of moderation," Sparkman said. "He has taken a more conciliatory attitude toward this program than any other Democratic candidate of stature. I think it has helped him in the South."

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn), an advocate of integration who is supporting Stevenson, made it clear he would have preferred a much stronger strand against segregation.

But he said he thinks Stevenson's position "on matters of importance to the country is sound."

Most Democrats seemed to think Stevenson was appealing to an element of voters in the South that think integration is inevitable but must come about gradually.

Stevenson may need more Southern support than he received in 1952 if he is to win the nomination at this year's Chicago convention.

As the situation now shapes up, states likely to have favorite sons and thus deny their votes to Stevenson on the early ballots could tie up 360 votes. These include Ohio, Michigan, New York, Texas, New Jersey, Missouri and Kentucky.

Outside of Florida, where the 28-vote convention delegation will be chosen in a primary, there are 218 convention votes represented in Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia.

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, apparently is going to get his state's 32 votes, might win Wisconsin's 28 by default, and boost his total in other primaries.

This year 686½ votes are needed to win the nomination. Any combination of favorite sons, a solid South and Kefauver followers which picked up scattered support elsewhere probably could stymie Stevenson in the early balloting.

On the other hand, if Stevenson can get early support from such potential favorite sons as Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey, and break into the South, opponents might find him hard to stop.

They hope to halt him in the critical primaries in Florida and California where Kefauver is his chief opponent. If Stevenson doesn't win both of these tests, his strength will melt away.

Approval Given Building Program

PINEVILLE, Feb. 11 —(Special)—Architect's drawings for Louisiana College's proposed new $500,000 dormitory building program were approved this week by the school's long range building committee, according to announcement from Dr. G. Earl Guinn, L. C. president.

The group acting on authority vested in them by the school's board of trustees, also authorized completion of these sketches within the immediate future so that bids on the new structure may be received on or before May 1.

The drawings were presented by J. Cheshire Peyton, Shreveport architect.

The committee also approved drawings of campus lay-out which were submitted by Donald Buth, representing Hare and Hare, Kansas City site planners and landscape architects.

Upon recommendation of this firm, the committee decided that the new men's dormitory will be between the baseball field and the veterans apartments on the back campus.

This structure will be three stories high and will house 100 additional male students, Dr. Guinn explained.

In addition, a new wing will be added to south side of Cottingham hall, newest women's dormitory. This will care for additional 50 coeds. Total cost of the two projects will approximate $500,000.

Application for this loan has already been given preliminary approval by the Federal Home and Housing Finance Agency, according to a report received this week by President Guinn. In fact, funds to that amount have been reserved, he said.

Former Official Hurls Charges At State Department

CHICAGO, Feb. 11—UP—Bryton Barron a former State Department official, charged Saturday the department has become a "bureau and distorts information.

He was among a string of speakers who criticized the department and American foreign policy in addresses before the Abraham Lincoln National Republican Club.

Other speakers before an estimated 500 "conservative Republicans" included Sens. William S. Jenner of Indiana and George W. Malone of Nevada and Reps. Usher L. Burdick if North Dakota and Frank T. Bow of Ohio, all Republicans.

Barron, former head of the State Department's treaty division who compiled the Yalta Papers, pictured the department as a "self-nointed elite" that is now almost beyond reach of Congress and the people.

"It is no longer a government bureau," he said. "It has become a free-wheeling, almost independent branch of government, a petty sovereign state."

"Even members of Congress are dependent upon scraps of information," Barron said.

He said the Yalta Papers as released by the State Department were a "distorted, incomplete" compilation.

Barron, who retired last week after 26 years in the department, said many papers "which might have put the elite in bad light were carefully omitted."

He urged the department to follow the lead of Abraham Lincoln and "promptly" publish diplomatic correspondence.

In Armed Services

BIG DELTA, Alaska — Pfc Roosevelt Wilson Jr., 22, son of Mrs. Mary L. Matthews, Tallulah, La., is taking part in the Army's Alaskan "Exercise Moose Horn" in the Big Delta area, 165 miles from the Arctic Circle.

During the four - week maneuver, several thousand troops will receive practical training in tactical operations and cross-country movement under simulated combat conditions. Winter temperatures in the region drop to about 50-degrees below zero.

Also, two methods of arctic supply, airdrop and giant oversnow tractor - sled-trains, are being compared.

Wilson is regularly assigned to Battery A of the 71st Infantry Division's 607th Armored Field Artillery Battalion at Fort Richardson, Alaska. He was last stationed at Camp Chaffee, Ark.

Before entering the Army in May 1953, Wilson was employed by the Service Novelty Co., Newellton. His father lives in Holly Ridge.

FORT SILL, Okla.—Army Pvt. Oliver H. Hilton, whose wife, Jo Ann, lives in Bonita, La., recently was assigned to the 602d Field Artillery Battalion at Fort Sill, Okla.

Private Hilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Hilton, 517 Thomas ave., Bastrop, is a cannoneer in the battalion's Battery A. He entered the Army in April 1955 and received basic training at Camp Chaffee, Ark.

The 22-year-old soldier attended Mer Rouge High School.

FORT SILL, Okla., — Army Specialist Third Class Paul W. Johnson, whose wife, Veronas, lives in Delhi, La., recently was assigned to the 602d Field Artillery Battalion at Fort Sill, Okla.

Specialist Johnson, a mechanic in the battalion's Battery B, entered the Army in March 1955 and received basic training at Camp Chaffee, Ark.

FORT SILL, Okla. — Army Pvt. Oliver H. Hilton, whose wife, Jo Ann, lives in Bonita, La., recently was assigned to the 602d Field Artillery Battalion at Fort Sill, Okla.

Private Hilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Hilton, 517 Thomas ave., Bastrop, is a cannoneer in the battalion's Battery A. He entered the Army in April 1955 and received basic training at Camp Chaffee, Ark.

The 22-year-old soldier attended Mer Rouge High School.

FORT BRAGG, N. C., Private Fred E. Watson, son of Mrs. Beatriy D. Watson, who resides at 300 Crosley Street, West Monroe, La., recently completed a three week Basic Airborne Course, including five parachute jumps from an aircraft in flight, to win the Silver Wings of an Army Parachutist.

Private Watson is a member of Artillery Battalion, 187th Airborne Regimental Combat Team, graduated from the 82nd Airborne School in a class of 400 novice jumpers in formal ceremonies at Fort Bragg.

The new Rakkasan will accompany the 187th Combat Team to Fort Campbell, Kentucky to help reactivate the 101st Airborne Division of World War II Fame.

Stock Market Takes Setback During Week

NEW YORK, Feb. 11 (AP) — The stock market took a moderate setback this week for obvious technical and political reasons.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped $3.60 to $174 in a series of four straight daily declines followed by a partial recovery on the fifth and last day.

Despite corporate news that was good for the most part, the market had ample technical reason to adjust itself downward. In the prior week there was the best week's gain on average since early November and five straight daily rises. So some profit-taking was in the cards.

The senate's 11th-hour maneuverings with the natural gas bill led to increased interest in shares of companies with pipelines and big reserves of gas.

Ford Motor stock, traded over the counter touched a low of 59⅝ bid this week but recovered to a final bid of 60⅝ compared with last week's final bid of 63⅞.

The corporate bond market backed and filled this week in inconclusive fashion. U. S. Treasury obligations swung over to the downside with long range bonds weakest.

Optimism About Gulf Of Mexico Grows Increasingly Among Offshore Oilmen

HOUSTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—Offshore operators are becoming more and more optimistic about the Gulf of Mexico.

Daily crude production from Louisiana tidelands wells now is about 100,000 barrels, with many wells idle for lack of transportation to a market.

Operations are at an all-time high. About 70 new wells and tests are being drilled and the number is expected to increase.

Optimism continues despite very slow return on tremendous investments.

L. F. McCollum, president of Continental Oil Co. a major offshore operator, said his company has recovered only 10 per cent of a 70 million dollar tidelands investment. He is not discouraged.

"These figures are not at all indicative of things to come," McCollum said.

McCollum estimated all offshore operators combined have discovered about 1½ billion barrels of oil reserves and about 10 trillion cubic feet of natural gas reserves.

The operations are becoming more extensive as new equipment capable of probing for oil miles offshore and in very deep water is developed.

The CATC Group in December completed a well in 97 feet of water 20 miles off the Louisiana coast. On a dual completion test it flowed at 410 barrels daily at 13,614 feet and 348 barrels at 9,874 feet. The nearest production was 15 miles away.

In November, Continental and Shell Oil Co. pooled resources for an expensive venture with a wildcat 63 miles off the Texas coast in 90 feet of water. Drilling begins shortly.

Expensive equipment and transportation are major problems.

A recent survey reported 82 Louisiana tidelands wells drilled in 1953 cost almost six times more than the U.S. land average. The report emphasized the 1953 wells were drilled in fairly shallow water, that equipment for deeper areas become operative only after that time.

Offshore drilling rigs cost $1,500,000 to $3,000,000. Drilling barges cost from 2 to 5 million.

About half the 60 or more fields discovered in the gulf are shut in for lack of economical transportation. A few companies have tied their offshore wells with mainland outlets by pipe line.

A Houston firm, Offshore Gathering Corp., in November filed application for a certificate of necessity to construct the gas line portion of a proposed 150 million dollar gas and oil pipe line system to serve Louisiana tidelands production.

The 360-mile parallel lines—30-inch pipe for gas, 20-inch for oil—would extend about 25 miles offshore from the Sabine River to the Mississippi River.

Many new mobile drilling platforms are being designed and constructed.

Zapata Off-Shore Co. recently paid 2 million dollars for a 4,000-ton, half-acre triangular platform supported by three 140-foot silts.

Humble Oil, an early offshore operator from permanent platforms, has called for bids for a new mobile unit for operations in water 30 to 70 feet deep.

American farmers own 7 million motor vehicles and 4.5 million horses and mules today. Ten years ago, they owned 5.6 million vehicles and 11.9 million horses and mules.

Congressmen Call Meet On Civil Rights Strategy

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—Two congressmen — a Democrat and a Republican — today called a meeting for Thursday to plan strategy for civil rights legislation this year.

In a joint statement, Reps. Diggs (D-Mich) and Scott (R-Penn) said they have asked "the liberal bipartisan bloc of Congress" to meet with them.

They said the meeting "is designed to counteract the growing determinaion of he Souhern bloc in its resistance to constitutional guarantees."

The congressmen said they expected the White House to announce its decision on civil rights legislation before the Thursday meeting.

A few days ago Rep. Roosevelt (D-Calif) said the Justice Department had told him it was preparing comprehensive legislation on civil rights and planned to recommend it to the President for transmission to Congress.

Diggs, a Negro mortician from Detroit, and Scott, a Virginia-born Philadelphia lawyer who is a former chairman of the Republican National Committee, have been calling for civil rights legislation for some time.

Their statement said that through Thursday's meeting "a joining of Republican and Democratic forces is anticipated in plans for legislation which will guarantee the right to vote to all individuals, regardless of race, creed or color and without interference, intimidation or unwarranted restrictions and the enactment of other supplemental antidiscrimination measures."

In a separate statement, Diggs said he had written Adlai E. Stevenson and Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn), announced candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination, and to Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, mentioned often as a possible one. Diggs said he had told tham that "to Negroes and many others in sympathy with their plight, civil rights is the No. 1 issue today."

Diggs said he considered Stevenson's remarks in California on desegreation as a "painfully cautious" stand "in the wake of expressed determination on the part of Southern states to preserve the status quo at all costs."

Stevenson told a Negro audience in Los Angeles Tuesday he is opposed to racial segregation. He also said, in response to questions, that "we have to proceed gradually in these matters" and that the use of troops to enforce desegregation would be a "great mistake."

Large Enrollment Reported At NSC

NATCHITOCHES, Feb. 11 (Special — Enrollment figures released here today show that 1,964 students had registered for the spring semester at Northwestern State College, giving the institution an increase of 12.8 per cent in registrants as compared to the same period last year.

This spring's figure continues to give the college an all time high in enrollment for its 71 years of existence. Highest number to be registered here came in the fall of 1955, when 2,200 registered for classes. Last spring's enrollment was 1,741, Otis R. Crew, NSC registrar, said.

In both undergraduate, graduate studies, a total of 1,007 women and 956 men were reported enrolling. The school of education leads with 811 students registered, followed by the school of nursing, with 374; the school of applied arts and sciences, 318; the school of arts and sciences, 260, and the graduate school, 201.

Total number of men and women registered, by schools, follows: education, 426 men, 385 wqomen; nursing, 5 men, 269 women; applied arts and sciences, 247 men, 71 women; arts and sciences, 200 men, 60 women; the graduate school, 78 men, 123 women. Two hundred and thirty-four World War II Korean veterans are attending NSC this semester. Five of these are women students.

DO DOUBLE DUTY

CASH NOW

You get the cash you need NOW with no delay, sometimes after only an hour or two. Use the money to buy a car, pay bills, buy furniture, repair your home, for shopping or for any purpose. A United Credit Double Duty Loan puts cash in your hand NOW, to be repaid in small monthly amounts.

CASH LATER

As you repay your loan, you build a cash fund always available to you. After you have established your paying record, you may withdraw any or all of the fund, for any purpose, usually without increasing your payments one penny. The questions and answers below will give you more information.

Every Loan made at United Credit Plan does Double Duty . . . gives you cash NOW, and at the same time provides for your future cash needs. Come to United Credit when you need cash, or when you're purchasing a new or used car. United Credit is one of Louisiana's better financial institutions; over 75% of our statewide business is with people who have done business with us before and have come back for the money they need.

1. Q. What is a Double Duty Loan?
   A. It is a loan, made for any purpose, with the exclusive Double Duty feature that allows you to create a cash withdrawal fund as you pay off your loan.
2. Q. How much is this withdrawal fund?
   A. It is usually equal to the amount you have paid on your loan.
3. Q. Would you please give an example?
   A. Yes. Suppose you make a loan—auto, personal, debt consolidation or any other kind. If you repay it at the rate of $40 per month, then after 12 months your withdrawal fund, for most types of loans, will be $480. After 24 months, the fund will be $960. You can withdraw any or all of this fund when you need cash for any purpose.
4. Q. Do you mean the entire amount of my payment goes into the withdrawal fund?
   A. That's right. Your withdrawal fund is usually equal to the amount you have paid on your loan.
5. Q. Why do you call this a Double Duty Loan?
   A. Because the loan actually does Double Duty—it gives you cash NOW and provides for your future cash needs too.
6. Q. Where can I find out more about Double Duty Loans?
   A. At United Credit Plan, Inc.

Congressmen Call Meet On Civil Rights Strategy

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—Two congressmen — a Democrat and a Republican — today called a meeting for Thursday to plan strategy for civil rights legislation this year.

In a joint statement, Reps. Diggs (D-Mich) and Scott (R-Penn) said they have asked "the liberal bipartisan bloc of Congress" to meet with them.

They said the meeting "is designed to counteract the growing determinaion of he Souhern bloc in its resistance to constitutional guarantees."

The congressmen said they expected the White House to announce its decision on civil rights legislation before the Thursday meeting.

A few days ago Rep. Roosevelt (D-Calif) said the Justice Department had told him it was preparing comprehensive legislation on civil rights and planned to recommend it to the President for transmission to Congress.

Diggs, a Negro mortician from Detroit, and Scott, a Virginia-born Philadelphia lawyer who is a former chairman of the Republican National Committee, have been calling for civil rights legislation for some time.

Their statement said that through Thursday's meeting "a joining of Republican and Democratic forces is anticipated in plans for legislation which will guarantee the right to vote to all individuals, regardless of race, creed or color and without interference, intimidation or unwarranted restrictions and the enactment of other supplemental antidiscrimination measures."

In a separate statement, Diggs said he had written Adlai E. Stevenson and Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn), announced candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination, and to Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, mentioned often as a possible one. Diggs said he had told tham that "to Negroes and many others in sympathy with their plight, civil rights is the No. 1 issue today."

Diggs said he considered Stevenson's remarks in California on desegreation as a "painfully cautious" stand "in the wake of expressed determination on the part of Southern states to preserve the status quo at all costs."

Stevenson told a Negro audience in Los Angeles Tuesday he is opposed to racial segregation. He also said, in response to questions, that "we have to proceed gradually in these matters" and that the use of troops to enforce desegregation would be a "great mistake."

Large Enrollment Reported At NSC

NATCHITOCHES, Feb. 11 (Special — Enrollment figures released here today show that 1,964 students had registered for the spring semester at Northwestern State College, giving the institution an increase of 12.8 per cent in registrants as compared to the same period last year.

This spring's figure continues to give the college an all time high in enrollment for its 71 years of existence. Highest number to be registered here came in the fall of 1955, when 2,200 registered for classes. Last spring's enrollment was 1,741, Otis R. Crew, NSC registrar, said.

In both undergraduate, graduate studies, a total of 1,007 women and 956 men were reported enrolling. The school of education leads with 811 students registered, followed by the school of nursing, with 374; the school of applied arts and sciences, 318; the school of arts and sciences, 260, and the graduate school, 201.

Total number of men and women registered, by schools, follows: education, 426 men, 385 wqomen; nursing, 5 men, 269 women; applied arts and sciences, 247 men, 71 women; arts and sciences, 200 men, 60 women; the graduate school, 78 men, 123 women. Two hundred and thirty-four World War II Korean veterans are attending NSC this semester. Five of these are women students.

DO DOUBLE DUTY

Every loan made at United Credit Plan does Double Duty . . . gives you cash NOW, and at the same time provides for your future cash needs. Come to United Credit when you need cash, or when you're purchasing a new or used car. United Credit is one of Louisiana's better financial institutions; over 75% of our statewide business is with people who have done business with us before and have come back for the money they need.

CASH NOW

You get the cash you need NOW with no delay, sometimes after only an hour or two. Use the money to buy a car, pay bills, buy furniture, repair your home, for shopping or for any purpose. A United Credit Double Duty Loan puts cash in your hand NOW, to be repaid in small monthly amounts.

CASH LATER

As you repay your loan, you build a cash fund always available to you. After you have established your paying record, you may withdraw any or all of the fund, for any purpose, usually without increasing your payments one penny. The questions and answers below will give you more information.

1. Q. What is a Double Duty Loan?
   A. It is a loan, made for any purpose, with the exclusive Double Duty feature that allows you to create a cash withdrawal fund as you pay off your loan.
2. Q. How much is this withdrawal fund?
   A. It is usually equal to the amount you have paid on your loan.
3. Q. Would you please give an example?
   A. Yes. Suppose you make a loan—auto, personal, debt consolidation or any other kind. If you repay it at the rate of $40 per month, then after 12 months your withdrawal fund, for most types of loans, will be $480. After 24 months, the fund will be $960. You can withdraw any or all of this fund when you need cash for any purpose.
4. Q. Do you mean the entire amount of my payment goes into the withdrawal fund?
   A. That's right. Your withdrawal fund is usually equal to the amount you have paid on your loan.
5. Q. Why do you call this a Double Duty Loan?
   A. Because the loan actually does Double Duty—it gives you cash NOW and provides for your future cash needs too.
6. Q. Where can I find out more about Double Duty Loans?
   A. At United Credit Plan, Inc.

Americans Believe Hint Of Russian Aid To Turks Will Fall On Deaf Ears

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 —UP— American officials predicted Saturday that Russia's hint of aid to Turkey will fall on deaf ears.

They said Turkey, one of the West's strongest Allies in the Middle East, is so suspicious of Soviet motives she simply will not listen to the Kremlin.

For its part, these officials said, the United States hopes to spend about $70 million in economic aid annually for the next few years to bolster Turkey's sagging economy. But they said Turkey herself will have to tighten her economic belt to avoid a crisis.

Experts said the Turks happily realize the danger confronting them and are already taking the necessary steps to head off the threat.

Russia threw out her hint of aid to Turkey this week in Pravda, the Soviet Communist party organ. The paper said Turkey's troubles stem from her alliance with the United States and suggested Russia might resume economic assistance if Soviet-Turkish relations were "normalized."

This presumably would involve Turkey's abandoning the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) and the Baghdad Defense Pact.

Actually, U.S. officials think Turkey's troubles stem from efforts to industrialize too rapidly, paying unjustified subsidies to her farmers, and too poor crop years.

The Turks last spring sent a mission to the United States to seek a $300 million loan. The United States rejected the plea on grounds the loan would not help solve Turkey's basic problem and urged Turkey to adopt an austerity program to stabilize her economy.

Turkey recently announced steps in that direction.

Parade Tries To Turn Orleans Into City Of Babylon

The Krewe of Babylon, rained out earlier this week, finally got its chance to display a 17-float procession. The Krewe or carnival organization held its masquerade ball Wednesday night despite the rain.

Babylon was the first of nine parades scheduled to increase the Mardi Gras season gaiety during the weekend—providing the weather stays favorable.

Two other parades were scheduled for the New Orleans area tonight. The Krewe of Grela was to march in Gretna, across the river from downtown New Orleans, and Adonis, the Greek lover-boy god was to wind through downtown and French Quarter areas.

Sunday, the Krewes of Thoth, Choctaw, Mid-City and Venus show off their retinues in day parades. Then Midas in Gretna and Freret in New Orleans parade Sunday night.

Movie actress Dorothy Lamour, a New Orleans native, arrived Saturday, and author Lucius Beebe is due Sunday.

Other famous visitors include Sir Brian and Lady Mountain of London, and young George L. Wright III, the 14-year-old who won $100,000 on the National Broadcasting Company television quiz show, "The Big Surprise." Wright was expected late tonight.

DR. T. H. WILLIAMS

Historian Slated To Present Two Lectures At N.E.

Dr. T. Harry Williams of the Louisiana State University history faculty will be presented in two lestures at Northeast State on March 22 in Brown Auditorium. His appearance here will be under sponsorship of the college's Liberal Arts and Social Science Department, headed by Dr. W. R. Hammond.

He will address the college student-faculty assembly at 9:45 a.m. on "Fraternizing and Chivalry in the Civil War." Subject of his public address at 8 p.m. will be "Abraham Lincoln and the American Heritage."

An authority on the Civil War, Professor Williams has gained national recognition for his writing, editing and teaching.

At LSU Dr. Williams teaches courses in Civil War, Reconstruction, Military History and American History.

The historian, a native of Illinois, joined the University faculty in 1941. Previously he taught at the University of Omaha, and prior to that at the University of Wisconsin, where he received the Ph. D. degree.

His recently published work, "P.G.T. Beauregard: Napoleon in Gray," has received excellent reviews and was called a "Pulitzer prize caliber biography" by the New York Times. Dr. Williams' "Lincoln and His Generals" was a Book - of - the - Month Club selection several years ago.

He is the author of "Lincoln and the Radicals," and editor of "Selected Writings and Speeches of Abraham Lincoln." He has contributed to a number of publications, among them the Mississippi Valley Historical Review, Journal of Southern History, Virginia Magazine of History, New York Times, American Military Historical Institute and state historical periodicals of Illinois, Mississippi, Ohio and Wisconsin.

Dr. Williams has been visiting professor at West Virginia and the University of Wisconsin.

He was one of the first professors to be named to the distinghished faculty rank of Boyd Professor, established in 1953 at LSU.

Lately he was selected by the editors of the "Cambridge Modern History" to contribute a chapter on the American Civil War to a new series of their publications, an honor rarely accorded American scholars.

Still another recent honor was his appointment by the Secretary of the Army to the Army's Historical Advisory Committee.

Newellton Boy, 7, Dies Of Tetanus

He was identified as C. Alexander Hart, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy E. Hart, of Newellton.

The Hart youth was reported to have stuck a nail in his foot about two weeks ago while playing at his home. No apparent affect of the wound was noticed at that time.

Funeral arrangements tonight were incomplete pending the arrival of relatives. Services when held will be under the direction of Young Funeral Home of Tallulah.

Besides his parents the youngster is survived by seven brothers, Guy Jr., Joe, Donnie and Mark Ray Hart, all of Oreville, Calif. Henry, Dale, and Teddy of Newellton; one sister, Mrs. Joyce Johnson, Seaside, Calif.

balm of healing and building up the wounds of mankind now fallen into disunion. Not more know how but "know why." Not more knowledge is our greatest need but more wisdom." This is worth giving consideration at a time like the present.

And also Lee A. Dubridge, president of the California Institute of Technology, the other day declared: "We have built a civilization that has raised the common man to levels of comfort and even luxury, that could not have been dreamed of a century ago. But this civilization requires uncommon men to keep going. Civilization cannot be run by dopes."

Someone has classified speakers in three categories. First there are those who lay aside on the table conveniently nearby each page of the address they are delivering. And his honest audience thinks that he has the number checked up correctly and can soon imagine the end of the talk is near . .

But then there are speakers who cheat by putting each sheet under the others, and then worst of all, when it appears that all sheets have been used to divest the message of the speaker, then worst of all, the speaker begins to turn over the pages and to read which was written on the reverse side of those many sheets!

West Monroe is on the move, even we in Monroe must admit. We recall several things over there of importance which leads us to believe that the town is on the move. We of the bigger twin city, thought we had cared for the west side well when the two Monroe banks opened branches there. The plan did satisfy for a time but then one day they decided to have a bank their very own. Presto! They got it and the First National Bank is making a fine record we admit. A few months ago, the ambitious westsiders decided that important cities have a Rotary club. They went out and got it. Now the latest move is to decide that a Chamber of Commerce, apart from the Monroe organization, is timely. An official from the National Chamber is to come here shortly and lay a plan which is likely to lead to the formation of a Chamber all their own.

We on this side are not jealous for every step forward on the west side adds to the importance of the Twin Cities — they still will be the Twin Cities and what helps one of them helps the other.

Competition is the life of trade and must also apply to the onward growth and progress of cities as well.

Among mid-term awarding of advanced degrees by the University of Texas, the other day appeared the name of William Mewman Bradshaw. He received the M.A. degree and is son of the Rev. Hughe E. Bradshaw, pastor of the Memorial Presbyterian Church.

The Monroe Maternal and Infant Welfare clinic, founded to meet a definite need in 1936, is now in its twentieth year and going strong in the way of meeting needs that otherwise would go unfilled. A group of ambitious and civic minded women comprise the board of directors and are: Mrs. R. N. Slator, chairman, Mrs. L. A. Breard Sr., Mrs. R. W. Glaholt, Mrs. B.W. Morrison, and Mrs. L. V. Tarver.

These women see that medicine is available for mothers-to-be and new mothers, that there are supplies of clothing at a time when need arises and money is not to be had. All through the following months of a new life entrusted to parents and friends, the needs are met with, and where too often there is no other source of supply.

This group deserves commendation, which also must include the fine cooperation of the Sisters at St. Francis for their sympathetic care and attention.

Body Of Missing Calif. Engineer Presumed Found

VEGA, Tex., Feb. 11 —UP— A body presumed to be that of a missing North Hollywood, Calif., engineer was found by officers near Vega Saturday after confessed killer David Cooper Nelson had described the arroyo into which he had dumped the man's body.

The sheriff's office at Amarillo, Tex., said the search party of officers was returning the body to either Vega or Amarillo, depending upon which county it was decided the slaying occurred in.

The victim was thought to be Kenneth Short, 36, who disappeared while driving a new automobile from Flint, Mich., to the west coast early last month.

Nelson, a 36-year-old Las Vegas, Nev., sheetmetal worker, admitted shooting Short, as well as another Californian, Ralph Henderson Rainey, 48, of Santa Monica, whose body he dumped beneath a culvert on US 66 west of Albuquerque, N. M.

Nelson told officers that he marched Short about 20 yards off of the same highway about "35 miles west of Amarillo," tied his hands and feet then shot him through the head with a .38 caliber revolver.

DISCUSS TOPIC — Dr. Ralph V. Platou (right front), head of the department of pediatrics in the Tulane university school of medicine and Dr. Harold Cummins, assistant dean of the medical school and professor of anatomy, discuss their topic for the Tulane-Monroe conference to be held Feb. 19 at the Virginia hotel. Drs. Platou and Cummins will present a panel discussion of "Body Markings" at the conference with Dr. C. Prentice Gray, Jr. of Monroe, presiding. The conference is open to everyone interested in higher education.

son, wife of a retired major general and an old friend of the President. Peterson is at Walter Reed recovering from a heart attack.

As Eisenhower was about to get into his car Mrs. Peterson hurried up to the limousine and exclaimed:

"Isn't he a darling!"

At that point the President recognized her and called out:

"Oh, hello, how are you?"

Then he kissed her soundly on the cheek.

Mrs. Peterson explained that her husband is a heart attack patient at the hospital. The President grinned at that and told her:

"So am I."

Mrs. Peterson told newsmen that her husband has known Eisenhower "many, many years." Peterson was the army's inspector general during World War II. He now is retired.

On his departure about 50 hospital employes, visitors and newsmen were assembled at the door. The President waved a greeting when a burst of applause came from the onlookers.

Mrs. Eisenhower stayed on at the hospital to visit with two friends — Mrs. Robert Littlejohn, wife of the late Maj. Gen. Littlejohn who served as Eisenhower's quartermaster in Europe, and Mrs. Wilton B. Persons, wife of a presidential aide. Both ladies are hospitalized.

A drizzling rain slowed traffic during the five-mile drive by the President and Mrs. Eisenhower from the White House to the hospital.

If all the telegraph wires United Press leases for the exclusive purpose of sending its news were tied together into a single strand, it would be long enough to reach the moon and back.

A TRIBUTE To Washington's Birthday

The birthday of the man who carved out the future of the United States is celebrated throughout this land . . . and in many foreign countries. We refer to him affectionately as "The Father of Our Country", and, indeed that is what he was. Now, as our nation is going through another period of rebirth and rededication to the principles of Freedom, it is well to give George Washington even added laurels. For the truths he uttered then are now as vital to America's safety, well-being and progress as they were when our commonwealth was born. Let every American revere the name and the works of this truly great man!

And also Lee A. Dubridge, president of the California Institute of Technology, the other day declared: "We have built a civilization that has raised the common man to levels of comfort and even luxury, that could not have been dreamed of a century ago. But this civilization requires uncommon men to keep going. Civilization cannot be run by dopes."

Someone has classified speakers in three categories. First there are those who lay aside on the table conveniently nearby each page of the address they are delivering. And his honest audience thinks that he has the number checked up correctly and can soon imagine the end of the talk is near . .

But then there are speakers who cheat by putting each sheet under the others, and then worst of all, when it appears that all sheets have been used to divest the message of the speaker, then worst of all, the speaker begins to turn over the pages and to read which was written on the reverse side of those many sheets!

West Monroe is on the move, even we in Monroe must admit. We recall several things over there of importance which leads us to believe that the town is on the move. Americans Believe Hint Of Russian Aid To Turks Will Fall On Deaf Ears

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 —UP— American officials predicted Saturday that Russia's hint of aid to Turkey will fall on deaf ears.

They said Turkey, one of the West's strongest Allies in the Middle East, is so suspicious of Soviet motives she simply will not listen to the Kremlin.

For its part, these officials said, the United States hopes to spend about $70 million in economic aid annually for the next few years to bolster Turkey's sagging economy. But they said Turkey herself will have to tighten her economic belt to avoid a crisis.

Experts said the Turks happily realize the danger confronting them and are already taking the necessary steps to head off the threat.

Russia threw out her hint of aid to Turkey this week in Pravda, the Soviet Communist party organ. The paper said Turkey's troubles stem from her alliance with the United States and suggested Russia might resume economic assistance if Soviet-Turkish relations were "normalized."

This presumably would involve Turkey's abandoning the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) and the Baghdad Defense Pact.

The Turks last spring sent a mission to the United States to seek a $300 million loan. The United States rejected the plea on grounds the loan would not help solve Turkey's basic problem and urged Turkey to adopt an austerity program to stabilize her economy.

Turkey recently announced steps in that direction.

The Krewe of Babylon, rained out earlier this week, finally got its chance to display a 17-float procession. The Krewe or carnival organization held its masquerade ball Wednesday night despite the rain.

Babylon was the first of nine parades scheduled to increase the Mardi Gras season gaiety during the weekend—providing the weather stays favorable.

Two other parades were scheduled for the New Orleans area tonight. The Krewe of Grela was to march in Gretna, across the river from downtown New Orleans, and Adonis, the Greek lover-boy god was to wind through downtown and French Quarter areas.

Sunday, the Krewes of Thoth, Choctaw, Mid-City and Venus show off their retinues in day parades. Then Midas in Gretna and Freret in New Orleans parade Sunday night.

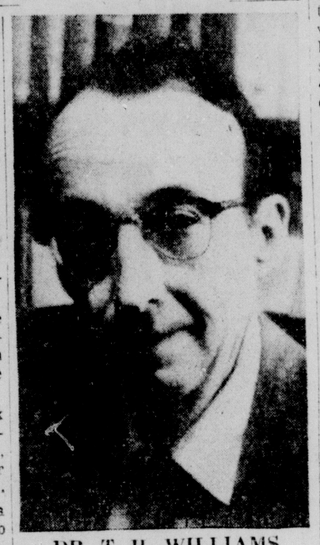
Movie actress Dorothy Lamour, a New Orleans native, arrived Saturday, and author Lucius Beebe is due Sunday.

Other famous visitors include Sir Brian and Lady Mountain of London, and young George L. Wright III, the 14-year-old who won $100,000 on the National Broadcasting Company television quiz show, "The Big Surprise." Wright was expected late tonight.



DR. T. H. WILLIAMS

Historian Slated To Present Two Lectures At N.E.

Dr. T. Harry Williams of the Louisiana State University history faculty will be presented in two lestures at Northeast State on March 22 in Brown Auditorium. His appearance here will be under sponsorship of the college's Liberal Arts and Social Science Department, headed by Dr. W. R. Hammond.

He will address the college student-faculty assembly at 9:45 a.m. on "Fraternizing and Chivalry in the Civil War." Subject of his public address at 8 p.m. will be "Abraham Lincoln and the American Heritage."

An authority on the Civil War, Professor Williams has gained national recognition for his writing, editing and teaching.

At LSU Dr. Williams teaches courses in Civil War, Reconstruction, Military History and American History.

The historian, a native of Illinois, joined the University faculty in 1941. Previously he taught at the University of Omaha, and prior to that at the University of Wisconsin, where he received the Ph. D. degree.

His recently published work, "P.G.T. Beauregard: Napoleon in Gray," has received excellent reviews and was called a "Pulitzer prize caliber biography" by the New York Times. Dr. Williams' "Lincoln and His Generals" was a Book - of - the - Month Club selection several years ago.

He is the author of "Lincoln and the Radicals," and editor of "Selected Writings and Speeches of Abraham Lincoln." He has contributed to a number of publications, among them the Mississippi Valley Historical Review, Journal of Southern History, Virginia Magazine of History, New York Times, American Military Historical Institute and state historical periodicals of Illinois, Mississippi, Ohio and Wisconsin.

Dr. Williams has been visiting professor at West Virginia and the University of Wisconsin.

He was one of the first professors to be named to the distinghished faculty rank of Boyd Professor, established in 1953 at LSU.

Lately he was selected by the editors of the "Cambridge Modern History" to contribute a chapter on the American Civil War to a new series of their publications, an honor rarely accorded American scholars.

Still another recent honor was his appointment by the Secretary of the Army to the Army's Historical Advisory Committee.

Newellton Boy, 7, Dies Of Tetanus

He was identified as C. Alexander Hart, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy E. Hart, of Newellton.

The Hart youth was reported to have stuck a nail in his foot about two weeks ago while playing at his home. No apparent affect of the wound was noticed at that time.

Funeral arrangements tonight were incomplete pending the arrival of relatives. Services when held will be under the direction of Young Funeral Home of Tallulah.

Besides his parents the youngster is survived by seven brothers, Guy Jr., Joe, Donnie and Mark Ray Hart, all of Oreville, Calif. Henry, Dale, and Teddy of Newellton; one sister, Mrs. Joyce Johnson, Seaside, Calif.

Bosco Woman Has Copy Of Old Paper Reporting Lincoln's Assassination

A well preserved copy of the New York Herald, datelined Saturday, April 15, 1865, vividly reports the sentiment of the people when President Abraham Lincoln was assassinated the night of April 14 in Washington at the Ford Theatre.

"When the news spread through the city that the President had been shot, the people, with pale faces and compressed lips, crowded every place where there was the slightest chance of obtaining information in regard to the affair," the newspaper reported.

Lincoln was born Feb. 12, 1809 and was the 16th president of the United States.

The newspaper accounting the assassination of Lincoln is owned by Mrs. C. B. Blackmon, of Bosco. The paper, which is a relic today, was given to her in 1943 by an old gentleman, whose name is unknown, in Rockport, Calif. Mrs. Blackmon said that the old gentleman, who at that time was in his late 70's said that he had been a personal friend of President Lincoln and his valet.

The account featured in the Herald was an official dispatch from the War Department, datelined April 15, 1:30 a.m. It recounted as follows: "This evening at about 9:30 p.m. at Ford Theatre, the president, while sitting in his private box with Mrs. Lincoln, Mrs. Harris and Major Rathburn, was shot by an assassin, who suddenly entered the box and approached behind the president. The president has been insensible ever since it was inflicted and is now dying.

"The wildest excitement prevailed in all parts of the city. Men, women and children, old and young, rushed to and fro and the rumors were magnified until we had nearly every member of the cabinet killed. Some time elapsed before authentic data could be ascertained in regard to the affair.

"The streets in the vicinity of Ford's Theater were densely crowded by an anxious and excited crowd. A guard has been placed across Tenth street, F and E streets and only official persons and particular friends of the President are allowed to pass.

"The popular heart is deeply stirred and the deepest indignation against leading rebels is freely expressed. The scene at the house where the President lies in extremis is very affecting. Even Secretary Stanton is affected to tears.

"The popular affection of Mr. Lincoln has been shown by this diabolical assassination which will bring eternal infamy, not only upon its authors, but upon the hellish cause which they desire to avenge."

A dispatch datelined Washington, War Department, and signed by Edwin M. Stanton, Secretary of War, reported "Abraham Lincoln died this morning at 22 minutes past 7 o'clock." This was the latest and final dispatch reported in the newspaper.

Along with the report of Lincoln's assassination was a report "Secretary Seward Daggered In His Bed, But Not Mortally Wounded."

Mrs. Lincoln's screams were reported to be the first disclosure, the paper stated, that the president had been shot. "All present rose to their feet rushing towards the stage, many exclaiming 'Hang Him, Hang Him.' There was a rush toward the president's box when cries were heard, 'Stand back and give him air.' "

The war department dispatch said, "It is now ascertained with reasonable certainty that two assassins were engaged in the horrible crime, Wilkes Booth being the one that shot the President and the other an accomplice whose name is not known, but whose description is so clear that he can hardly escape. The alarm sounded in every quarter. Cavalrymen were sent out in all directions and dispatches were sent to all the fortifications and it is thought they will be captured."

On the same front page of the Herald headlines stated "THE REBELS—JEFF DAVIS AT DANVILLE." In smaller headlines the following was reported "His Latest Appeal To His Deluded Followers —He Thinks The Fall Of Richmond A Blessing In Disguise As It Leaves The Rebel Armies Free To Move From Point To Point—He Vanely Promises To Hold Virginia At All Hazards."

Gen. Robert E. Lee had surrendered at Appomattox on April 9 and Gen. J. E. Johnston surrendered at Greensboro on April 26, 1865.

Points For Good Reading Program Explained Here

Preventing reading difficulties and making a good reading program were underscored at Saturday's conference which was sponsored by Northeast State. These were the big factors in the lecture by dr. Ralph Staiger, director of the Reading Clinic at Mississippi Southern College, and the panel discussion chairmaned by Dr. Gladys Jones, Northeast reading specialist.

School personnel throughout this area participated in the meeting, and representatives met after the conference to organize a chapter of the International Reading Association.

Reading problems, Dr. Staiger warned, are associated not only with students of lower intelligence but with those in the upper bracket as well. Differences among children call for alertness on the teacheer's part, he stressed. These differences may point to insecurity or some other emotional factor, surroundings which influence the knowledge of students, or their particular interests.

Readiness is an important item to consider in reading, the speaker explained, just as there is readiness for marriage, jobs and death.

The consultant gave consideration to reading difficulties that may be accounted for in the schoolroom. Size of the class can prove a handicap to the teacher. She may lack materials which could be valuable teaching aids. Sometimes materials are stored or they may be considered personal things which belong to the principal. The teaching of reading is a problem when the child's concept is passive, or when the instructor considers that all learning is based upon reading.

Dr. Staiger underlined the fallacy of automatic promotion which many schools practice. Sometimes the child is benefited by being retained in a grade. Since a great percentage of material read in books and magazines is introduced in the first grade, the child may be shortchanged if he is promoted without a fair readiness for a higher class, the speaker reasoned.

Silent reading as a factor in improving reading was recommended by the consultant. Teachers should know what reading skills should be taught, he said. They must be aware of variations in students and also realize that they do not have control of all concepts.

The panel discussion emphasized the value of obtaining a balance between phonics and information and a balance between oral and silent reading. The opportunity of the teacher in providing many experiences which are resourceful to students also was stressed. The teacher is a vital force in presenting a challenge to children's growth, one of the panelists asserted. "Students must never be permitted to feel that they know enough when they can just coast along," Dr. Staiger said.

The theory that gifted children too often go unrecognized was the concensus of the panelists. The alert teacher will attempt to prevent this situation by giving individual attention or proper grouping within her class. Grouping according to ability or need of assistance has paid big dividends in reading and interest.

Considering reading as a factor in high schools, Dr. Staiger told the group that the high school teacher can make sure that reading is done for a special purpose and that he can have the student search for new words.

Participating in the panel discussion were Dr. Staiger, Dr. Jones, Dr. Marvin McKneely of the Northeast faculty, Mrs. Ernestine Cook, Selman Elementary School, and J. P. Causey, supervisor, Morehouse Parish School Board.

He was invited to give the 16th annual Edward Douglass White lecture series on citizenship here March 26-28, according to Dean Paul M. Hebert of the LSU law school.

"Mr. Gellhorn was invited some time ago," Dean Hebert said. "We feel there is nothing wrong with his lecturing here and his three talks will go on as scheduled.

"We are satisfied Mr. Gellhorn is an outstanding scholar in his field," Hebert said. "And we expect nothing of a subversive nature in his lectures."

Hebert said Courtney asked for detailed information about the series.

He asked for the title of Gellhorn's talks; who would be in the Gellhorn audience; what other speakers had appeared at law school - sponsored series; and whether LSU officials knew of Gellhorn's alleged subervise associations.

Both Hebert and Courtney told the United Press it was the first district legion committee and not the entire legion organization which was making inquiries.

Courtney first wrote to Gov. Robert Kennon asking him if he knew of Gellhorn's "background" and impending talks here.

Kennon's executive counsel Col. Wilburn Lunn wrote to Courtney and said he had conferred with Dean Hebert.

Col. Lunn wrote: "Dean Hebert advised me that Gellhorn had been invited to give the lectures at LSU . . .: that Gellhorn was known to be a professor of the school of law at Columbia as well as the editor of a text book on administrative law which is used by most of the better schools in the United States."

The letter continued: "The information (concerning Gellhorn's background) enclosed in your letter has been communicated to Dean Hebert. . .but the law school is still in a quandary as to what it can do at this late date. . .since they have already entered into a contract with Gellhorn and since he (Gellhorn) denies he is a member of the communist party, although identified as such by Mr. (Louis) Budenz."

However, Lunn said no proof had been produced which contradicted Gellhorn's contention he was not a Communist.

Lunn continued in his letter: "As you can see, it is a rather awkward situation which the law school finds itself."

TELLS OF ASSASSINATION — Mrs. C. B. Blackmon, of Bosco, is shown above reading The New York Herald, datelined Saturday, April 15, 1865, which gives a full account of the assassination of President Abraham Lincoln on April 14. Bosco Woman Has Copy Of Old Paper Reporting Lincoln's Assassination

A well preserved copy of the New York Herald, datelined Saturday, April 15, 1865, vividly reports the sentiment of the people when President Abraham Lincoln was assassinated the night of April 14 in Washington at the Ford Theatre.

"When the news spread through the city that the President had been shot, the people, with pale faces and compressed lips, crowded every place where there was the slightest chance of obtaining information in regard to the affair," the newspaper reported.

Lincoln was born Feb. 12, 1809 and was the 16th president of the United States.

The newspaper accounting the assassination of Lincoln is owned by Mrs. C. B. Blackmon, of Bosco. The paper, which is a relic today, was given to her in 1943 by an old gentleman, whose name is unknown, in Rockport, Calif. Mrs. Blackmon said that the old gentleman, who at that time was in his late 70's said that he had been a personal friend of President Lincoln and his valet.

The account featured in the Herald was an official dispatch from the War Department, datelined April 15, 1:30 a.m. It recounted as follows: "This evening at about 9:30 p.m. at Ford Theatre, the president, while sitting in his private box with Mrs. Lincoln, Mrs. Harris and Major Rathburn, was shot by an assassin, who suddenly entered the box and approached behind the president. The president has been insensible ever since it was inflicted and is now dying.

"The wildest excitement prevailed in all parts of the city. Men, women and children, old and young, rushed to and fro and the rumors were magnified until we had nearly every member of the cabinet killed. Some time elapsed before authentic data could be ascertained in regard to the affair.

"The streets in the vicinity of Ford's Theater were densely crowded by an anxious and excited crowd. A guard has been placed across Tenth street, F and E streets and only official persons and particular friends of the President are allowed to pass.

"The popular heart is deeply stirred and the deepest indignation against leading rebels is freely expressed. The scene at the house where the President lies in extremis is very affecting. Even Secretary Stanton is affected to tears.

"The popular affection of Mr. Lincoln has been shown by this diabolical assassination which will bring eternal infamy, not only upon its authors, but upon the hellish cause which they desire to avenge."

A dispatch datelined Washington, War Department, and signed by Edwin M. Stanton, Secretary of War, reported "Abraham Lincoln died this morning at 22 minutes past 7 o'clock." This was the latest and final dispatch reported in the newspaper.

"All present rose to their feet rushing towards the stage, many exclaiming 'Hang Him, Hang Him.' There was a rush toward the president's box when cries were heard. 'Stand back and give him air.' "

Reigel On 47-Point Spree Against Tribe

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

The "old" bowed out and the "new" may have had its start in baseball yesterday.

While that grand old man of baseball, Connie Mack, was being lowered into his grave on a bleak, rain-swept day at Philadelphia to end an era of baseball in which Mr. Mack was a prominent figure in fact and fiction for most of his fabulous 93 years, the sun broke clear over Monroe for hordes of small boys who turned out too meet some of baseball's greats and near-greats at the third annual Twin Cities Baseball Clinic. And the kids who picked up some of the diamond's lore yesterday could possibly become the "greats themselves in the later years.

Louis Nathan "Buddy" Blair, who was probably the closest to Mr. Mack of any of the figures at yesterday's clinic sessions, expressed regret in the death of Mr. Mack and the hope for today's youth tomorrow. "Mr. Mack was one of the finest gentlemen I have ever known," said Blair who played third base for Mack's old Philadelphia Athletics. "Somehow, I feel part of baseball has died with Mr. Mack, but I know that as long as the kids show the interest they're displaying today that baseball will continue to be the great sport it is."

While the baseball clinic was supposed to be for the kids—and there was certainly a mob of them—the older generation turned out as well to hear such figures as "Schoolboy" Rowe, the once great Detroit Tiger pitcher; "Dizzy" Dean, fabulous hurler of the old St. Louis Cardinal Gas House Gang, as the heroes of yesteryear, and current greats like Joe Adcock of the Milwaukee Braves, Matt Batts of the Cincinnati Redlegs, and Dave Philley of the Baltimore Orioles instruct in the tricks of their trade.

Just as attractive to the youngsters were those standing on the threshold of possible baseball greatness like Monroe's own products—Wayne Causey who went direct to the Baltimore Orioles fresh from the Neville High campus last summer; Art "Little Red" Swanson, a bonus grab of the Pittsburgh Pirates, and Billy Hardy who is preparing for his first season in the Boston Red Sox system.

Anybody who figures the boys were just out yesterday to play a little "catch," bat a few balls around, and hear some long-winded talking need only to show up at one of these sessions to find out how wrong they are. It's serious business with the instructors and the avid pupils, and words of wisdom were being served up freely to the youngsters yesterday. How to pitch, how to field positions, how to bat, how to train, and all the "don't" of the game from men who are experts in their particular baseball jobs.

And the youth of this area is certainly wiser in the art of baseball this morning if he heeded closely the instruction he had yesterday.

A final general session is scheduled for this afternoon at Legion Memorial Stadium as the sponsoring North Monroe Lions Club completes the most successful of this series of annual clinics inaugurated by an independent Monroe group, part of which still works with the Lions to assure success of the program for boys.

One of those kids out there yesterday could become another Dean (if such a thing is possible, and certainly Ole Diz is of a stamp nearly impossible to duplicate), or a Rowe, and Adcock, a Batts or a Causey. Baseball waits to find out.

McNeese Thumps Northeast Quint By 94-64 Margin

LAKE CHARLES, La., Feb. 11 (AP) —Bill Reigel, second highest scorer among the nation's small colleges, poured in 47 points tonight to tie his Gulf States Conference record and lead McNeese State to a 94-62 victory over Northeast State College.

McNeese took a 21-6 lead midway in the first half, with Reigel accounting for 10 of them. By halftime, the margin was 51-35 and Northeast was never in contention.

Twin Cities Sell Catcher Saatzer To Winston-Salem

Twin Cities Sports have sold Don Saatzer, catcher and the only player remaining on the roster until the recent sale, to Winston-Salem of the Class B Carolina League.

This gives Saatzer a chance to play in higher classification like his other teammates who have gone to other clubs throughout the nation. He had a fairly good season with the Sports last year, aiding them in their capture of the league championship and playoff series.

Players sold by Twin Cities (who did not play here last year) include: Hugh Wosley, Toney Asane, John George and Dick Rubio to Modesto of the Class C California State League. Wolsey and George are natives of Washington and Asano and Rubio come from California.

Taking time out after handling such transactions as these sales and other affairs, Ed Head, manager of the Sports, is working with young beseball enthusiasts of the Twin Cities in the annual baseball clinic. This is one of two such recent instructional meets in which Head has participated. The first was the Baton Rouge clinic last week.

Fink's men store is now equipped to sell season book tickets and any fan in the downtown area desiring to purchase a book can now do so conveniently at Fink's. The other two places in the Twin Cities where ducats are on sale are Adler Tire Company, 201 South Grand street, and Feeders Supply company of West Monroe, 513 Trenton street.

Tickets may also be purchased by dialing 3-8805 or 3-9461 and immediate delivery will be assured. Also many civic clubs have ducats for sale as well as all of the members of the Twin Cities Sports board of directors.

Prices are: grandstand, $25 plus tax; bleachers, $17.50 and box seats of four, $50.

The deadline for this campaign is March 1 and the goal that has been set by the board of directors is 1,000 tickets to be sold by that time.

Mister Gus Cops San Antonio Run; Honeys Alibi 2nd

ARCADIA, Calif., Feb. 11 (AP)—The well regarded Mister Gus outdueled a longshot named Honeys Alibi in the stretch to win the $59,300 San Antonio Handicap at Santa Anita Park today.

Taking charge while his more esteemed stablemate, Porterhouse, failed to deliver, Mister Gus captured the $36,200 top money in a thrilling race that had the crowd of 48,000 in an uproar.

Signalling a threat to win the next major stakes on the Santa Anita handicap program, the combination of Mister Gus and Jockey William Boland, racing for the Llangollen farm of Virginia, returned $11.50, $6.20 and $4.20 across the board.

Honeys Alibi, from Harry Warner's W-L Ranh of California, ably ridden by Rogellio Trejos, paid $17.60 and $7.50, and Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Kerr's Bobby Broato, with George Taniguchi up, returned $3.10.

Hillary came up to finish fourth in the field of 13 and such prominent figuers as Porterhouse, with Eddie Arcaro aboard, the King Ranch's Rejected and a lightweight threat, Turk's Delight, never figured in the race.

Dittmer Won't Talk His Contract Woes

ELKADER, Iowa, Feb. 11 (AP)—Jack Dittmer, second baseman with the Milwaukee Braves, said today that he has "no comment either way" on reports that he has tried to buy his contract.

The report originated in Milwaukee where a friend of Dittmer's, who declined use of his name, said Jack would like to try to make a better deal for himself elsewhere than the Braves have offered him.

Jack confirmed that he discussed 1956 terms in Milwaukee with General Manager John Quinn of the Braves this week and said they failed to reach agreement.

Wilcy Moore Again On Dallas' Roster

DALLAS, Feb. 11 (AP) — Wilcy Moore, the fleet veteran outfielder, has been returned to Dallas of the Texas League by Minneapolis, Business Mahager Bob Bozman said today.

Moore has been the property of the Millers for the past two seasons and played with Dallas on option. This year Moore requested that the Minneapolis club sell his contract to Dallas in order that he could play closer to home. Moore hit .284 last season.

Income Tax Boys Showing Interest In Husky Payoffs

SEATTLE, Feb. 11 —(AP)—The Internal Revenue Bureau today expressed interest in money received by athletes from the University of Washington grant-in-aid program or a much-discussed "Downtown Fund."

Roscoe C. (Torchy) Torrance, administrator of the "Downtown Fund," was preparing to tell his side of the story in a television and radio talk at 8:30 p.m. (CST) Sunday. The Times said Friday that athletes were given money from the fund in addition to the grant-in-aid "salaries" permitted by the conference.

And the university was hunting a coach to succeed Johnny (Cowboy) Cherberg, deposed, and an athletic director to replace Harvey Cassill, resigned.

Pacific Coast Conference Commissioner Victor O. Schmidt happened by just after the Cassill resignation this week. Schmidt said the visit was routine, but added it was his job to look into all matters of interest to the conference. He held a meeting with Cherberg's assistant coaches but no word leaked out as to what transpired.

Schmidt indicated there would be no conference action until the regular meeting in late May—if any is taken.

William E. Frank, the district director of the Internal Revenue Bureau warned the football players that money from the grant-in-aid program or the "Downtown Fund" must be reported as income in tax returns.

The fund operated by Washington alumni, is legal under conference rules—up to a point. Alumni are permitted to pay transportation costs, including food and lodging, or prospective athletes on visits to the campus. Payments of salaries or bonuses from such a fund is banned. Torrance has said the fund was tapped for "transportation entertainment and expenses" of the prospects.

Hutchinson Gets Look At Cardinal Newcomers Today

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 11 —(AP)—Freddie Huntchinson, new manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, gets his first look tomorrow at part of the squad he will be working with this season.

He called out 47 players, including 19 who were on the Cardinal roster last season, to begin drills in advance of the regular spring training for the full team.

Hutchinson says this is no rookie school he is running but instructional sessions.

Assisted by most of his coaching staff, Hutchinson plans one workout daily and after 10 days hopes to get intra-squad games going.

Among the shining prospects facing Hutchinson tomorrow will be outfielder Jackie Brandt, who was named the International Leauge's most vaulable rookie while playing with Rochester last season, and second baseman Don Blassingame who played with Omaha in the American Association.

Tried and proven players from last season's squad on hand tomorrow will include pitchers Tom Pottolsky, Frank Smith and Larry Jackson and outfielder Rip Repulski.

The Cards are the fourth major league club to get going in Florida this year. The Philadelphia Phillies, New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox are working with rookies.

Ousted Eagle Coach On Green Bay Staff

The 52-year-old veteran of 25 years of coaching replaces Ted Hearden, who resigned from the National Football League team to take a job as assistant coach at the University of Wisconsin.

Scarr, Kowalski Take Tag Bout Against Welch Boys

The wrestlers, after a week's absence while Promoter Gus Kallio squeezed in a boxing card the past week, return to Kallio's Walnut street Arena Tuesday night with another tag team scramble featuring Red Scarr and Stan Kowalski against the brothers Lester and Herb Welch.

Two weeks ago Lester Welch and his partner, Buddy Fuller, fell before the wiles of the current villains as Scarr the masked terror, and Kowalski, a longhaired Pole, unlimbered some choice villainy to swing the tide in their favor.

But Lester, taking a page from the book of the Curtis brothers, Jack and George, figures he'll have stronger support with the help of his older brother, Herb, so the newest brothers' relay combination will move in to attempt the success of the Curtis boys against the same Scarr and Kowalski.

"They (Scarr and Kowalski) were a little rougher, tougher, and meaner than I had expected," Lester told Kallio concerning his last effort with Fuller and his plans to bring in Herb. "But I can work better with my brother. We know what to do and when to do it. I know we're going to win."

The relay main event will have a time limit of 90 minutes with two falls to win. Bill Barney is scheduled to referee.

ATLANTA, Feb. 11 (AP)—Georgia Tech's ramblers charged out of a 13-point hole early in the second half tonight and overhauled Tulane for a tingling 79-77 Southeastern Conference basketball victory.

After Joe Helms' opening goal gave the Jackets a 2-0 lead, Tech never regained the advantage until the final two minutes of play. Again it was the irrepressible Helms, who stole a weak pass from the Greenies and dribbled down court for the layup that made it 75-73. And it was Helms who dropped through the two foul shots in the last 30 seconds that gave Tech what proved to be the winning margin.

Sharing honors with Helms for Tech's comeback, however were the Cohen boys, Bill and Lenny, who fired the Jackets back from a 44-43 halftime deficit.

Tulane's thin Green Wave had pushed its margin to 50-37 early in the second half before Lenny began getting into position for his left-handed hooks and Bill and he operated like a couple of giant scoops sweeping the boards.

Central's Girls, Ogden Boys Are 4-C Champions

WINNSBORO, La., Feb. 11 (Special) — The Central High School girls of Delhi and the Ogden High boys were crowned champions of their respective divisions in the finals of the district four Class C basketball tournament here tonight.

Floice Pepper led the Central girls with 24 points, and LaJuana Flint hooped 12 for Start. Billy Johnston fired 21 points through the nets in leading the Ogden boys, while James Crider led the Central quint with 14.

In the day's semi-final games the Central girls beat Monterey, 73-34, the Start girls beat Enterprise, 38-29; the Ogden boys beat Vidalia, 49-32, and the Central boys defeated Enterprise, 58-52.

Both championship schools are located in Franklin parish although Central gets its mail out of Delhi just across the line in Richland parish.

In further playoffs toward state titles the Central girls will play the second place team of district three at Central, and the Ogden boys will be at home to the second place club of district three. The Start girls and Central boys, still in the running for the state crown will play winners of district three at the home gyms of those winners.

The all-district teams:

Crocker Sharing First Round Lead With Patty Berg

But she had no complaints.

"I'm pleased I played as well as I did and got a tie for the lead", she commented to spectators who groaned in unison when the ball refused to fall.

The leaders had identical 37-34—71 scores over the 6,756-yard par 36-36—72 Normandy Shores Golf Club course. 8

Vanderbilt Still In Running With Defeat Of Tigers

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 11 (AP)— Vanderbilt kept its Southeastern Conference championship hopes alive here tonight with a 107-68 win over Louisiana State University. It was an all-time high score for Vanderbilt and the highest point total ever made in Vanderbilt's Memorial Gym.

The win was a blazing comeback for the Commodores who toppled into a second place conference tie with Kentucky after an 88-61 loss to undefeated Alabama last Monday.

Sophomore Jimmy French hit the record breaking field goal on a push shot 18 feet out to make the score 105-68. The previous Vanderbilt high score was 104 to 88 against Washington and Lee in December 1954.

Al Rochelle, who led the Commoders for the night with 24 points, added another field goal with two seconds remaining to make the total 107.

The game started not evenly with the score tied four times in the first 6½ minutes before Vanderbilt broke away. The Commodores, who usually play a deliberate style on offense, ran with LSU and Bobby Thym, Al Rochelle and Babe Taylor made the fast

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

The "old" bowed out and the "new" may have had its start in baseball yesterday.

While that grand old man of baseball, Connie Mack, was being lowered into his grave on a bleak, rain-swept day at Philadelphia to end an era of baseball in which Mr. Mack was a prominent figure in fact and fiction for most of his fabulous 93 years, the sun broke clear over Monroe for hordes of small boys who turned out too meet some of baseball's greats and near-greats at the third annual Twin Cities Baseball Clinic. And the kids who picked up some of the diamond's lore yesterday could possibly become the "greats themselves in the later years.

Louis Nathan "Buddy" Blair, who was probably the closest to Mr. Mack of any of the figures at yesterday's clinic sessions, expressed regret in the death of Mr. Mack and the hope for today's youth tomorrow. "Mr. Mack was one of the finest gentlemen I have ever known," said Blair who played third base for Mack's old Philadelphia Athletics. "Somehow, I feel part of baseball has died with Mr. Mack, but I know that as long as the kids show the interest they're displaying today that baseball will continue to be the great sport it is."

While the baseball clinic was supposed to be for the kids—and there was certainly a mob of them—the older generation turned out as well to hear such figures as "Schoolboy" Rowe, the once great Detroit Tiger pitcher; "Dizzy" Dean, fabulous hurler of the old St. Louis Cardinal Gas House Gang, as the heroes of yesteryear, and current greats like Joe Adcock of the Milwaukee Braves, Matt Batts of the Cincinnati Redlegs, and Dave Philley of the Baltimore Orioles instruct in the tricks of their trade.

Just as attractive to the youngsters were those standing on the threshold of possible baseball greatness like Monroe's own products—Wayne Causey who went direct to the Baltimore Orioles fresh from the Neville High campus last summer; Art "Little Red" Swanson, a bonus grab of the Pittsburgh Pirates, and Billy Hardy who is preparing for his first season in the Boston Red Sox system.

Anybody who figures the boys were just out yesterday to play a little "catch," bat a few balls around, and hear some long-winded talking need only to show up at one of these sessions to find out how wrong they are. It's serious business with the instructors and the avid pupils, and words of wisdom were being served up freely to the youngsters yesterday. How to pitch, how to field positions, how to bat, how to train, and all the "don't" of the game from men who are experts in their particular baseball jobs.

And the youth of this area is certainly wiser in the art of baseball this morning if he heeded closely the instruction he had yesterday.

A final general session is scheduled for this afternoon at Legion Memorial Stadium as the sponsoring North Monroe Lions Club completes the most successful of this series of annual clinics inaugurated by an independent Monroe group, part of which still works with the Lions to assure success of the program for boys.

One of those kids out there yesterday could become another Dean (if such a thing is possible, and certainly Ole Diz is of a stamp nearly impossible to duplicate), or a Rowe, and Adcock, a Batts or a Causey. Baseball waits to find out.

Reigel On 47-Point Spree Against Tribe

LAKE CHARLES, La., Feb. 11 (AP) —Bill Reigel, second highest scorer among the nation's small colleges, poured in 47 points tonight to tie his Gulf States Conference record and lead McNeese State to a 94-62 victory over Northeast State College.

McNeese took a 21-6 lead midway in the first half, with Reigel accounting for 10 of them. By halftime, the margin was 51-35 and Northeast was never in contention.

Scarr, Kowalski Take Tag Bout Against Welch Boys

The wrestlers, after a week's absence while Promoter Gus Kallio squeezed in a boxing card the past week, return to Kallio's Walnut street Arena Tuesday night with another tag team scramble featuring Red Scarr and Stan Kowalski against the brothers Lester and Herb Welch.

Two weeks ago Lester Welch and his partner, Buddy Fuller, fell before the wiles of the current villains as Scarr the masked terror, and Kowalski, a longhaired Pole, unlimbered some choice villainy to swing the tide in their favor.

But Lester, taking a page from the book of the Curtis brothers, Jack and George, figures he'll have stronger support with the help of his older brother, Herb, so the newest brothers' relay combination will move in to attempt the success of the Curtis boys against the same Scarr and Kowalski.

"They (Scarr and Kowalski) were a little rougher, tougher, and meaner than I had expected," Lester told Kallio concerning his last effort with Fuller and his plans to bring in Herb. "But I can work better with my brother. We know what to do and when to do it. I know we're going to win."

The relay main event will have a time limit of 90 minutes with two falls to win. Bill Barney is scheduled to referee.

Detroit 'Bonus Baby' Accepts '56 Contract

DETROIT, Feb. 11 —(AP)—Second base candidate Reno Bertoia signed his 1956 contract with the Detroit Tigers today. He is the 25th Tiger to sign with 18 yet to come to terms.

ATLANTA, Feb. 11 (AP)—Georgia Tech's ramblers charged out of a 13-point hole early in the second half tonight and overhauled Tulane for a tingling 79-77 Southeastern Conference basketball victory.

After Joe Helms' opening goal gave the Jackets a 2-0 lead, Tech never regained the advantage until the final two minutes of play. Again it was the irrepressible Helms, who stole a weak pass from the Greenies and dribbled down court for the layup that made it 75-73. And it was Helms who dropped through the two foul shots in the last 30 seconds that gave Tech what proved to be the winning margin.

Sharing honors with Helms for Tech's comeback, however were the Cohen boys, Bill and Lenny, who fired the Jackets back from a 44-43 halftime deficit.

Tulane's thin Green Wave had pushed its margin to 50-37 early in the second half before Lenny began getting into position for his left-handed hooks and Bill and he operated like a couple of giant scoops sweeping the boards.

Twin Cities Sell Catcher Saatzer To Winston-Salem

Twin Cities Sports have sold Don Saatzer, catcher and the only player remaining on the roster until the recent sale, to Winston-Salem of the Class B Carolina League.

This gives Saatzer a chance to play in higher classification like his other teammates who have gone to other clubs throughout the nation. He had a fairly good season with the Sports last year, aiding them in their capture of the league championship and playoff series.

Players sold by Twin Cities (who did not play here last year) include: Hugh Wosley, Toney Asane, John George and Dick Rubio to Modesto of the Class C California State League. Wolsey and George are natives of Washington and Asano and Rubio come from California.

Taking time out after handling such transactions as these sales and other affairs, Ed Head, manager of the Sports, is working with young beseball enthusiasts of the Twin Cities in the annual baseball clinic. This is one of two such recent instructional meets in which Head has participated. The first was the Baton Rouge clinic last week.

Fink's men store is now equipped to sell season book tickets and any fan in the downtown area desiring to purchase a book can now do so conveniently at Fink's. The other two places in the Twin Cities where ducats are on sale are Adler Tire Company, 201 South Grand street, and Feeders Supply company of West Monroe, 513 Trenton street.

Tickets may also be purchased by dialing 3-8805 or 3-9461 and immediate delivery will be assured. Also many civic clubs have ducats for sale as well as all of the members of the Twin Cities Sports board of directors.

Prices are: grandstand, $25 plus tax; bleachers, $17.50 and box seats of four, $50.

The deadline for this campaign is March 1 and the goal that has been set by the board of directors is 1,000 tickets to be sold by that time.

ARCADIA, Calif., Feb. 11 (AP)—The well regarded Mister Gus outdueled a longshot named Honeys Alibi in the stretch to win the $59,300 San Antonio Handicap at Santa Anita Park today.

Taking charge while his more esteemed stablemate, Porterhouse, failed to deliver, Mister Gus captured the $36,200 top money in a thrilling race that had the crowd of 48,000 in an uproar.

Signalling a threat to win the next major stakes on the Santa Anita handicap program, the combination of Mister Gus and Jockey William Boland, racing for the Llangollen farm of Virginia, returned $11.50, $6.20 and $4.20 aross the board.

Honeys Alibi, from Harry Warner's W-L Ranh of California, ably ridden by Rogello Trejos, paid $17.60 and $7.50, and Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Kerr's Bobby Broato, with George Taniguchi up, returned $3.10.

Hillary came up to finish fourth in the field of 13 and such prominent figuers as Porterhouse, with Eddie Arcaro aboard, the King Ranch's Rejected and a lightweight threat, Turk's Delight, never figured in the race.

Dittmer Won't Talk His Contract Woes

ELKADER, Iowa, Feb. 11 —(AP)—Jack Dittmer, second baseman with the Milwaukee Braves, said today that he has "no comment either way" on reports that he has tried to buy his contract.

The report originated in Milwaukee where a friend af Dittmer's, who declined use of his name, said Jack would like to try to make a better deal for himself elsewhere than the Braves have offered him.

Jack confirmed that he discussed 1956 terms in Milwaukee with General Manager John Quinn of the Braves this week and said they failed to reach agreement.

Wilcy Moore Again On Dallas' Roster

DALLAS, Feb. 11 (AP) — Wilcy Moore, the fleet veteran outfielder, has been returned to Dallas of the Texas League by Minneapolis, Business Mahager Bob Bozman said today.

Moore has been the property of the Millers for the past two seasons and played with Dallas on option. This year Moore requested that the Minneapolis club sell his contract to Dallas in order that he could play closer to home. Moore hit .284 last season.

Income Tax Boys Showing Interest In Husky Payoffs

SEATTLE, Feb. 11 —(AP)—The Internal Revenue Bureau today expressed interest in money received by athletes from the University of Washington grant-in-aid program or a much-discussed "Downtown Fund."

Roscoe C. (Torchy) Torrance, administrator of the "Downtown Fund," was preparing to tell his side of the story in a television and radio talk at 8:30 p.m. (CST) Sunday. The Times said Friday that athletes were given money from the fund in addition to the grant-in-aid "salaries" permitted by the conference.

And the university was hunting a coach to succeed Johnny (Cowboy) Cherberg, deposed, and an athletic director to replace Harvey Cassill, resigned.

Pacific Coast Conference Commissioner Victor O. Schmidt happened by just after the Cassill resignation this week. Schmidt said the visit was routine, but added it was his job to look into all matters of interest to the conference. He held a meeting with Cherberg's assistant coaches but no word leaked out as to what transpired.

Schmidt indicated there would be no conference action until the regular meeting in late May—if any is taken.

William E. Frank, the district director of the Internal Revenue Bureau warned the football players that money from the grant-in-aid program or the "Downtown Fund" must be reported as income in tax returns.

The fund operated by Washington alumni, is legal under conference rules—up to a point. Alumni are permitted to pay transportation costs, including food and lodging, or prospective athletes on visits to the campus. Payments of salaries or bonuses from such a fund is banned. Torrance has said the fund was tapped for "transportation entertainment and expenses" of the prospects.

Hutchinson Gets Look At Cardinal Newcomers Today

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 11 —(AP)—Freddie Huntchinson, new manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, gets his first lock tomorrow at part of the squad he will be working with this season.

He called out 47 players, including 19 who were on the Cardinal roster last season, to begin drills in advance of the regular spring training for the full team.

Hutchinson says this is no rookie school he is running but instructional sessions.

Assisted by most of his coaching staff, Hutchinson plans one workout daily and after 10 days hopes to get intra-squad games going.

Among the shining prospects facing Hutchinson tomorrow will be outfielder Jackie Brandt, who was named the International Leauge's most vaulable rookie while playing with Rochester last season, and second baseman Don Blassingame who played with Omaha in the American Association.

Tried and proven players from last season's squad on hand tomorrow will include pitchers Tom Potrolsky, Frank Smith and Larry Jackson and outfielder Rip Repulski.

The Cards are the fourth major league club to get going in Florida this year. The Philadelphia Phillies, New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox are working with rookies.

Ousted Eagle Coach On Green Bay Staff

The 52-year-old veteran of 29 years of coaching replaces Tom Hearden, who resigned from the National Football League team to take a job as assistant coach at the University of Wisconsin.

Central's Girls, Ogden Boys Are 4-C Champions

WINNSBORO, La., Feb. 11 (Special) — The Central High School girls of Delhi and the Ogden High boys were crowned champions of their respective divisions in the finals of the district four Class C basketball tournament here tonight.

Floice Pepper led the Central girls with 24 points, and LaJuana Flint hooped 12 for Start. Billy Johnston fired 21 points through the nets in leading the Ogden boys, while James Crider led the Central quint with 14.

In the day's semi-final games the Central girls beat Monterey, 73-34, the Start girls beat Enterprise, 38-29; the Ogden boys beat Vidalia, 49-32, and the Central boys defeated Enterprise, 58-52.

Both championship schools are located in Franklin parish although Central gets its mail out of Delhi just across the line in Richland parish.

In further playoffs toward state titles the Central girls will play the second place team of district three at Central, and the Ogden boys will be at home to the second place club of district three. The Start girls and Central boys, still in the running for the state crown will play winners of district three at the home gyms of those winners.

The all-district teams:

But she had no complaints.

"I'm pleased I played as well as I did and got a tie for the lead", she commented to spectators who groaned in unison when the ball refused to fall.

The leaders had identical 37-34—71 scores over the 6,756-yard par 36-36—72 Normandy Shores Golf Club course. 8

The leaders:

Faye Crocker, Montevideo, Uruguay 37-34—71

Baseball Clinic Draws Hundreds Of Boys

Major Leaguers In Final Session With Kids Today

Youth of the Twin Cities, and some from surrounding towns, turned out by the hundreds yesterday for the third annual Twin Cities Boys Baseball Clinic, and as many or more are expected for the final session scheduled this afternoon at Legion Memorial Stadium.

Some of baseball's biggest names are here serving as instructors for the North Monroe Lions Club-sponsored event and men like Dave Philley, Joe Adcock, "Dizzy" Dean, Matt Batts, "Schoolboy" Rowe, Wayne Causey, Ed Head, Art "Little Red" Swanson, Andy Donald, Walker Cress, Dave Madison, Bill Lee Jr., "Buddy" Blair, Billy Hardy, Bob Carter, Harry Craft, "Bum" Akenhead, Malcolm Landry, Johnny Fetzer, Tony Johns, Hugh Alexander, "Hap" Morse, Johnny Hudson, and "Doc" Wendler, the latter chief trainer for the World Champion Brooklyn Dodgers furnish the full corps for the clinic.

While a lot of baseball knowledge was passed out to the youngsters yesterday at a morning session for boys 13 years old and younger and an afternoon period for the older players, the instructors were kept busy between classes signing autographs and renewing old acquaintances.

Local sporting goods stores must have had their best business in several months in the sale of baseballs. Many youngsters showed up with brand new balls that were adorned with the signatures of big leaguers before the kids departed. But the autographers were not restricted to the youngsters as many adults were just as avid to pick up signatures and one lady was asking for them in clusters of five — it seems she was getting autographs for some young baseball fans who were unable to attend themselves.

The clinic's final session, open to all ages, begins this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock and is due to close at 3:30. It's all free to the public.

The "instructors" work with the boys interested in playing positions at which the particular professors are expert — the pitchers like Rowe and Dean with the embryo hurlers, Adcock with the first basemen, Philley with outfielders, Batts with catchers, and so on. Some mass sessions are held to discuss training and conditioning. A special session is also conducted for batting. But the big work is in how to handle the boys' chosen positions in which they work with the big leaguers who handle the particular job.

"We have tried lots of projects but none in which we have derived so much pleasure and enjoyed so much as putting on this clinic," declared Bill Latham, president of the North Monroe Lions. "One has only to see the way our youth has turned out to meet these major league players to understand what it means to them."

Bulldogs Enter 2nd Half Of Gulf's Title Scramble

RUSTON, La., Feb. 11 —(Special)—After coming through the first half of Gulf States Conference action with a 3-3 record, the Louisiana Tech eagers get the second round of league play underway with two games on tap for the week ahead.

Tuesday night at Ruston the Bulldogs will be host to the Wildcats of Louisiana College. Saturday night the Techsters move down south to play the strong McNeese State Cowboys in a tilt at Lake Charles. Tech is currently in third place and Louisiana College is sixth in G.S.C. standings.

Coach Ceetl Crowley's Tech quintet has now met all conference teams one time but if the Red and Blue outfit is to make a strong bid to repeat as the G.S.C. champ the fellows will have to turn on more steam in the last half of the race.

The Techsters in first half action won over Southeastern (90-79, Southwestern (75-49), and Louisiana College (79-72). There were defeats at tthe hands of Northeast (76-81-, McNeese (58-70, and Northwestern (77-87).

In the contest with Louisiana College Tuesday night Tech will attempt to break a four-game losing streak. The Canines last win came at the expense of this same Wildcat team at Pineville last January 26. Since then the Bulldogs have fallen to Mississippi Southern in two tilts and to Northwestern and Centenary in single tussles.

Coach Morris Osborn's Baptist Wildcats have dropped four of their first five conference frays this winter and will be in no mood to lose again when they take the floor Tuesday. There have been setbacks to Tech, Northeast and they lost to McNeese in two games. Louisiana College defeated Southwestern by a 76-69 count in the first G.S.C. game on the schedule.

Tech's defense will have to hold down LC.'s high - scoring Joe Limbaugh if the Bulldogs expect to make it two in a row over the visitors. The Montgomery, Ala., sophomore was the big gun in the first tilt with Tech when he sank a total of 27 points to easily take scoring honors in the game.

Limbaugh currently has the second highest scoring average in the G.S.C. with 20.7 points per conference game. He is also the fourth highest in free throw percentages with 76.5 per cent made. The sharp-shooting forward dumped in 11 out of 13 free throw attempts against Tech last month.

Tech's starters in the Tuesday night fray will probably be Billy Wiggins and Jim Knotts at guards, Raymond Germany at center, Jep Gullatt, Joe White or Max Kimmel at forwards.

Kembo Captures Kenner Feature At Fair Grounds

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 11 (AP — Kembo, a speed burning gelding bred in Louisiana's Evangeline country, streaked to a two-length victory today in the $7,325 Duncan Kenner Stakes at the Fair Grounds.

The 10th renewal of one of the nation's top early tests for two-year-olds was marred by a foul. The heavily favored entry of Bolodier and Man Charge was disqualified after running second and third.

The stewards moved Kembo's running mate, Blue William, into second place, with Freight Hauler a 25-1 shot, taking third place.

The race marked the first start for Kembo, sired by the little known stallion Bel' Revere. But owner Junius Delahoussaye has been running Kembo in quarter-mile races in southwest Louisiana and claimed earlier his horse could beat any at the Fair Grounds.

The Kembo-Blue William entry, second choice in the beating with the crowd of 12,323, returned $6.80, $7.40 and $7.20. The entry returned more to place and show by running one-two after the disqualification of the favorites.

Freight Hauler paid $11 to show.

Bolodier jumped from the gate in front, but crowded the nine-horse field. Kembo, breaking from outside, began alertly as jockey J. N. Hardinbrook took him to the middle avoiding the congestion.

Man Charge trailed Kembo in second place half-way through the quarter-mile, but Bolodier recovered from his shaky start to more into third.

Champ Rallies From Knockdown For Win

MAR DEL PLATA, Argentina, Feb. 11 (AP—World Flyweight Champion Pascual Perez of Argentina came back from a second-round knock-down to outpoint his countryman Antonio Gomez in a 10-round non-title bout last night. Perez weighed 106 and Gomez 112½ pounds.

Gomez floored Perez in the second round for a count of three with a right cross to the chin. From there on, Perez had the best part of the fight and easily outpointed Gomez.

Everglades Goes To Liberty Sun; Favored Nail 3rd

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 11 —(AP)—Calumet Farms, for years one of America's leading money winning stables, bounced back into the spotlight today when Liberty Sun whipped the highly-favored Nail in the $34,350 Everglades Stakes, final prep for the $100,000 added Flamingo at Hialeah Park.

Nail, Mrs. Anson Bigelow's 1955 juvenile champion, was 9 to 5 favorite in the field of nine but didn't have enough stamina and faded to fourth after leading for more than a mile in the mile and an eighth feature.

Fly-Ho stable's Pete's Folly finished second and East Acres' Alsay third but the stewards studied pictures of the race and disqualified Pete's Folly, moving Alsay to second and Nail to third. Pete's Folly was placed fourth.

Liberty Sun, ridden by Willie Hartack, last year's champion jockey with 417 winners, carried 114 pounds and ran the mile and a furlong in 1:54 flat on a track made sloppy by numerous showers throughout the day.

Liberty Sun, won by a neck and it was three fourths of a length back to Alsay, with Nail a nose away in fourth. Hedley Woodhouse, who made up most of the 126 pounds Nail carried as high weight in the field of nine, said Pete's Folly "came in on me from the head of the stretch." Motion pictures obviously supported him.

Liberty Sun returned $7.70, $4.10 and $3.50 across the board. Alsay, who is not nominated for the Flamingo Stakes Feb. 25, returned $18.50 and $7, while Nail, 9 to 5 favorite, with the crowd of 25,326, paid $3.30 to show.

Baseball's Figures Pay Last Respects To Mack

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 11—UP—The legion of big and little Americans who love baseball paid final tribute Saturday to Connie Mack, the game's elder statesman, who was buried under skies made gray by rain clouds that drenched thousands of mourners.

The burial followed a solemn requiem mass at St. Bridget's, the family parish church where the 93-year-old grand man of baseball was eulogized by The Rev. John A Cartin as one "who will be missed by American people, generations young and old."

Father Cartin departed from the usual custom at Catholic funerals and delivered the brief eulogy following the mass.

"It is not the custom in the Catholic church to preach a sermon," father Cartin said, "we usually simply offer the sacrifice of the mass and our prayers for the deceased.

"However, I know the bereaved wife and family wish me to express their gratitude for the silent tribute of praise exemplified in this gathering of his many friends.

"Those who knew him best would say his greatness was not alone in the things he accomplished, but in the inspiration he gave which enabled others to accomplish much.

"His memory will be kept alive and the work he did for American youth remembered," Father Cartin said.

The list of honorary pallbears included nearly all the top names in modern baseball, and included Philadelphia Mayor Richardson Dilworth.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, National League President Warren Giles, and Earl Hilligan, representing American League President Will Harridge, were honorary pallbearers, as were Cal Hubbard, superviser of American League umpires, Sid Keener director of the Baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N. Y., and General Manager Ed Glennon of the Birhingham club.

Hundreds of mourners filled St. Bridget's for the hour-long funeral service.

Archbishop John F. O'Hara of the Philadelphia Roman Catholic archdiocese was there; so were many of the stars of Connie's teams including Rube Walberg, Joe Boley, George (Mule) Haas, Edmund (Bing) Miller, J. Franklin (Home Run) Baker, and Jimmy Dykes, the man who finally succeeded Mack as A's manager in 1951.

Mack died Wednesday afternoon, 15 months after his Athletics were sold to a Kansas City syndicate.

Undergraduate Tourney Billed At Spearsville

SPEARSVILLE, La., Feb. 11—(Special)—Spearsville High School conducts its third annual Undergraduate Basketball Tournament February 23-24-25, according to an announcement by Coach John A. Archer.

Only high school players who will be eligible to play for their teams another season will be eligible to participate in the Undergraduate event.

Twenty-four teams from six Louisiana parishes and one Arkansas county participated last year with the Spearsville girls and Hico boys merging with championships, and both have had mighty good records this season.

The tournament serves as a good barometer of the next season's prospects, and schools that have failed to receive entries are invited to participate by contacting either Coach Archer or Principal George L. Cole at Spearsville High.

Simsboro Facing Calhoun Quintet For 3-B Throne

RUSTON, La., Feb. 11—(Special)—The district three Class B championship basketball game between high school quintets of Simsboro and Calhoun will be played here Thursday night at Louisiana Tech's Memorial gymnasium, it was announced today by Ted Gullatt, coach of the Simsboro club. Game time will be 7:30 o'clock, and the result will decide first and second places in the district.

In preliminary playoffs this week, Simsboro defeated Downsville, 69-49, at Downsville, Thursday night, and Calhoun thumped Bernice, 74-57, at Bernice last night.

Coach Gullatt's Simsboro boys show a conference record for the season of five wins and one loss, the single defeat the result of a forfeit to Calhoun. Coach Jerry Lovett's Chieftains have won four and lost two, one of the defeats being a 67-57 loss to Simsboro.

Richard Mitchell looms as about the outstanding Calhoun performer, leading scorer of the Chiefs who bagged 32 points in the defeat of Bernice last night. Mitchell is also considered good collegiate cage timber.

Leading scorers of the Simsboro crew appear a near tossup among three players—Bobby Bell, Don Cole, and Ragan Edmiston—who can spell trouble for the Chiefs.

PROFESSOR OF BATTING — Dave Philley, an outfielder for Monroe's Cotton States club of 1941 who now plays for the Baltimore Orioles, serves as an instructor of batting at the boys baseball clinic here. Baseball Clinic Draws Hundreds Of Boys

Youth of the Twin Cities, and some from surrounding towns, turned out by the hundreds yesterday for the third annual Twin Cities Boys Baseball Clinic, and as many or more are expected for the final session scheduled this afternoon at Legion Memorial Stadium.

Some of baseball's biggest names are here serving as instructors for the North Monroe Lions Club-sponsored event and men like Dave Philley, Joe Adcock, "Dizzy" Dean, Matt Batts, "Schoolboy" Rowe, Wayne Causey, Ed Head, Art "Little Red" Swanson, Alvey Donald, Walker Cress, Dave Madison, Bill Lee Jr., "Buddy" Blair, Billy Hardy, Bob Carter, Harry Craft, "Bum" Akenhead, Malcolm Landry, Johnny Fetzer, Tony Johns, Hugh Alexander, "Hap" Morse, Johnny Hudson, and "Doc" Wendler, the latter chief trainer for the World Champion Brooklyn Dodgers furnish the full corps for the clinic.

While a lot of baseball knowledge was passed out to the youngsters yesterday at a morning session for boys 13 years old and younger and an afternoon period for the older players, the instructors were kept busy between classes signing autographs and renewing old acquaintances.

Local sporting goods stores must have had their best business in several months in the sale of baseballs. Many youngsters showed up with brand new balls that were adorned with the signatures of big leaguers before the kids departed. But the autographers were not restricted to the youngsters as many adults were just as avid to pick up signatures and one lady was asking for them in clusters of five — it seems she was getting autographs for some young baseball fans who were unable to attend themselves.

The clinic's final session, open to all ages, begins this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock and is due to close at 3:30. It's all free to the public.

The "instructors" work with the boys interested in playing positions at which the particular professors are expert — the pitchers like Rowe and Dean with the embryo hurlers, Adcock with the first basemen, Philley with outfielders, Batts with catchers, and so on. Some mass sessions are held to discuss training and conditioning. A special session is also conducted for batting. But the big work is in how to handle the boys' chosen positions in which they work with the big leaguers who handle the particular job.

"We have tried lots of projects but none in which we have derived so much pleasure and enjoyed so much as putting on this clinic," declared Bill Latham, president of the North Monroe Lions. "One has only to see the way our youth has turned out to meet these major league players to understand what it means to them."

Bulldogs Enter 2nd Half Of Gulf's Title Scramble

RUSTON, La., Feb. 11 —(Special)—After coming through the first half of Gulf States Conference action with a 3-3 record, the Louisiana Tech cagers get the second round of league play underway with two games on tap for the week ahead.

Tuesday night at Ruston the Bulldogs will be host to the Wildcats of Louisiana College. Saturday night the Techsters move down south to play the strong McNeese State Cowboys in a tilt at Lake Charles. Tech is currently in third place and Louisiana College is sixth in G.S.C. standings.

Coach Cecil Crowley's Tech quintet has now met all conference teams one time but if the Red and Blue outfit is to make a strong bid to repeat as the G.S.C. champ the fellows will have to turn on more steam in the last half of the race.

The Techsters in first half action won over Southeastern (90-79, Southwestern (75-49), and Louisiana College (79-72). There were defeats at tthe hands of Northeast (76-81-, McNeese (58-70, and Northwestern (77-87).

In the contest with Louisiana College Tuesday night Tech will attempt to break a four-game losing streak. The Canines last win came at the expense of this same Wildcat team at Pineville last January 26. Since then the Bulldogs have fallen to Mississippi Southern in two tilts and to Northwestern and Centenary in single tussles.

Coach Morris Osborn's Baptist Wildcats have dropped four of their first five conference frays this winter and will be in no mood to lose again when they take the floor Tuesday. There have been setbacks to Tech, Northeast and they lost to McNeese in two games. Louisiana College defeated Southwestern by a 76-69 count in the first G.S.C. game on the schedule.

Tech's defense will have to hold down LC.'s high - scoring Joe Limbaugh if the Bulldogs expect to make it two in a row over the visitors. The Montgomery, Ala., sophomore was the big gun in the first tilt with Tech when he sank a total of 27 points to easily take scoring honors in the game.

Limbaugh currently has the second highest scoring average in the G.S.C. with 20.7 points per conference game. He is also the fourth highest in free throw percentages with 76.5 per cent made. The sharp-shooting forward dumped in 11 out of 13 free throw attempts against Tech last month.

Tech's starters in the Tuesday night fray will probably be Billy Wiggins and Jim Knotts at guards, Raymond Germany at center, Jap Gullatt, Joe White or Max Kimmel at forwards.

Everglades Goes To Liberty Sun; Favored Nail 3rd

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 11 —(AP)—Calumet Farms, for years one of America's leading money winning stables, bounced back into the spotlight today when Liberty Sun whipped the highly-favored Nail in the $34,350 Everglades Stakes, final prep for the $100,000 added Flamingo at Hialeah Park.

Nail, Mrs. Anson Bigelow's 1955 juvenile champion, was 9 to 5 favorite in the field of nine but didn't have enough stamina and faded to fourth after leading for more than a mile in the mile and an eighth feature.

Fly-Ho stable's Pete's Folly finished second and East Acres' Alsay third but the stewards studied pictures of the race and disqualified Pete's Folly, moving Alsay to second and Nail to third. Pete's Folly was placed fourth.

Liberty Sun, ridden by Willie Hartack, last year's champion jockey with 417 winners, carried 114 pounds and ran the mile and a furlong in 1:54 flat on a track made sloppy by numerous showers throughout the day.

Liberty Sun, won by a neck and it was three fourths of a length back to Alsay, with Nail a nose away in fourth. Hedley Woodhouse, who made up most of the 126 pounds Nail carried as high weight in the field of nine, said Pete's Folly "came in on me from the head of the stretch." Motion pictures obviously supported him.

Liberty Sun returned $7.70, $4.10 and $3.50 across the board. Alsay, who is not nominated for the Flamingo Stakes Feb. 25, returned $18.50 and $7, while Nail, 9 to 5 favorite, with the crowd of 25,326, paid $3.30 to show.

Simsboro Facing Calhoun Quintet For 3-B Throne

RUSTON, La., Feb. 11—(Special)—The district three Class B championship basketball game between high school quintets of Simsboro and Calhoun will be played here Thursday night at Louisiana Tech's Memorial gymnasium, it was announced today by Ted Gullatt, coach of the Simsboro club. Game time will be 7:30 o'clock, and the result will decide first and second places in the district.

In preliminary playoffs this week, Simsboro defeated Downsville, 69-49, at Downsville Thursday night, and Calhoun thumped Bernice, 74-57, at Bernice last night.

Coach Gullatt's Simsboro boys show a conference record for the season of five wins and one loss, the single defeat the result of a forfeit to Calhoun. Coach Jerry Lovett's Chieftains have won four and lost two, one of the defeats being a 67-57 loss to Simsboro.

Richard Mitchell looms as about the outstanding Calhoun performer, leading scorer of the Chiefs who bagged 32 points in the defeat of Bernice last night. Mitchell is also considered good collegiate cage timber.

Leading scorers of the Simsboro crew appear a near tossup among three players—Bobby Bell, Don Cole, and Ragan Edmiston—who can spell trouble for the Chiefs.

Kembo Captures Kenner Feature At Fair Grounds

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 11 (AP) — Kembo, a speed burning gelding bred in Louisiana's Evangeline country, streaked to a two-length victory today in the $7,325 Duncan Kenner Stakes at the Fair Grounds.

The 10th renewal of one of the nation's top early tests for two-year-olds was marred by a fowl. The heavily favored entry of Bolodier and Man Charge was disqualified after running second and third.

The stewards moved Kembo's running mate, Blue William, into second place, with Freight Hauler a 25-1 shot, taking third place.

The race marked the first start for Kembo, sired by the little known stallion Bel Revere. But owner Junius Delahoussaye has been running Kembo in quarter-mile races in southwest Louisiana and claimed earlier his horse could beat any at the Fair Grounds.

The Kembo-Blue William entry, second choice in the beating with the crowd of 12,323, returned $6.80, $7.40 and $7.20. The entry returned more to place and show by running one-two after the disqualification of the favorites.

Freight Hauler paid $11 to show.

Bolodier jumped from the gate in front, but crowded the nine-horse field, Kembo, breaking from outside, began alertly as jockey J. N. Hardinbrook took him to the middle avoiding the conjestion.

Man Charge trailed Kembo in second place half-way through the quarter-mile, but Bolodier recovered from his shaky start to more into third.

Champ Rallies From Knockdown For Win

MAR DEL PLATA, Argentina, Feb. 11 (AP)—World Flyweight Champion Pascual Perez of Argentina came back from a second-round knock-down to outpoint his countryman Antonio Gomez in a 10-round non-title bout last night. Perez weighed 106 and Gomez 112½ pounds.

Gomez floored Perez in the second round for a count of three with a right cross to the chin. From there on, Perez had the best part of the fight and easily outpointed Gomez.

January Running Strong 2nd For Tucson Tourney

TUCSON, Ariz., Feb. 11 —(AP)— Sharp putting today earned Ted Kroll of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., the lead in the $10,000 Tucson Open Golf Tournament at the end of the third round with a 54-hole total of 199.

Don January, a youngster from Abilene, Tex., who is playing better than he dreamed would happen, and Dow Finsterwald of Bedford Heights, O. were one stroke behind with 10-under-par 200's.

Tommy Bolt of Chattanooga, Tenn., played what he called "the worst golf of my life" to finish in a tie with Stan Leonard of La Chute, Que., at 201.

Bolt had predicted he would shoot a 65 today but came in with 69. He complained that the cold desert air, once the sun started to go down, had made his hands swell so badly that he couldn't hold a club properly.

The veteran Kroll has had rounds of 65-65-66, but said he played better today than any time this week.

Kroll was five below par going off the 12th tee and then missed a 14-inch putt on the 14th to take a one-over-par five.

"Actually I putted very well," Kroll said. "I was hitting my iron shots much better."

Gardner Dickinson of Panama City Beach, Fla., who had shared the lead with Leonard at the start of the day's play, went three above par for a total of 204.

Perhaps the most surprising player on the course is young January, who has played very little golf since leaving the air force last November.

Commercial Fishers Extended One Month Bayou DeSiard Work

Bayou DeSiard will be opened to commercial fishermen by permit only beginning Wednesday and running through March 15, according to an announcement last night by Jack Rushing, member of the Ouachita Game and Fish Commission that includes O. N. McNeil and Joe Combs.

Commercial fishing permits to operate in the Ouachita parish stream are available from Rushing at College Friend Cafe.

Sports fishermen are requested to cooperate with the commercial men in their efforts to remove coarse fish and turtles from Bayou DeSiard, Rushing said, and he also reported "fish have been biting good the past few days at Black Bayou. Bream are taking redworms and specks are going good on shiners."

OUTDOORS

Are duck hunters reconciled to seeing their sport wing away and disappear in their own lifetimes?

Not by the signs. With the blessing—even the clamorous urging—of hunters, authorities of the United States and Canada work on a continental scale. State conservation officials strive to do their best for ducks within their borders. Privately financed programs like that conducted by Ducks Unlimited pitch in.

With what results?

The productive waterfowl producing areas of the pothole country are being lost at the rate of three per cent a year.

The pothole country that game managers talk about is in the central north and once extended from Iowa through the Dakotas and part of Minnesota into Canada. About one-third of all the ducks in North America are produced in this area.

And of the original area, Minnesota fish and game director James Kimball estimates, one-half to two-thirds already has been lost to waterfowl by drainage, cultivation or other diversion.

The prairie pothole situation is not, of course, the only dismal spot on the waterfowl map. Nor are the disappearing wetlands that form the duck factories the only critical factor. California, for instance, which must winter most of the several million ducks that travel the Pacific flyway, has what amounts to an emergency situation in the collision of interests between waterfowl and agriculture.

Crisis seems to be the word waterfowl specialists all over the continent are using. Ernest Swift, executive director of the National Wildlife Federation, says that some people can get along without wildlife and some cannot and it's time they made up their minds where they stand—"it's as simple as that."

And Cy Kabat, Wisconsin's nationally known wildlife research chief, says that predictions for the future on breeding ground wetlands show agreement, under present conditions, on a "great reduction in waterfowl."

In 15 years, optimists predict, Kabat adds. And pessimists say: in five.

What's to be done? Well, first of all some way must be found to surmount the obstacle that has prevented any really large-scale successes in all the years that people have been worrying about ducks. Money and popular support—in vast sums and in multitudes, respectively — are basic items, since about the only way the waterfowl factories can be held and managed is by going into the competitive market and buying them in huge tracts.

That, however, is not the essential problem. Money and support are available—but not always in the areas where they're needed. The states, for instance, that have the largest remaining wetlands valuable either for production or wintering of ducks may have far less available in funds than a state with an abundance of cash and enthusiasm but neither nesting nor wintering grounds.

Illinois, Indiaa, Iowa, Ohio, Kentucky and Missouri fall into that classification, for instance. They depend on the pothole country, and the sorely-beset Canadian wetlands to produce the ducks their hundreds of thousands of hunters will see, and they depend on Louisiana and Florida and other deep south states to winter the birds.

An observer unburdened with any considerations except those mentioned might draw the immediate conclusion that a ready answer might be found in diversion of money and personnel from the have-not areas to the critical production and wintering grounds. This might include state funds, state workers, federal appropriations to the states from such funds as the Pittman-Robertson act, or private funds or all three.

However, conservation officials on all levels are understandably chary of making any such suggestions, which lap immediately into the field of legislation. License fees or tax funds from Illinois, for instance, can't just be taken out of the bank and used to buy a thousand square miles of Saskatchewan.

But asked to comment on such proposals, some of the experts will go so far as to say, "Is there any other way?"

Kabat of Wisconsin puts it this way.

"No matter how you look at it, something has to be done soon—in 1956."

January Running Strong 2nd For Tucson Tourney

Long Introduces Bill To Up U.S. Old Age Payments

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11—UP—Sen. Russell B. Long has introduced legislation to expand welfare benefits for needy older citizens by providing for federal payment of a larger share of the cost.

The Louisiana Democrat, a member of the Senate Finance Committee which handles social security legislation, introduced the bill yesterday with Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga.), former chairman of the committee, as co-sponsor.

Under the Long - George measure, the federal matching formula for old age payments would be changed to provide for federal payment of five-sixths of the first $30. The present formula provides for federal payment of four-fifths of the first $25.

"In other words, instead of $20 out of the first $25, the federal share would be $25 out of the first $30 per month," Long told the Senate. "Above the initial $30 there would be 50-50 matching of state and federal funds up to a maximum of $65, instead of the present maximum of $55."

Long said some technical details of the proposal are still to be worked out by the finance committee.

Drivers Charged After Accident In West Monroe

Two automobile drivers were charged by West Monroe police with drunk driving after they were involved in a two-car collision about 12:26 a.m. Saturday in the 2100 block of Cypress street.

Charged were Joe E. Magee, 22, of Franklinton, and Van Elbert Cotton, 33, of 117 Claiborne, West Monroe.

Magee was traveling west on Cypress, and Cotton was headed east on Cypress, according to the police report. Policemen investigating the accident theorized that Cotton had crossed into the left lane, in the path of Magee, and collided with Magee's car.

The police explained that Magee's outside lane at the point of impact was blocked off by workmen's barricades, leaving only three available lanes for traffic.

Charles W. Hair, Cattleman, Dies

Funeral arrangements last night were incomplete but services will be directed by Mulhearn Funeral Home of Winnsboro.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Sadie Hair, Crowville; two daughters, Miss Helen Hair and Miss Mary Hair, Crowville; two sons, C. W. Hair, Jr., Baton Rouge; Ben F. Hair, Dearborn, Mich.; two brothers, W. Ivy Hair, Baton Rouge and Robert W. Hair, Monroe; two sisters, Miss Sara Hair, and Mrs. Fred A. Coon, Sr., both of Monroe; and six grandchildren.

GUEST SPEAKER — Edwin H. Mosler, Jr., president of the Mosler Safe Co., will be guest speaker Thursday night at the monthly meeting of the Sales Executive club of Monroe and West Monroe. He is the fourth generation member of the family to head the 108 years old office record protective equipment company. He is a graduate of Harvard and has been with the firm since 1940. He became president in 1952.

Battle Over Freedom Of Seas Shapes Up Between U. S., Latin Americans

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—The United States today appeared headed into a serious battle with most of its Latin-American neighbors on the thorny question of freedom of the seas.

For the Washington government, much more than fishing privileges will be at stake when the subject comes before a special Inter-American conference at Ciudad Trujillo, Dominican Republic, beginning March 15.

The State Department's problem is acute because representatives of 15 Latin-American republics at a meeting in Mexico City recently adopted a declaration that they could establish their territorial waters at any distance they considered "reasonable."

Should that viewpoint be reaffirmed by a majority at the Ciudad Trujillo conference, the question could become a major problem throughout the world.

What would happen for example if the Communist nations were to proclaim their sovereignty over the seas extending 200 miles out from their coast lines? State Department officials shudder at the idea and refuse to discuss it.

Chile, Peru and Ecuador several years ago proclaimed that their territorial waters extend out 200 miles into the sea. This and similar positions adopted by other countries have led in the past to seizure of Cuban and United States vessels operating off the eastern shore of Mexico and to seizure and heavy penalties for ships off the shores of Peru and Ecuador.

The Inter-American Council of Jurists, an agency of the Organization of American States, met recently at Mexico City. Presumably this meeting was to make preparatory legal studies for the Ciudad Trujillo conference which had been called by the Inter-American conference at Caracas, Venezuela, in 1954 to study the question of territorial waters.

The jurists, however, adopted a declaration of principles concerning legal, biological, scientific, and geographical aspects of territorial waters. Without mentioning 200 miles or any other figure it declared that each nation "is competent to establish its territorial waters within reasonable limits." The declaration was adopted although the U.S. delegation opposed it as "contrary to international law." Five Latin-American nations abstained from the vote.

The United States declared, in explaining its opposition, that the resolution "is clearly designed to serve political purposes." An official source this week said the State Department regards the content and the methods used in adopting the resolution as a "disgraceful performance."

The United States generally recognizes a three-mile limit for territorial waters.

Southern District Sales Manager Named By CSC

Commercial Solvents Corporation is expanding its marketing and distribution organization for agricultural chemicals in the south, according to Clyde T. Marshall, general manager of the company's agricultural chemicals department.

Massey K. McConnell has been named southern district sales manager with headquarters at the Sterlington, Louisiana plant where it produces granular ammonium nitrate, aqua ammonia, nitrogen solutions and anhydrous ammonia. McConnell has been with CSC since August, 1954, as a sales representative for ammonium nitrate in the south. He is a native of Mangham, Louisiana, a graduate of Louisiana State University, and has spent the past 15 years of his career in agriculture.

Marshall also announced the appointment of William M. Hemeter to the southern district sales organization. Hemeter's home is in Hattiesburg, Mississippi, where for the past 20 years, he has been engaged in fertilizer production and sales.

Hemeter is an army veteran with service in the European and Asiatic - Pacific theatres, and is a member of the American Society of Agronomy.

The southern district includes Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, western Tennessee, Texas, and Oklahoma, Mr. Marshall stated. Aggressive sales and advertising campaigns now in operation emphasize the advantages to the farmer of CSC's exclusive granular ammonium nitrate.

to a policy aimed at achieving greater mutual understanding between the Soviet Union and the West, having become convinced on the basis of official information which was at our disposal, of the fact that neither British nor still more, American policy at that time was seriously pursuing this object.

"The position which we occupied gave us every reason to think that such mutual understanding is absolutely necessary if we wish to preserve peace.

"We had every reason for coming to the conclusion that such mutual understanding was the object of Soviet policy.

"We had every possibility to know the plans of a small but powerful group of men who opposed the achievement of such mutual understanding, and for this reason we had every grounds to fear these plans."

The two former diplomats admitted that when they were students at Cambridge "we were both Communists." They said they ceased their political activities not because they forsook Marxist theory but because "we wrongly presumed that being in the service of the state we could more than anywhere else put into practice our ideas."

They said a "wrongful interpretation of our actions—the need to cease political activities when entering the service of the state — apparently led to the (British) foreign office statement that the foreign office presumes that we had become Soviet agents in Cambridge.

"The foreign office, can, of course, presume anything it wishes.

"We, neither of us, have ever been Soviet agents," they said.

Both then went into a delineation of their separate careers after they left Cambridge, where MacLean was classed as a brilliant student, and entered the British foreign service.

They said MacLean was in the diplomatic service of Britain in London, Paris, Washington and Cairo from 1935 to 1951 during which time, with the exception of the war years, Britain was "pursuing a policy unacceptable not only to MacLean but also to many others."

After the war "he found himself more and more alone.

"To remain further in the diplomatic service was becoming impossible. In May, 1951, there were clear signs that whatever plans he may have been making for his future, the foreign office and the security organs had their own intentions regarding him." (At this time he was under surveillance by intelligence agents in Britain).

"For this reason, MacLean decided to go to the Soviet Union. . ."

The statement said Burgess "sympathized with Soviet policy" and was "becoming increasingly alarmed by the postwar character of Anglo-American policy."

The statement said "the difficulty of leaving the country while under police surveillance was solved at a meeting with Burgess who had just returned to London from Washington, where he was occupying a post in the British embassy.

3 Anniversaries To Be Observed At School Here

Celebrating three silver anniversaries at once will be featured at Sherrouse School auditorium on February 19 at 3 p.m.

The historic event is designed to give recognition to twenty-five years of service to the community which the school's record shows; twenty-five years of service given by the Sherrouse School Parent - Teacher Association; and twenty-five years of leadership by Mrs. W. S. Vincent during her principalship—the only person here to serve in this capacity for such a period.

February was chosen as the time to celebration since this month is observed as Founders Day Month by the Parent-Teacher organization throughout the United States. Using this as a keynote, an historical program has been planned by Mrs. William Gannaway, Founders Day chairman.

Presenting historical highlights will be the narrator, Mrs. Marcus Mapp, president of the Sherrouse Parent-Teacher Association. Many of these events will be illustrated by a display of scrapbooks, trophies, minutes of meetings—all of which give evidence of the organization's accomplishments through the quarter-century.

Iterest is being manifested in the program by responses from persons in other towns and cities. A former pupil of Sherrouse School, Rev. John Edward Ingouf of Shreveport, will attend to give the invocation at the program.

Recognition will be given former students who enrolled on the memorable first day of school in 1930. Honor also will be paid to the founders of the Sherrouse P-T. A., Mrs. Fagan Cox, Miss Myrtle Rodgers, former principal of Georgia Tucker School; Miss Julia Wossman former principal of Barkdull- Faulk School; and to the first president of the organization, Mrs. Orrie Rust of Mooringsport and a teacher for several years at Sherrouse and Barkdull - Faulk.

Following the hospital program, parents will visit the buildings and later be guests at a social hour. The Sherrouse P-T.A. founders and the organization's first president will serve at the coffee table.

The committee in charge of plans for the silver anniversary celebration is headed by Mrs. H. F. Shepard, a charter member of the Sherrouse Parent-Teacher Association, and Mrs. G. M. Heldenreich. Assisting are: Mrs. C. Dillingham, Mrs. W. W. Stevens, Mrs. William Allen, Mrs. Wade Cotton, Mrs. Mike Windham, Mrs. E. J. Brown, Mrs. Elton Upshaw, Mrs. Elizabeth Blair, Mrs. M. Mullins, and Mrs. John Sherrouse, Jr.

Woman, Child, 2, Hurt In Wreck

A 19 year-old woman and her 2-year-old son were slightly injured in a two car collission that occurred in front of the Pelican Club on Jewel Road last night about 9:15.

Slightly injured were Mrs. Betty Morris, and son, Michael Stephen Morris, 206 Carolina street, Minden, according to Louisiana State police.

Mrs. Morris told hospital authorities "my head broke out the windshield of the car when we hit." James A. Morris, her husband was driver of the vehicle.

State troopers said Odis Head, 46, of 145 Keller street would be charged with reckless operation of a motor vehicle. Head, according to troopers ran a stop sign colliding with the Morris auto.

A hearing on her petition was set for Feb. 29.

University President Dr. O. C. Carmichael said her allegations outrageous." He said "outsiders played a major role in the mob actions" and added that "disciplinary action will be taken in the cases of those students who are known to have engaged in actual violence."

At Montgomery, Gov. James E. Folsom declared "mob rule" will never take over any function of the state or local governments "as long as I am governor" of Alabama.

"Part of our people may agree with the Supreme Court and part of the people may not agree with the Supreme Court, but 98 per cent of our people do not go along with mob rule against constituted authority," he continued.

Miss Lucy and Mrs. Pollie Ann Hudson, first applied for enrollment at the university in 1952. When they were denied admittance they asked for a federal court order.

Order was granted last year and upheld by the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Miss Lucy was admitted but Mrs. Hudson was denied enrollment because of her "conduct and marital record."

Mrs. Hudson again petitioned for admittance but the suit was dropped on a motion by her attorney who said he would decide what further steps would be taken in Mrs. Hudson's behalf after the Lucy case was settled.

In Washington this week more than 15 senators representing nearly all Southern states, met with Sen. George (D-Ga) to discuss a possible congressional interposition resolution to combat the court's decision.

Basically, interposition declares that the states may interpose their paramount authority when the federal government goes beyond powers granted to it by the states themselves.

Such a resolution would declare the segregation ruling to be null and void and of no effect. It also would call on Congress to submit a constitutional amendment calling for racial integration with the belief the it would not be ratified by the necessary three-fourths of the states.

Whereupon, the states could disregard the Supreme Court decision on the grounds it had been "nullified" by the refusal of the states to endorse it.

In Union Springs, Ala., a grand jury urged police to enforce segregation laws in spite of the U.S. Supreme Court and pledged full support to a circuit judge who said he would jail any federal officers who tried to investigate judicial matters in his court.

Judge George Wallace urged the jurors to enforce state laws requiring segregated travel despite a recent Interstate Commerce Commission ruling barring separate facilities for whites and Negroes on interstate carriers.

The south Alabama judge pointed to a recent federal investigation of grand juries in Cobb County, Ga., as an "unwarranted and deliberate invasion of state sovereignty and a direct insult to the people of that county."

The Cobb County investigation followed the reversal by the U.S. Supreme Court of the conviction of Amos Reece, a Negro convicted of raping a white woman.

The court said the conviction was set aside because evidence showed no Negro had served on a Cobb grand jury prior to Reece's indictment Oct. 28, 1953.

But the Justice Department investigated and said there was no discrimination.

"Unless we assert ourselves and we continue to allow such Gestapo methods in local affairs, then surely local government in America will be dead forever," Wallace said.

There were other developments on the tense segregation front including these from other Southern cities:

MONTGOMERY—The Alabama Legislature approved a constitutional amendment to let parents say whether they fant their children to attend integrated schools.

The Alabama Public Service Commission ordered all railroad and bus stations in the state to put up "white" and "Negro" signs on their waiting rooms. Some stations removed signs after the Interstate Commerce Commission directed certain carriers to discontinue separate facilities.

ATLANTA—With only one dissenting vote, the Georgia House if Representatives voted approval of Gov. Marvin Griffin's strong interposition resolution declaring the Supreme Court segregation decision to be of no effect. The resolution went to the State Senate where its passage is a certainty.

LITTLE ROCK—A suit was filed in U.S. District Court in the name of 33 Negroes ranging in age from 6 to 21 years for immediate racial integration in Little Rock schools.

TALLAHASSEE — Florida's Board of Control began a poll of students, parents and alumni of the three state universities — two white and one Negro—on their attitudes toward integration of the races in higher institutions of learning as Gov. LeRoy Collins declared Florida can't afford to get mixed up in turmoil over racial issues. He denounced office seekers who wave the flag of racial issues.

JACKSON—The Mississippi Legislature praised college officials for accepting promptly the resignations of two college professors who resigned in indignation after the University of Mississippi withdrew a speaking invitation to the Rev. Alvin Kershaw of Oxford, Ohio, who favors integration.

Three other ministers canceled their speeches after learning the school had banned Kershaw. This wiped out the entire list of out-of-state clergymen scheduled to speak during the University's Religious Emphasis Week, Feb. 19-22.

The three are the Rev. George Chauncey, pastor of the First Presbyterian church Monticello, Ark. the Rev. Joe Earl Elmore of New York, former director of Methodist student work at the university; and Rabbi Milton Grafmon, Temple Emanuel, Birmingham, Ala.

CLARKSDALE, Miss.—A Negro woman charged she was fired from her hospital job because of her activities in the National Assn., for the Advancement of Colored People.

COLUMBIA—The South Carolina General Assembly completed action on an interposition resolution which claims the U. S. Supreme Court ruling against school segregation is void. The legislation should be ready for the governor's signature next week.

decide Monday whether it wants to ask the Senate for broadened investigative authority.

He said he personally doesn't favor the committee's taking such action but added, "Some statement might be made that will cause us to continue the hearings for a few days."

A drawling, leisurely witness, Patman told the senators the $2,500 came from "some funds in my possession that belonged to Howard Keck."

He said he emphasized to Neff at a conference in a Washington hotel room, that it was "the money of an individual, not corporate funds." He said he reminded Neff it is against the law for a corporation to make political contributions.

Neff had told him, the witness continued, that he would like to make a contribution to Case's re-election campaign and had mentioned $2,500.

He said that to the best of his memory Neff had told him previously that Case favored the gas bill.

"And I'll tell you very frankly that pleased me very, very much," he remarked.

Referring to the $2,500, committee counsel Charles W. Steadman asked:

"How do you know that this money was money that came from the private funds of Mr. Keck?"

Patman said here were two sons: that Keck told him so and that he had received personal checks from Keck from time to time and cashed them to use for the purposes for which the checks were given.

To a question whether he told Keck the $2,500 was for Case's campaign, Neff replied he didn't until after Case's Senate speech about it.

"Then," he said dryly, "I called him and told him that was his money."

He said the money Keck gave him was "modest — not over $6,000."

That produced some snickers from the audience.

Asked whether he accounts to Keck for the money, Patman answered, "I sure do," every time he sees his boss, but not in writing. He said he keeps no accounts on it.

He has used the money, he said, for tickets for both Republican and Democratic party dinners and for campaign contributions. As for the Case contribution, he declared he thought it "was perfectly legal and I still think so."

Asked if Keck was "pleased" with his action in putting up the $2,500, Patman replied:

"I don't know that he is pleased but he hasn't fired me."

Keck testified that he turned over money to Patman both in the form of cash and checks and said that over a year's time he thought the total amount would run about $5,000 or $6,000.

He was asked if at any time he had given money to Patman "for any particular legislation."

"Absolutely not," Keck replied.

Asked if he gave Patman instructions on what to do with the money, Keck said that at times he did but that he also left its expenditure to Patman's judgment.

He testified in answer to another question that he couldn't recall that Patman ever discussed with him Case's attitude on the gas bill.

Counsel Steadman wanted to know if Keck thought a $2,500 contribution to a single campaign was a "substantial outlay."

"No," was the reply.

Neff was emphatic in denying any connection between the contribution and the gas bill.

questions relating to the Korean War.

MacArthur cited these two former British diplomats in proof of his contention that Soviet spies passed on to the Kremlin information enabling the Soviet leadership to conclude that Communist Chinese intervention in Korea would not lead to expansion of the Korean War beyond Korean boundaries.

The Soviet government calculates that by bringing Burgess and MacLean out into the open it will rub salt in this old wound and cause recriminations across the Atlantic—at a time when British and American mutual trust is more important than ever because of the touchy Middle East situation.

The Moscow declaration of Burgess and MacLean makes obvious another aspect of the Soviet calculation in unveiling them at this moment. The two accused the United States in particular and also Britain of not desiring settlement of issues between East and West. The Kremlin knows their statement will be a sensation in Britain and get the widest publicity. It hopes, of course, that many things they say in criticism of American and British policy will be taken seriously by the Birtish public.

The Kremlin knows further that the whole thing will cause severe embarrassment to the British government. It is true, of course, that it was under a Labor government that the MacLean-Burgess case exploded. But Conservative Prime Minister Eden is still closely associated with the British Foreign Office and is on the spot in the case once more. His government has been so reluctant to bring the unflattering details out into the open that Eden's already shaky position with his Parliament and his own party are likely to be further undermined.

The Soviet government now is in the midst of a world-wide diplomatic assault on the United States. In this context the display of Burgess and Maclean looks to be a carefully-planned and clever move.

However, there is a possibility that this could backfire against the Russians. It might in fact even through its ramifications cause the British to cancel the Khrushchev-Bulganin visit. The United States and Britain can defeat the Soviets in their aim to split the alliance by demonstrating publicly their mutual trust in each other.

At any rate together, along with American weather balloons, Burgess and MacLean will furnish the delegates at the twentieth Communist party Congress when it opens on Tuesday in the Kremlin a major theme for their anti-American outbursts.

$46 Million Is Wiped From Ford Market Valuation

NEW YORK, Feb. 11 (AP)—Nearly 46 million dollars has been wiped from the market valuation of the new Ford Motor Co. common stock since it was first offered to the public less than a month ago.

The 10,200,000 shares were sold at $64.50 each for a total of $657,900,000. At the end of this week they were quoted in the over-the-counter market at around $60 apiece for a paper loss of $45,900,000. The shares are due to be listed on the New York Stock Exchange around March 1.

For a time immediately after the sale of the issue was cleared by the Securities and Exchange Commission Jan. 17, the shares were quoted at above $70. At that figure, investors had a paper profit of $56,100,000.

Wall Streeters were agreed that the steady decline in quotations from that high could be attributed to unfortunate timing. The shares were sold, they said, at a time when auto makers were cutting back production and when the stock market was in a decline.

The fact that traders looking for a fast profit sold the stock right after the public offering contributed to the decline, market observers said.

Brokers also reported soon after the offering that some investors sold their shares simply because they weren't able to get as many as they wanted at the offering price. If, for instance, an investor asked for 100 shares and was alloted only 10, he may have felt it was not worth holding such a small amount.

Bridges Enters Hampshire Primary At Eleventh Hour

CONCORD, N.H., Feb. 11 (AP) — Sen. Bridges (R-NH) jumped into New Hampshire's presidential primary as a delegate candidate at the 11th hour tonight amid reports of an impending all-out struggle for control of the state's delegation to the Republican National Convention.

Bridges, who was in Washington, entered the March 13 primary picture by remote control. A messenger acting for the state's senior senator appeared at the secretary of state's office here just 25 minutes before the 6 p.m. deadline.

The messenger handed Deputy Secretary of State Harry E. Jackson a formal declaration of Bridges' candidacy for one of the 14 GOP convention seats at stake in the first test of voter sentiment in this presidential campaign year.

With the petition was a formal statement in which Bridges asserted his belief, "It is important . . . that our party send to San Francisco a slate of delegates as well-rounded and truly representative of the Republicans of New Hampshire as is possible."

Bridges, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, said:

"If circumstances prevent the President from becoming candidate, I have no commitments and I shall be free to work for the Republican presidential candidate who, in my judgment, would be the strongest and soundest candidate, and who will have the best chance of leading the Republican party to victory in November."

Bridges has served notice that he will fight for a "free delegation" if the President doesn't run. The senator told a newsman last month that he would enter the primary himself if there were any attempt to "corner" the delegation.

Gov. Land Dwinell, leader of the organized Eisenhower forces in this state and generally regarded as less conservative in his political outlook than Bridges, said he agreed with Bridges' stated views.

Dwinell's secretary appeared at the secretary of state's office an hour before Bridges filed. The governor's secretary handed Jackson a letter in which one of the originally announced Eisenhower delegate candidates withdrew and refiled as a candidate for alternate delegate.

The governor denied that his secretary's action was part of any strategic countermove to Bridges. "A friend who was not in Concord today asked me to do a favor and refile for him, and I did," Dwinell told a newsman.

The governor said he has "a high regard" for Vice President Nixon, but declined to say whom he might support if the President bows out of the race.

Orleans Beauty, State Oil Leader Reign At Ball

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 —(Special)—A dark New Orleans beauty and a state oil industry leader tonight (Saturday) were gaily hailed as the reigning monarchs of the ninth Washington Mardi Gras ball, one of the capital's most colorful social events.

Escorting 24-year-old Queen Lee Anna Martino, dressed in regal splendor, to the throne in the new ballroom of Sheraton—Park Hotel was beribboned Admiral Athrur J. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Fifteen hundred smartly dressed Louisianians and their guests — leaders in Washington's social and political life—paid glad homage as they satisfied their hankering for a taste of the genuine Louisiana Mardi Gras spirit.

The fame of the annual event of the Louisiana State Society had already spread through the years. Its fame was enhanced this year under the guidance of Rep. James Morrison of Hammond, who was sponsor, and Dan Broussard, society president.

Long Introduces Bill To Up U.S. Old Age Payments

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11—UP—Sen. Russell B. Long has introduced legislation to expand welfare benefits for needy older citizens by providing for federal payment of a larger share of the cost.

The Louisiana Democrat, a member of the Senate Finance Committee which handles social security legislation, introduced the bill yesterday with Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga.), former chairman of the committee, as co-sponsor.

Under the Long - George measure, the federal matching formula for old age payments would be changed to provide for federal payment of five-sixths of the first $30. The present formula provides for federal payment of four-fifths of the first $25.

"In other words, instead of $20 out of the first $25, the federal share would be $25 out of the first $30 per month," Long told the Senate. "Above the initial $30 there would be 50-50 matching of state and federal funds up to a maximum of $65, instead of the present maximum of $55."

Long said some technical details of the proposal are still to be worked out by the finance committee.

Drivers Charged After Accident In West Monroe

Two automobile drivers were charged by West Monroe police with drunk driving after they were involved in a two-car collision about 12:26 a.m. Saturday in the 2100 block of Cypress street.

Magee was traveling west on Cypress, and Cotton was headed east on Cypress, according to the police report. Policemen investigating the accident theorized that Cotton had crossed into the left lane, in the path of Magee, and collided with Magee's car.

The police explained that Magee's outside lane at the point of impact was blocked off by workmen's barricades, leaving only three available lanes for traffic.

Charles W. Hair, Cattleman, Dies

Funeral arrangements last night were incomplete but services will be directed by Mulhearn Funeral Home of Winnsboro.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Sadie Hair, Crowville; two daughters, Miss Helen Hair and Miss Mary Hair, Crowville; two sons, C. W. Hair, Jr., Baton Rouge; Ben F. Battle Over Freedom Of Seas Shapes Up Between U. S., Latin Americans

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—The United States today appeared headed into a serious battle with most of its Latin-American neighbors on the thorny question of freedom of the seas.

For the Washington government, much more than fishing privileges will be at stake when the subject comes before a special Inter-American conference at Ciudad Trujillo, Dominican Republic, beginning March 15.

The State Department's problem is acute because representatives of 15 Latin-American republics at a meeting in Mexico City recently adopted a declaration that they could establish their territorial waters at any distance they considered "reasonable."

Should that viewpoint be reaffirmed by a majority at the Ciudad Trujillo conference, the question could become a major problem throughout the world.

What would happen for example if the Communist nations were to proclaim their sovereignty over the seas extending 200 miles out from their coast lines? State Department officials shudder at the idea and refuse to discuss it.

Chile, Peru and Ecuador several years ago proclaimed that their territorial waters extend out 200 miles into the sea. This and similar positions adopted by other countries have led in the past to seizure of Cuban and United States vessels operating off the eastern shore of Mexico and to seizure and heavy penalties for ships off the shores of Peru and Ecuador.

The Inter-American Council of Jurists, an agency of the Organization of American States, met recently at Mexico City. Presumably this meeting was to make preparatory legal studies for the Ciudad Trujillo conference which had been called by the Inter-American conference at Caracas, Venezuela, in 1954 to study the question of territorial waters.

The jurists, however, adopted a declaration of principles concerning legal, biological, scientific, and geographical aspects of territorial waters. Without mentioning 200 miles or any other figure it declared that each nation "is competent to establish its territorial waters within reasonable limits." The declaration was adopted although the U.S. delegation opposed it as "contrary to international law." Five Latin-American nations abstained from the vote.

The United States declared, in explaining its opposition, that the resolution "is clearly designed to serve political purposes." An official source this week said the State Department regards the content and the methods used in adopting the resolution as a "disgraceful performance."

The United States generally recognizes a three-mile limit for territorial waters.

M. K. MCCONNELL

Southern District Sales Manager Named By CSC

Commercial Solvents Corporation is expanding its marketing and distribution organization for agricultural chemicals in the south, according to Clyde T. Marshall, general manager of the company's agricultural chemicals department.

Massey K. McConnell has been named southern district sales manager with headquarters at the Sterlington, Louisiana plant where it produces graunlar ammonium nitrate, aqua ammonia, nitrogen solutions and anhydrous ammonia. McConnell has been with CSC since August, 1954, as a sales representative for ammonium nitrate in the south. He is a native of Mangham, Louisiana, a graduate of Louisiana State University, and has spent the past 15 years of his career in agriculture.

Marshall also announced the appointment of William M. Hemeter to the southern district sales organization. Hemeter's home is in Hattiesburg, Mississippi, where for the past 20 years, he has been engaged in fertilizer production and sales.

Hemeter is an army veteran with service in the European and Asiatic - Pacific theatres, and is a member of the American Society of Agronomy.

The southern district includes Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, western Tennessee, Texas, and Oklahoma, Mr. Marshall stated. Aggressive sales and advertising campaigns now in operation emphasize the advantages to the farmer of CSC's exclusive granular ammonium nitrate.

to a policy aimed at achieving greater mutual understanding between the Soviet Union and the West, having become convinced on the basis of official information which was at our disposal, of the fact that neither British nor still more, American policy at that time was seriously pursuing this object.

"The position which we occupied gave us every reason to think that such mutual understanding is absolutely necessary if we wish to preserve peace.

"We had every reason for coming to the conclusion that such mutual understanding was the object of Soviet policy.

"We had every possibility to know the plans of a small but powerful group of men who opposed the achievement of such mutual understanding, and for this reason we had every grounds to fear these plans."

The two former diplomats admitted that when they were students at Cambridge "we were both Communists." They said they ceased their political activities not because they forsook Marxist theory but because "we wrongly presumed that being in the service of the state we could more than anywhere else put into practice our ideas."

They said a "wrongful interpretation of our actions—the need to cease political activities wher entering the service of the state — apparently led to the (British) foreign office statement that the foreign office presumes that we had become Soviet agents in Cambridge.

"The foreign office, can, of course, presume anything it wishes.

"We, neither of us, have ever been Soviet agents," they said.

Both then went into a delineation of their separate careers after they left Cambridge, where MacLean was classified as a brilliant student, and entered the British foreign service.

Tjey said MacLean was in the diplomatic service of Britain in London, Paris, Washington and Cairo from 1935 to 1951 during which time, with the exception of the war years, Britain was "pursuing a policy unacceptable not only to MacLean but also to many others."

After the war "he found himself more and more alone.

"To remain further in the diplomatic service was becoming impossible. In May, 1951, there were clear signs that whatever plans he may have been making for his future, the foreign office and the security organs had their own intentions regarding him." (At this time he was under surveillance by intelligence agents in Britain).

"For this reason, MacLean decided to go to the Soviet Union. . ."

The statement said Burgess "sympathized with Soviet policy" and was "becoming increasingly alarmed by the postwar character of Anglo-American policy."

The statement said "the difficulty of leaving the country while under police surveillance was solved at a meeting with Burgess who had just returned to London from Washington, where he was occupying a post in the British embassy.

3 Anniversaries To Be Observed At School Here

Celebrating three silver anniversaries at once will be featured at Sherrouse School auditorium on February 19 at 3 p.m.

The historic event is designed to give recognition to twenty-five years of service to the community which the school's record shows; twenty-five years of service given by the Sherrouse School Parent - Teacher Association; and twenty-five years of leadership by Mrs. W. S. Vincent during her principalship—the only person here to serve in this capacity for such a period.

February was chosen as the time fo celebration since this month is observed as Founders Day Month by the Parent-Teacher organization throughout the United States. Using this as a keynote, an historical program has been planned by Mrs. William Gannaway, Founders Day chairman.

Presenting historical highlights will be the narrator, Mrs. Marcus Mapp, president of the Sherrouse Parent-Teacher Association. Many of these events will be illustrated by a display of scrapbooks, trophies, minutes of meetings—all of which give evidence of the organization's accomplishments through the quarter-century.

Iterest is being manifested in the program by responses from persons in other towns and cities. A former pupil of Sherrouse School, Rev. John Edward Ingouf of Shreveport, will attend to give the invocation at the program.

Recognition will be given former students who enrolled on the memorable first day of school in 1930. Honor also will be paid to the founders of the Sherrouse P-T. A., Mrs. Fagan Cox, Miss Myrtle Rodgers, former principal of Georgia Tucker School; Miss Julia Wossman former principal of Barkdull- Faulk School; and to the first president of the organization, Mrs. Orrie Rust of Mooringsport and a teacher for several years at Sherrouse and Barkdull - Faulk.

Following the hospital program, parents will visit the buildings and later be guests at a social hour. The Sherrouse P-T.A. founders and the organization's first president will serve at the coffee table.

The committee in charge of plans for the silver anniversary celebration is headed by Mrs. H. F. Shepard, a charter member of the Sherrouse Parent-Teacher Association, and Mrs. G. M. Heidenreich. Assisting are: Mrs. C. Dillingham, Mrs. W. W. Stevens, Mrs. William Allen, Mrs. Wade Cotton, Mrs. Mike Windham, Mrs. E. J. Brown, Mrs. Elton Upshaw, Mrs. Elizabeth Blair, Mrs. M. Mullins, and Mrs. John Sherrouse, Jr.

Woman, Child, 2, Hurt In Wreck

A 19-year-old woman and her 2-year-old son were slightly injured in a two car collission that occurred in front of the Pelican Club on Jewel Road last night about 9:15.

Slightly injured were Mrs. Betty Morris, and son, Michael Stephen Morris, 206 Carolina street, Minden, according to Louisiana State police.

Mrs. Morris told hospital authorities "my head broke out the windshield of the car when we hit." James A. Morris, her husband was driver of the vehicle.

State troopers said Odis Head, 46, of 145 Keller street would be charged with reckless operation of a motor vehicle. Head, according to troopers ran a stop sign colliding with the Morris auto.

A hearing on her petition was set for Feb. 29.

University President Dr. O. C. Carmichael said her allegations outrageous." He said "outsiders played a major role in the mob actions" and added that "disciplinary action will be taken in the cases of those students who are known to have engaged in actual violence."

At Montgomery, Gov. James E. Folsom declared "mob rule" will never take over any function of the state or local governments "as long as I am governor" of Alabama.

"Part of our people may agree with the Supreme Court and part of the people may not agree with the Supreme Court, but 98 per cent of our people do not go along with mob rule against constituted authority," he continued.

Miss Lucy and Mrs. Pollie Ann Hudson, first applied for enrollment at the university in 1952. When they were denied admittance they asked for a federal court order.

Order was granted last year and upheld by the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Miss Lucy was admitted but Mrs. Hudson was denied enrollment because of her "conduct and marital record."

Mrs. Hudson again petitioned for admittance but the suit was dropped on a motion by her attorney who said he would decide what further steps would be taken in Mrs. Hudson's behalf after the Lucy case was settled.

In Washington this week more than 15 senators representing nearly all Southern states, met with Sen. George (D-Ga) to discuss a possible congressional interposition resolution to combat the court's decision.

"Basically, interposition declares that the states may interpose their paramount authority when the federal government goes beyond powers granted to it by the states themselves.

Such a resolution would declare the segregation ruling to be null and void and of no effect. It also would call on Congress to submit a constitutional amendment calling for racial integration with the belief the it would not be ratified by the necessary three-fourths of the states.

Whereupon, the states could disregard the Supreme Court decision on the grounds it had been "nullified" by the refusal of the states to endorse it.

In Union Springs, Ala., a grand jury urged police to enforce segregation laws in spite of the U.S. Supreme Court and pledged full support to a circuit judge who said he would jail any federal officers who tried to investigate judicial matters in his court.

Judge George Wallace urged the jurors to enforce state laws requiring segregated travel despite a recent Interstate Commerce Commission ruling barring separate facilities for whites and Negroes on interstate carriers.

The south Alabama judge pointed to a recent federal investigation of grand juries in Cobb County, Ga., as an "unwarranted and deliberate invasion of state sovereignty and a direct insult to the people of that county."

The Cobb County investigation followed the reversal by the U.S. Supreme Court of the conviction of Amos Reece, a Negro convicted of raping a white woman.

The court said the conviction was set aside because evidence showed no Negro had served on a Cobb grand jury prior to Reece's Indictment Oct. 28, 1953.

But the Justice Departmept investigated and said there was no discrimination.

"Unless we assert ourselves and we continue to allow such Gestapo methods in local affairs, then surely local government in America will be dead forever," Wallace said.

There were other developments on the tense segregation front including these from other Southern cities:

MONTGOMERY—The Alabama Legislature approved a constitutional amendment to let parents say whether they fant their children to attend integrated schools.

The Alabama Public Service Commission ordered all railroad and bus stations in the state to put up "white" and "Negro" signs on their waiting rooms. Some stations removed signs after the Interstate Commerce Commission directed certain carriers to discontinue separate facilities.

ATLANTA—With only one dissenting vote, the Georgia House if Representatives voted approval of Gov. Marvin Griffin's strong interposition resolution declaring the Supreme Court segregation decision to be of no effect. The resolution went to the State Senate where its passage is a certainty.

LITTLE ROCK—A suit was filed in U.S. District Court in the name of 33 Negroes ranging in age from 6 to 21 years for immediate racial integration in Little Rock schools.

TALLAHASSEE — Florida's Board of Control began a poll of students, parents and alumni of the three state universities — two white and one Negro—on their attitudes toward integration of the races in higher institutions of learning as Gov. LeRoy Collins declared Florida can't afford to get mixed up in turmoil over racial issues. He denounced office seekers who wave the flag of racial issues.

JACKSON—The Mississippi Legislature praised college officials for accepting promptly the resignations of two college professors who resigned in indignation after the University of Mississippi withdrew a speaking invitation to the Rev. Alvin Kershaw of Oxford, Ohio, who favors integration.

Three other ministers canceled their speeches after learning the school had banned Kershaw. This wiped out the entire list of out-of-state clergymen scheduled to speak during the University's Religious Emphasis Week, Feb. 19-22.

The three are the Rev. George Chauncey, pastor of the First Presbyterian church Monticello, Ark. the Rev. Joe Earl Elmore of New York, former director of Methodist student work at the university; and Rabbi Milton Grafmon, Temple Emanuel, Birmingham, Ala.

CLARKSDALE, Miss.—A Negro woman charged she was fired from her hospital job because of her activities in the National Assn., for the Advancement of Colored People.

COLUMBIA—The South Carolina General Assembly completed action on an interposition resolution which claims the U. S. Supreme Court ruling against school segregation is void. The legislation should be ready for the governor's signature next week.

decide Monday whether it wants to ask the Senate for broadened investigative authority.

He said he personally doesn't favor the committee's taking such action but added, "Some statement might be made that will cause us to continue the hearings for a few days."

A drawling, leisurely witness, Patman told the senators the $2,500 came from "some funds in my possession that belonged to Howard Keck."

He said he emphasized to Neff at a conference in a Washington hotel room, that it was "the money of an individual, not corporate funds." He said he reminded Neff it is against the law for a corporation to make political contributions.

Neff had told him, the witness continued, that he would like to make a contribution to Case's reelection campaign and had mentioned $2,500.

He said that to the best of his memory Neff had told him previously that Case favored the gas bill.

"And I'll tell you very frankly that pleased me very, very much," he remarked.

Referring to the $2,500, committee counsel Charles W. Steadman asked:

"How do you know that this money was money that came from the private funds of Mr. Keck?"

Patman said here were two sons: that Keck told him so and that he had received personal checks from Keck from time to time and cashed them to use for the purposes for which the checks were given.

To a question whether he told Keck the $2,500 was for Case's campaign, Neff replied he didn't until after Case's Senate speech about it.

"Then," he said dryly, "I called him and told him that was his money."

He said the money Keck gave him was "modest — not over $6,000."

That produced some snickers from the audience.

Asked whether he accounts to Keck for the money, Patman answered, "I sure do," every time he sees his boss, but not in writing. He said he keeps no accounts on it.

He has used the money, he said, for tickets for both Republican and Democratic party dinners and for campaign contributions. As for the Case contribution, he declared he thought it "was perfectly legal and I still think so."

Asked if Keck was "pleased" with his action in putting up the $2,500, Patman replied:

"I don't know that he is pleased but he hasn't fired me."

Keck testified that he turned over money to Patman both in the form of cash and checks and said that over a year's time he thought the total amount would run about $5,000 or $6,000.

He was asked if at any time he had given money to Patman "for any particular legislation."

"Absolutely not," Keck replied.

Asked if he gave Patman instructions on what to do with the money, Keck said that at times he did but that he also left its expenditure to Patman's judgment.

He testified in answer to another question that he couldn't recall that Patman ever discussed with him Case's attitude on the gas bill.

Counsel Steadman wanted to know if Keck thought a $2,500 contribution to a single campaign was a "substantial outlay."

"No," was the reply.

Neff was emphatic in denying any connection between the contribution and the gas bill.

questions relating to the Korean War.

MacArthur cited these two former British diplomats in proof of his contention that Soviet spies passed on to the Kremlin information enabling the Soviet leadership to conclude that Communist Chinese intervention in Korea would not lead to expansion of the Korean War beyond Korean boundaries.

The Soviet government calculates that by bringing Burgess and MacLean out into the open it will rub salt in this old wound and cause recriminations across the Atlantic—at a time when British and American mutual trust is more important than ever because of the touchy Middle East situation.

The Moscow declaration of Burgess and MacLean makes obvious another aspect of the Soviet calculation in unveiling them at this moment. The two accused the United States in particular and also Britain of not desiring settlement of issues between East and West. The Kremlin knows their statement will be a sensation in Britain and get the widest publicity. It hopes, of course, that many things they say in criticism of American and British policy will be taken seriously by the Birtish public.

The Kremlin knows further that the whole thing will cause severe embarrassment to the British government. It is true, of course, that it was under a Labor government that the MacLean-Burgess case exploded. But Conservative Prime Minister Eden is still closely associated with the British Foreign Office and is on the spot in the case once more. His government has been so reluctant to bring the unflattering details out into the open that Eden's already shaky position with his Parliament and his own party are likely to be further undermined.

The Soviet government now is in the midst of a world-wide diplomatic assault on the United States. In this context the display of Burgess and Maclean looks to be a carefully-planned and clever move.

However, there is a possibility that this could backfire against the Russians. It might in fact even through its ramifications cause the British to cancel the Khrushchev-Bulganin visit. The United States and Britain can defeat the Soviets in their aim to split the alliance by demonstrating publicly their mutual trust in each other.

At any rate together, along with American weather balloons, Burgess and MacLean will furnish the delegates at the twentieth Communist party Congress when it opens on Tuesday in the Kremlin a major theme for their anti-American outbursts.

$46 Million Is Wiped From Ford Market Valuation

NEW YORK, Feb. 11 (AP)—Nearly 46 million dollars has been wiped from the market valuation of the new Ford Motor Co. common stock since it was first offered to the public less than a month ago.

The 10,200,000 shares were sold at $64.50 each for a total of $657,900,000. At the end of this week they were quoted in the over-the-counter market at around $60 apiece for a paper loss of $45,900,000. The shares are due to be listed on the New York Stock Exchange around March 1.

For a time immediately after the sale of the issue was cleared by the Securities and Exchange Commission Jan. 17, the shares were quoted at above $70. At that figure, investors had a paper profit of $56,100,000.

Wall Streeters were agreed that the steady decline in quotations from that high could be attributed to unfortunate timing. The shares were sold, they said, at a time when auto makers were cutting back production and when the stock market was in a decline.

The fact that traders looking for a fast profit sold the stock right after the public offering contributed to the decline, market observers said.

Brokers also reported soon after the offering that some investors sold their shares simply because they weren't able to get as many as they wanted at the offering price. If, for instance, an investor asked for 100 shares and was alloted only 10, he may have felt it was not worth holding such a small amount.

Bridges Enters Hampshire Primary At Eleventh Hour

CONCORD, N.H., Feb. 11 (AP) — Sen. Bridges (R-NH) jumped into New Hampshire's presidential primary as a delegate candidate at the 11th hour tonight amid reports of an impending all-out struggle for control of the state's delegation to the Republican National Convention.

Bridges, who was in Washington, entered the March 13 primary picture by remote control. A messenger acting for the state's senior senator appeared at the secretary of state's office here just 25 minutes before the 6 p.m. deadline.

The messenger handed Deputy Secretary of State Harry E. Jackson a formal declaration of Bridges' candidacy for one of the 14 GOP convention seats at stake in the first test of voter sentiment in this presidential campaign year.

With the petition was a formal statement in which Bridges asserted his belief, "It is important . . . that our party send to San Francisco a slate of delegates as well-rounded and truly representative of the Republicans of New Hampshire as is possible."

Bridges, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, said:

"If circumstances prevent the President from becoming candidate, I have no commitments and I shall be free to work for the Republican presidential candidate who, in my judgment, would be the strongest and soundest candidate, and who will have the best chance of leading the Republican party to victory in November."

Bridges has served notice that he will fight for a "free delegation" if the President doesn't run. The senator told a newsman last month that he would enter the primary himself if there were any attempt to "corner" the delegation.

Gov. Land Dwinell, leader of the organized Eisenhower forces in this state and generally regarded as less conservative in his political outlook than Bridges, said he agreed with Bridges' stated views.

Dwinell's secretary appeared at the secretary of state's office an hour before Bridges filed. The governor's secretary handed Jackson a letter in which one of the originally announced Eisenhower delegate candidates withdrew and refiled as a candidate for alternate delegate.

The governor denied that his secretary's action was part of any strategic countermove to Bridges. "A friend who was not in Concord today asked me to do a favor and refile for him, and I did," Dwinell told a newsman.

Another Eisenhower delegate candidate friendly to Dwinell had withdrawn from the top-heavy Eisenhower delegate slate earlier in the day.

The governor said he has "a high regard" for Vice President Nixon, but declined to say whom he might support if the President bows out of the race.

Orleans Beauty, State Oil Leader Reign At Ball

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 —(Special)—A dark New Orleans beauty and a state oil industry leader tonight (Saturday) were gaily hailed as the reigning monarchs of the ninth Washington Mardi Gras ball, one of the capital's most colorful social events.

Escorting 24-year-old Queen Lee Anna Martino, dressed in regal splendor, to the throne in the new ballroom of Sheraton—Park Hotel was beribboned Admiral Athrur J. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Fifteen hundred smartly dressed Louisianians and their guests — leaders in Washington's social and political life—paid glad homage as they satisfied their hankering for a taste of the genuine Louisiana Mardi Gras spirit.

The fame of the annual event of the Louisiana State Society had already spread through the years. Its fame was enhanced this year under the guidance of Rep. James Morrison of Hammond, who was sponsor, and Dan Broussard, society president.

Ouachita Valley Scouts Council Ranked First In Growth In Region Five

The Ouachita Valley Council, Boy Scouts of America, ranked in first place among 32 other councils in Region Five for its amount of growth in 1955, according to a regional report. It came up from 26th to 18th place, with a total of 4,109 boys, a 23.5 per cent gain.

Region Five is composed of the following states: Arkansas, Mississippi, Louisiana, Tennessee, Alabama and a part of Florida.

The Council was one of three in the Region to win a place on the Boy Scout "Opportunity Club Blackboard," which is highly competitive. Other councils winning a place on the "blackboard" are Pushmataha and Sequoyah.

Another honor received by the Council was for having dropped no units in December last year. This honor was bestowed upon 23 other councils in the region.

Also the Council was named as one of those to merit recognition on the list of councils for growth achievements from July to December, 1955. It was next to highest in its group, with 802 points.

Jack Pankey is the Council's chief executive.

Simpson was recognized by the Region's report as one of two executives to be commended on the 1955 Staff Honor Roll as a top producer for the year. Simpson's score was 747 points, second only to the 763 points of Eldridge Furline of Middle Tennessee Council.

Tommy Lewis, of the Ouachita Valley Council, won eighth place in the Region for selling 140 Boys Life magazine subscriptions, and Simpson came in for 27th place, with 30 subscriptions sold.

The Ouachita Council as a whole was in third place on the number of Scouts subscribing to Boys Life. The council had 42.3 per cent of its membership as subscribers.

Ben Parnell, president of the Ouachita Valley Council, and other scout executive board members will be recognized at the annual Region First Place meeting in Jackson, Miss. on April 23.

Fake Insurance Salesman Attacks Orleans Woman

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 11—UP—An attractive white mother told police today she was attacked and raped by a man posing as an insurance agent last night.

The pretty brunette victim's husband was at work at the time of the attack and her 11-year-old son was playing nearby in the neighborhood.

She said the man first posed as an insurance salesman, then forced his way through the front door and thrust a gun at her.

Officers theorized the man was familiar with the Gentilly section home and may also be the attacker who has been terrorizing French Quarter women residents recently.

The 30-year-old victim said she was unsure whether the man was a Negro or a dark-complexioned white man.

The first statewide convention of the Republican party was held at Jackson, Mich., in 1854.

"MAD DOG" KILLER CAPTURED — Leslie Irvin, known as the "mad dog" killer of six persons in Indiana and Kentucky, appears calm and mild after his arrest in a pawn shop in San Francisco Thursday. Two policemen seized the velvet-voiced, gentle-mannered slayer as he tried to get rid of two diamond rings which he admitted taking from a home near Los Angeles. (AP Wirephoto)

The Ouachita Valley Council, Boy Scouts of America, ranked in first place among 32 other councils in Region Five for its amount of growth in 1955, according to a regional report. It came up from 26th to 18th place, with a total of 4,109 boys, a 23.5 per cent gain.

Region Five is composed of the following states: Arkansas, Mississippi, Louisiana, Tennessee, Alabama and a part of Florida.

The Council was one of three in the Region to win a place on the Boy Scout "Opportunity Club Blackboard," which is highly competitive. Other councils winning a place on the "blackboard" are Pushmataha and Sequoyah.

Another honor received by the Council was for having dropped no units in December last year. This honor was bestowed upon 23 other councils in the region.

Also the Council was named as one of those to merit recognition on the list of councils for growth achievements from July to December, 1955. It was next to highest in its group, with 802 points.

Jack Pankey is the Council's chief executive.

Simpson was recognized by the Region's report as one of two executives to be commended on the 1955 Staff Honor Roll as a top producer for the year. Simpson's score was 747 points, second only to the 763 points of Eldridge Furline of Middle Tennessee Council.

Tommy Lewis, of the Ouachita Valley Council, won eighth place in the Region for selling 140 Boys Life magazine subscriptions, and Simpson came in for 27th place, with 30 subscriptions sold.

The Ouachita Council as a whole was in third place on the number of Scouts subscribing to Boys Life. The council had 42.3 per cent of its membership as subscribers.

Ben Parnell, president of the Ouachita Valley Council, and other scout executive board members will be recognized at the annual Region First Place meeting in Jackson, Miss. on April 23.

Fake Insurance Salesman Attacks Orleans Woman

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 11—UP—An attractive white mother told police today she was attacked and raped by a man posing as an insurance agent last night.

The pretty brunette victim's husband was at work at the time of the attack and her 11-year-old son was playing nearby in the neighborhood.

She said the man first posed as an insurance salesman, then forced his way through the front door and thrust a gun at her.

Officers theorized the man was familiar with the Gentilly section home and may also be the attacker who has been terrorizing French Quarter women residents recently.

The 30-year-old victim said she was unsure whether the man was a Negro or a dark-complexioned white man.

WARNING

When comparing new car deals and ads, be careful! We recomend that you ignore all list prices, discounts, and trade-in allowances! We don't mean to offend you—but for competitive reasons we are forced to print these harsh statements of caution. (We have lost too many sales because the buyer erroneously thought he was getting better value elsewhere.)

Save this BUYER'S GUIDE:

Save the check list below—someday it will be highly important to you. We suggest that you keep it with the papers and receipts to the car you now own—so that when you are ready to trade again you will automatically find it.

1. The safe way to buy your new car is to look only at what you are getting and what you actually have to pay after bargaining with the dealer. (If you have a trade-in, talk CASH DIFFERENCE!) Ignore list prices, discounts and trade-in allowances! EXAMPLE: You gain nothing when the dealer increases his list price by $200 so that he can give you $100 or $200 additional discount.
2. Make sure the new car has all the accessories and equipment you should expect. Jackson Motors gives many items on each car that are not standard equipment elsewhere.
3. Believe terms only if immediate delivery can be made without ANY delays or last minute charges. However, don't be high-pressured into taking immediate delivery on a substitute deal that you haven't had time to compare. (EXAMPLE: Periodic over-supply, etc., sometimes makes a more expensive body style temporarily worth $200 less in the open market.)
4. Do business only with a dealer who UNQUESTIONABLY will supply a clear title to the new car (when due) and if applicable, pay off the full balance you owe on your trade-in.
5. Do business only with a dealer who can be relied upon to stand behind your new car after delivery. Jackson Motors maintains a modern-fully equipped service department to give you factory service on the car you buy.

WARNING

When comparing new car deals and ads, be careful! We recomend that you ignore all list prices, discounts, and trade-in allowances! We don't mean to offend you—but for competitive reasons we are forced to print these harsh statements of caution. (We have lost too many sales because the buyer erroneously thought he was getting better value elsewhere.)

Save this BUYER'S GUIDE:

Save the check list below—someday it will be highly important to you. We suggest that you keep it with the papers and receipts to the car you now own—so that when you are ready to trade again you will automatically find it.

1. The safe way to buy your new car is to look only at what you are getting and what you actually have to pay after bargaining with the dealer (if you have a trade-in, talk CASH DIFFERENCE). Ignore list prices, discounts and trade-in allowances! EXAMPLE: You gain nothing when the dealer increases his list price by $200 so that he can give you $100 or $200 additional discount.
2. Make sure the new car has all the accessories and equipment you should expect. Jackson Motors gives many items on each car that are not standard equipment elsewhere.
3. Believe terms only if immediate delivery can be made without ANY delays or last minute charges. However, don't be high-pressured into taking immediate delivery on a substitute deal that you haven't had time to compare. (EXAMPLE: Periodic over-supply, etc., sometimes makes a more expensive body style temporarily worth $200 less in the open market.)
4. Do business only with a dealer who UNQUESTIONABLY will supply a clear title to the new car (when due) and if applicable, pay off the full balance you owe on your trade-in.
5. Do business only with a dealer who can be relied upon to stand behind your new car after delivery. Jackson Motors maintains a modern-fully equipped service department to give you factory service on the car you buy.

NORTH FOSTER

IT'S already financed . . . it's reasonably priced . . . Only $1152 down makes the move (no closing costs) and look what it possesses: nice size living room; glistening oak floors; wonderfully arranged kitchen; copper plumbing; 2 comfortable bedrooms; warmed with wall furnaces and it's vacant. Wanta' "peep" today?

NORTH SECOND

GOOD value? Here's the "dope," so how about you making your own decision? It almost "rambles" with 2246 sq. feet of living area; an elegant 15x19 living room with rose wall - to - wall carpeting; a spacious 17'x16' dining room (also with wall-to-wall carpeting); 3 roomy bedrooms AND a 12x21' den that's glassed-in; it also possesses 2 baths; floor furnaces; a modernistic kitchen with separate breakfast room and it's on an 87½ x 150' corner lot in an excellent neighborhood. $3,200 down turns the key on FHA financing.

AUBURN

IT'S ROOMY, but not high priced. Space is the "key-word," but there's more: there's a nice size living room and separate dining room; nice oak floors; 2 floor furnaces and attic fan; nice size kitchen with wonderful cabinet space and washer plumbing; 2 comfortable size bedrooms and den; back yard's shaded and "loads" of additional features that we'll gladly show today!

PARK AVENUE

YOU CAN read this ad all day, but yet, you won't enjoy it half as much as you would a tour of this exciting 2-bedroom and den home today. No, cause you'll see: sparkling oak floors; roomy living room AND separate dining room; enclosed garage (attached); gutters and down spouts; attic fan; 75' lot in one of the best of neighborhoods; and it's brick! Why read! Call for appointment to look!

ALEXANDER

HERE 'tis! You can bet your bottom dollar that there's not another one like it in the Twin Cities! Why? Read on! It possesses over 2,000 sq. feet of wonderfully - arranged living space (air conditioned at that); a tremendous 18'x22' living room with a separate 12'x12 dining area (both carpeted wall-to-wall); 2 wonderful size bedrooms (one's 17'x18'); two tile baths (one opens off the master bedroom); has central heating; an enormous paneled den (16x17); a uniquely arranged kitchen with spacious cabinet space; utility room off kitchen, separate breakfast area; has gleaming oak floors throughout; covered patio opening off kitchen; double garage; it's only 3 years old (and it's a brick); and . . . it all rests on an overwhelming 200'x150' tree-studded lot! You bet we'll show today!

NORTH NINTH

HERE'S a brand new brick in a wonderful northside neighborhood that combines many an exciting feature among its 1242 sq. feet of living area. For instance: 3 nice size bedrooms (all with sliding door closets); Venetian blinds throughout; hardwood block floors throughout; a glistening ceramic tile bath; central heating; a well proportioned 27'x15' living room-dining area; 75'x150' lot and a host of other features that we'll gladly show you today!

COLLEGE HILL

THREE BEDROOMS IN THE COLLEGE AREA? Here's one and tremendous value at that! It possesses 1100 sq. feet of living area with the following features: oak floors; Venetian blinds; 42" attic fan; has nice size living room and a separate dining room; screened breezeway; attached garage; it's been completely re-decorated throughout; it's on a 75' lot in an excellent neighborhood and its vacant! $1150 down makes the move.

COLLEGE AVE.

No fuss . . . no bother . . . no waiting for a loan approval! That's right! Pay the owner's equity of only $1,000 and make the move into this well-conditioned 2-bedroom home within easy walking distance of one of Louisiana's better colleges! The house posesses: nice oak floors; floor furnace and attic fan; enclosed garage; asbestos siding; and a 55' lot! It's vacant, too!

CONCORDIA

WOULD YOU like a corner lot in the college area? Well . . here 'tis with one swell home to go with it! You'll find the following features: 2 nice size bedrooms; roomy living room and separate dining room; plenty closet space; sparkling oak floors; double detached garage; 85'x153' lot and there's more that we'll gladly show you today! $1075 cash is all it takes!

GRANT

Price, compare, and we think you'll agree. . . . here's good value in a 2-bedroom home in the college area! $925 down (including closing costs) buys all the following: 888 sq. feet; nice size living room and a separate dining room; forced air heating and a new 1-ton air-conditioning unit; roomy 60x200' lot; and other features! It's vacant!

SOUTH SOUTH 3RD

HERE'S stunning value in a 2 bedroom plus a den home, in an excellent neighborhood in true southside. It contains the following features among its spacious sq. footage: nice oak floors; master bedroom carpeted wall-to-wall; has central heating; its spacious den is pine paneled; has a side screened porch; carport; asbestos siding; and a host of other features that we'll gladly show today. It's vacant and there's FHA financing available!

FLORIDA

YOU could look all over the southside and never find a neater or more attractive 2-bedroom home than this one is. It boasts: sparkling oak floors; attic fan and floor furnace; copper plumbing; well proportioned living room and nicely arranged kitchen AND . . . $600 down on FHA solves your problem. Wanta' look?

DICK TAYLOR

$900 DOWN on FHA buys a lotta' house in this one! For instance . . . 960 sq. feet of living area; 2 nice size bedrooms (one's 14x15); large living room (with 220 outlet for air conditioning); has nice oak floors; attic fan; new water heater; fenced back yard; it's just coupla' blocks to school! $7,500 is the price.

SOUTH FIFTH

CONVENIENCE! Yep, one of the many features of this 2-bedroom "charmer", for it's directly across the street from the Plum St. grammar! It also has: gleaming oak floors; floor furnace; fenced back yard and it's already financed with 4 per cent loan. We'll gladly show today!

WEST MONROE NEAL AVE.

HERE'S a new brick that got more than it's share of unusual features: Such as: 2 nice size bedrooms AND . . . a paneled den . . . tile bath and a half . . . wall furnaces . . . a "dilly" of a kitchen that's pine - paneled, has washer plumbing, and wonderful cabinet space . . . has attic fan . . . the lot's 138' wide on paved street and it's already financed! $1627 down makes the move!

HAMILTON

Here's good value in a two bedroom home in W. Monroe! It's on a 75' corner lot and only $600 down plus closing costs buys the following: nice size living room and a separate dining room; enclosed garage with overhead door; oak floors; floor furnace and attic fan; located within a "stone's throw" from Mitchell Lane Grammar! We'll be glad to show today!

BELMONT DRIVE

ACHING FOR acreage? Well . . . here's an acre and a quarter in a splendid area of West Monroe with an unusual new brick on it! It consists of: 1470 sq. feet; 3 large bedrooms, all with sliding door closets; a 12x14 paneled den; well arranged kitchen with paneling, Formica cabinet tops, built-in oven and range; has 2 baths (both with built-in dressing tables); the 12x18 living room has a Roman brick fireplace and it's carpeted; has central heating; double garage with large storage room and many other features that we'll gladly show today! Wanta' look?

GLENWOOD DRIVE

IF YOU'VE just a few minutes to spare this P.M., we'd love to show you this swell home! It consists of . . . 3 nice size bedrooms . . . an 8x18 ft. paneled and glassed den . . . 2 air conditioning units . . . 17x14 ft. carpeted living room . . . attached garage . . . attractive summer house . . . tree covered 142 ft. x 266 ft. lot . . . and other features. It's vacant!

1000 ARKANSAS ROAD

WANTA' SWAP? Well . . . we'd certainly like to consider swapping your present home for this stunning value! Among its 1500 sq. ft. of floor space are the following features: 3 roomy bedrooms; glistening tile bath with colored fixtures; beautiful oak floors; double attached garage which would easily convert to a spacious den; copper plumbing. It's on a 100x150 foot corner lot; and for a Veteran, we have available a 2 per cent down, 30 year G. I. loan. It's vacant, and if you'd like to see, or if you'd like to discuss swapping your present home on this one, give us a call.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

NORTH FOSTER

IT'S already financed . . . it's reasonably priced . . . Only $1152 down makes the move (no closing costs) and look what it possesses: nice size living room; glistening oak floors; wonderfully arranged kitchen; copper plumbing; 2 comfortable bedrooms; warmed with wall furnaces and it's vacant. Wanta' "peep" today?

NORTH SECOND

GOOD value? Here's the "dope," so how about you making your own decision? It almost "rambles" with 2246 sq. feet of living area; an elegant 15x19 living room with rose wall - to - wall carpeting; a spacious 17'x16' dining room (also with wall-to-wall carpeting); 3 roomy bedrooms AND a 12x21' den that's glassed-in; it also possesses 2 baths; floor furnaces; a modernistic kitchen with separate breakfast room and it's on an 87½ x 150' corner lot in an excellent neighborhood. $3,200 down turns the key on FHA financing.

AUBURN

IT'S ROOMY, but not high priced. Space is the "key-word," but there's more: there's a nice size living room and separate dining room; nice oak floors; 2 floor furnaces and attic fan; nice size kitchen with wonderful cabinet space and washer plumbing; 2 comfortable size bedrooms and den; back yard's shaded and "loads" of additional features that we'll gladly show today!

PARK AVENUE

YOU CAN read this ad all day, but yet, you won't enjoy it half as much as you would a tour of this exciting 2-bedroom and den home today. No, 'cause you'll see: sparkling oak floors; roomy living room AND separate dining room; enclosed garage (attached); gutters and down spouts; attic fan; 75' lot in one of the best of neighborhoods; and it's brick! Why read! Call for appointment to look!

ALEXANDER

HERE 'tis! You can bet your bottom dollar that there's not another one like it in the Twin Cities! Why? Read on! It possesses over 2,000 sq. feet of wonderfully - arranged living space (air conditioned at that); a tremendous 18'x22' living room with a separate 12'x12 dining area (both carpeted wall-to-wall); 2 wonderful size bedrooms (one's 17'x18); two tile baths (one opens off the master bedroom); has central heating; an enormous paneled den (16x17); a uniquely arranged kitchen with spacious cabinet space; utility room off kitchen, separate breakfast area; has gleaming oak floors throughout; covered patio opening off kitchen; double garage; it's only 3 years old (and it's a brick); and . . . it all rests on an overwhelming 200'x150' tree-studded lot! You bet we'll show today!

NORTH NINTH

HERE'S a brand new brick in a wonderful northside neighborhood that combines many an exciting feature among its 1242 sq. feet of living area. For instance: 3 nice size bedrooms (all with sliding door closets); Venetian blinds throughout; hardwood block floors throughout; a glistening ceramic tile bath; central heating; a well proportioned 27'x15' living room-dining area; 75'x150' lot and a host of other features that we'll gladly show you today!

COLLEGE FILHIOL

THREE BEDROOMS IN THE COLLEGE AREA? Here's one and tremendous value at that! It possesses 1100 sq. feet of living area with the following features: oak floors; Venetian binds; 42" attic fan; has nice size living room and a separate dining room; screened breezeway; attached garage; it's been completely re-decorated throughout; it's on a 75' lot in an excellent neighborhood and its vacant! $1150 down makes the move.

COLLEGE AVE.

No fuss . . . no bother . . . no waiting for a loan approval! That's right! Pay the owner's equity of only $1,000 and make the move into this well-conditioned 2-bedroom home within easy walking distance of one of Louisiana's better colleges! The house posesses: nice oak floors; floor furnace and attic fan; enclosed garage; asbestos siding; and a 55' lot! It's vacant, too!

CONCORDIA

GRANT

Price, compare, and we think you'll agree. . . . here's good value in a 2 bedroom home in the college area! $925 down (including closing costs) buys all the following: 888 sq. feet; nice size living room and a separate dining room; forced air heating and a new 1-ton air-conditioning unit; roomy 50x200' lot; and other features! It's vacant!

SOUTH SOUTH 3RD

HERE'S stunning value in a 2 bedroom plus a den home, in an excellent neighborhood on the southside. It contains the following features among its spacious sq. footage: nice oak floors; master bedroom carpeted wall-to-wall; has central heating; its spacious den is pine paneled; has a side screened porch; carport; asbestos siding; and a host of other features that we'll gladly show today. It's vacant and there's FHA financing available!

FLORIDA

YOU could look all over the southside and never find a neater or more attractive 2-bedroom home than this one is. It boasts: sparkling oak floors; attic fan and floor furnace; copper plumbing; well proportioned living room and nicely arranged kitchen AND . . . $600 down on FHA solves your problem. Wanta' look?

DICK TAYLOR

$900 DOWN on FHA buys a lotta' house in this one! For instance . . . 960 sq. feet of living area; 2 nice size bedrooms (one's 14x15); large living room (with 220 outlet for air conditioning); has nice oak floors; attic fan; new water heater; fenced back yard; it's just coupla' blocks to school! $7,500 is the price.

SOUTH FIFTH

Mollet Returns To Give Report On Algeria Mission

PARIS, Feb. 11 —UP— French Premier Guy Mollet returned home Saturday to report on his stormy, five-day fact finding mission to Algeria.

He called an emergency meeting of his cabinet Saturday night in a new search for a way to staunch the flow of blood in the strife-torn North African colony.

His arrival in Algiers on a "peace mission" Tuesday served to open new wounds in French government relations with French colonists who oppose Mollet's liberal policies toward Moslems seeking Algerian self-government.

Mollet has yet to elaborate on the Algerian reforms he promised when he took office Feb. 1. These included "equality" for Moslems, who outnumber Algerian Frenchmen 9 to 1, free elections, economic reforms, release of some political prisoners and re-establishment of the public peace.

Another cabinet session was scheduled for Monday morning under President Rene Coty to approve a government declaration on Algeria to be made in the national assembly later this week.

Twelve persons were killed by terrorists and in clashes between French and rebel troops within 24 hours

PRINCIPAL HONORED

MARION, Feb. 11 —(Special)— The faculty of Marion Industrial High School honored the principal with a surprise luncheon in the home economics lunch room. Oliver, the principal of Marion Industrial, received the Master of Education degree from the University of Arkansas, Saturday, Jan. 28, 1956. His undergraduate work was done at Arkansas A. M. and N. College, Pine Bluff, Ark., and Grambling College, Grambling, La. Oliver motored to the University of Arkansas, which is in Fayetteville, Arkansas, for the commencement exercises.

Scores Of Planes And Helicopters Aid Victims Of Europe Cold Wave

LONDON, Feb. 11—UP—Scores of cargo planes and helicopters took off Saturday on mercy missions to aid victims of Europe's worst cold wave of the century.

All of Europe braced for new hardships brought on by the blizzards and sub-zero temperatures that already have claimed at least 300 lives.

Dozens of planes nosed through pea-soup fog and swirling snow to carry food and medicine to isolated areas, while others scoured the seas for floundering ships and stood by those known to be in trouble.

Pilots of two Royal Air Force helicopters braved a blizzard in the English Channel to pluck 10 men from a battered tug minutes before it sank.

France reported 28 new deaths from the cold to put her at the top of the fatality list with 82 dead. Italy was next with at least 71 dead.

New snowstorms cut communications again Saturday with scores of villages in southern Italy which rescuers had just dug out of tons of snow.

The number of isolated villages in the Chiefti province in Central Italy, which was down to 30 Friday night, jumped to 85 again Saturday.

Incomplete estimates said at least 120 villages and hundreds of hamlets were again cut off from the world throughout Italy's Aburzzi region.

Food and medicine were running short in the Sangro Valley, where some communities have been isolated for 11 days.

Rescue teams and helicopters rushed supplies to villages that could still be reached before heavier storms descended from the north.

A pack of hungry wolves attacked a doctor returning from a farm near Penne. Armed Carabinieri (federal police) frightened the pack away.

The temperature stood at 31 below zero at the Brenner Pass on the Austrian border, paralyzing highway and rail traffic. Ice piling up in the Torrent Solda threatened to wreck a bridge.

Vital river traffic along the Rhine in Germany was stalled by ice packs. Ten-foot snowdrifts blocked mountain passes from the Italian Riviera to Parma, and work was suspended in the shipyards at Riva Trigoso.

Like the stricken Italian villages, many communities in northern Spain were isolated by the blizzards.

Troop 'F' Makes 81 Arrests In One-Week Period

Members of Troop "F" Louisiana State Police, with headquarters located in Monroe made a total of 81 arrests during the past week.

Bowen-Spooner Nuptials Pledged In Boxford, Mass.

A beautiful candlelight ceremony at 4 o'clock Saturday, February 4, at the Boxford Congregational Church in Boxford, Mass., united Miss Priscilla Joan Spooner of Topsfield, Mass., and Jewell Ray Bowen of Wisner.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jean J. Poirier of Topsfield. Mr. Bowen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Shipp of Wisner.

Dr. Charles Atkins performed the double ring ceremony.

Nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Chester Killam, organist, who also accompanied Miss Margaret Killam who sang "The Lord's Prayer," "At Dawning," "I Love You" and "Canticle Nuptiale."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's gown was fashioned of white pure-silk peau-de-sole and imported laencon lace. The sculptured bodice featured a torso bodice accented by a bateau neckline and long tight sleeves which ended in petal points over the wrist.

The full skirt extended into a chapel length trail. A queen's crown of seed pearls and sequins held her fingertip veil of imported french illusion. She carried a white orchid.

The bride's sister, Miss Vivian Spooner, was maid of honor. Her gown was of aqua georgette taffeta designed in an off-the-shoulder effect with a fitted bodice and bouffant skirt. She wore a matching headdress crown of seed pearls and sequins. She carried a cascade of dubins, snap dragons and yellow acacia.

Miss Joan Cameron and Miss Marcia Copenhaver were bridesmaids. Their gowns, headdresses and bouquets were identical to the honor attendant's.

Charlotte Ann Bowen, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She also wore a gown of aqua taffeta matching the bridesmaids and scattered rose petals from a basket.

Groomsmen were John M. Hirschi of Wichita Falls, Tex., and A. James Rowan of Fostoria, Ohio.

Mrs. Poirier chose for her daughter's wedding a blue and gold cocktail length dress with pink accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Shipp, the bridegroom's mother, was becomingly attired in a dusty roce lace and taffeta waltz length model with matching accessories. An orchid corsage complemented her ensemble.

The couple will make their home at Topsfield, Mass.

The bride is a graduate of Holten High School, Beverly Hospital School of Nursing and Boston University Graduate School of Nursing. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority.

Mr. Bowen attended Neville High School in Monroe and graduated from Wisner High School. He is a student at Massachusetts Institute of Technology where he holds membership in Beta Theta Pi.

MISS MARJORIE LEE CALDWELL'S engagement and approaching marriage to Mr. Gene Neighbors of Bastrop, is announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Hopson of Crowville. Mr. Neighbors is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Ernest Neighbors of Bastrop. The wedding to be solemnized in late spring. Miss Caldwell is the daughter of the late Ennis A. Caldwell of West Monroe.

Luncheon Fetes Mrs. Thomas Pugh

The Bayou DeSiard Country Club was the scene this Tuesday of a luncheon at which Mrs. Duke Shackelford and Mrs. John Shakelford of Jones, were co-hostesses, entertaining in honor of Mrs. Thomas Pugh, the former Miss Elsie Silverman of Little Rock, now of Portland, Ark.

Red camellias formed the centerpiece and extended the length of the table.

The guests, other than the honoree included, Mrs. Gus Pugh of Portland, Mrs. George T. Madison, Bastrop, Mrs. J. A. Davenport, Mrs. Clifford Harrison, Mrs. John Currie, Mrs. W. B. de Yampert, Mrs. Carl Wells and Mrs. Norman Kirkwood, all of Wilmot, Ark., Mrs. Robert Pugh, Mrs. Louis Ederington, Mrs. R. B. Newcomb and Miss Martha Pugh, of Portland, Mrs. Craig Shakelford and Mrs. Charlie Bridewell, of Montrose, Ark., Mrs. Neill Sloan, Mrs. George Pine, Mrs. Clyde Lovette, of Lake Village, Ark., and Mrs. Hampton Pugh, of McGhee, Ark.

Maine Wedding Of Interest To Monroe Friends

Of interest to friends in Monroe is the announcement by Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Crocker McDonald, of Bangor, Maine, of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Barbara Louise McDonald to Sanford Hoyt Butler, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Sanford H. Butler of Athens, Ga.

Miss McDonald is a graduate of Stratford Hall, in Danville, Virginia and is a freshman at Randolph-Macon Woman's College in Lynchburg, Va. She is a member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority.

Mr. Butler is a graduate of Baylor in Chattanooga, Tenn., and is a senior in the Business School of the university of Georgia. He is affiliated with Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

The wedding will take place in June.

For a special treat, make your youngsters a Tit-Tat-Toe Cake. Use a cake mix, if you like, for the base, baking the batter in two round eight-inch layer pans. When the cake is cool fill and frost it with a fluffy white icing. Then make a tit-tat-toe design on top of the cake, using long gumdrops of one color, cut in halves lengthwise to make each line. Make the "X's" with long gumdrops of different colors, cut in halves lengthwise and crosswise. Use round gumdrop rings to make the "O's."

Bowen-Spooner Nuptials Pledged In Boxford, Mass.

A beautiful candelight ceremony at 4 o'clock Saturday, February 4, at the Boxford Congregational Church in Boxford, Mass., united Miss Priscilla Joan Spooner of Topsfield, Mass., and Jewell Ray Bowen of Wisner.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jean J. Poirier of Topsfield. Mr. Bowen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Shipp of Wisner.

Dr. Charles Atkins performed the double ring ceremony.

Nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Chester Killam, organist, who also accompanied Miss Margaret Killam who sang "The Lord's Prayer," "At Dawning," "I Love You" and "Cantiele Nuptiale."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's gown was fashioned of white pure-silk peau-de-soie and imported laencon lace. The sculptured bodice featured a torso bodice accented by a bateau neckline and long tight sleeves which ended in petal points over the wrist.

The full skirt extended into a chapel length trail. A queen's crown of seed pearls and sequins held her fingertip veil of imported french illusion. She carried a white orchid.

The bride's sister, Miss Vivian Spooner, was maid of honor. Her gown was of aqua georgette taffeta designed in an off-the-shoulder effect with a fitted bodice and bouffant skirt. She wore a matching headdress crown of seed pearls and sequins. She carried a cascade of dubins, snap dragons and yellow acacia.

Miss Joan Cameron and Miss Marcia Copenhaver were bridesmaids. Their gowns, headdresses and bouquets were identical to the honor attendant's.

Charlotte Ann Bowen, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She also wore a gown of aqua taffeta matching the bridesmaids and scattered rose petals from a basket.

Mrs. Poirier chose for her daughter's wedding a blue and gold cocktail length dress with pink accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Shipp, the bridegroom's mother, was becomingly attired in a dusty roce lace and taffeta waltz length model with matching accessories. An orchid corsage complemented her ensemble.

The couple will make their home at Topsfield, Mass.

The bride is a graduate of Holten High School, Beverly Hospital School of Nursing and Boston University Graduate School of Nursing. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority.

Mr. Bowen attended Neville High School in Monroe and graduated from Wisner High School. He is a student at Massachusetts Institute of Technology where he holds membership in Beta Theta Pi.

MISS MARJORIE LEE CALDWELL'S engagement and approaching marriage to Mr. Gene Neighbors of Bastrop, is announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Hopson of Crowville. Mr. Neighbors is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Ernest Neighbors of Bastrop. The wedding to be solemnized in late spring. Miss Caldwell is the daughter of the late Ennis A. Caldwell of West Monroe.

Luncheon Fetes Mrs. Thomas Pugh

The Bayou DeSiard Country Club was the scene this Tuesday of a luncheon at which Mrs. Duke Shackelford and Mrs. John Shakelford of Jones, were co-hostesses, entertaining in honor of Mrs. Thomas Pugh, the former Miss Elsie Silverman of Little Rock, now of Portland, Ark.

Red camellias formed the centerpiece and extended the length of the table.

The guests, other than the honoree included, Mrs. Gus Pugh of Portland, Mrs. George T. Madison, Bastrop, Mrs. J. A. Davenport, Mrs. Clifford Harrison, Mrs. John Currie, Mrs. W. B. de Yampert, Mrs. Carl Wells and Mrs. Norman Kirkwood, all of Wilmot, Ark., Mrs. Robert Pugh, Mrs. Louis Ederington, Mrs. R. B. Newcomb and Miss Martha Pugh, of Portland, Mrs. Craig Shakelford and Mrs. Charlie Bridewell, of Montrose, Ark., Mrs. Neill Sloan, Mrs. George Pine, Mrs. Clyde Lovette, of Lake Village, Ark., and Mrs. Hampton Pugh, of McGhee, Ark.

Afternoon Ceremony Unites Miss Woods, Harry Scriber

Claiming much interest in North Louisiana was the wedding of Miss Joy Louise Woods and Harry Bernard Scriber which was an event of January 22 at the First Baptist Church in Rayville.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Woods of Rayville. Mr. Scriber is the son of Mrs. William Harry Scriber and the late Mr. Scriber of Winnsboro.

The impressive double ring ceremony was performed at 3 o'clock in the afternoon by Dr. H. R. Herrington.

Tall baskets of white gladioli and pom-pom mums were placed along the altar which was banked with greenery. A myriad of white cathedral tapers illuminated the setting.

Nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Everett McClung, organist, who accompanied Mrs. C. Bullard Jones as she sang "Because," "O Promise Me" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's gown was a waltz-length creation of chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin. The high portrait neckline was of lace with an inserted tulle yoke accentuated by irredescent sequins. Her tight fitting lace sleeves ended in petal points over the wrist. The sculptured bodice extended into a full skirt of lace and tiers of tulle.

She wore a tulle caplet embellished with lace medallians and irredescent sequins from which fell her finger-tip veil of silk illusion. The bride's bouquet featured lily of the valley centered with a white orchid and mounted on a white Bible.

Mrs. William B. Tolar of Hillsboro, Tex., was matron of honor. Her waltz-length dress was an ashes of rose taffeta with a tiny velvet ribbon trim. She wore a matching bandeau adorned with tiny pearls and carried a bouquet of rose carnations.

Miss Maureen Tilton of Elizabeth was bridesmaid. Her dress, bouquet and headdress was identical to the honor attendant's.

Groomsmen and ushers were James Scriber and Roy Scriber, both brothers of the bridegroom, Harrison Kelly Jordan and C. Bullard Jones.

Mrs. Woods chose for her daughter's wedding a orchid faille dress with a velvet trim and matching hat encrusted with rhinestones and pearls. A pink shoulder corsage complimented her ensemble.

Mrs. Scriber, mother of the bridegroom, was attired in a becoming periwinkle blue crepe dress with lace inserts. She wore pink accessories and a matching corsage.

A reception followed the ceremony in the reception rooms of the church.

The bride's table, overlaid in white, was centered with a picturesque arrangement of pink carnations encircled by pale pink tapers and greenery. The crystal punch service and wedding cake were placed at opposite ends of the table.

Of focal interest on the piano was an artistic arrangement of white carnations flanked by white tapers entwined with lily of the valley. Baskets of white gladioli and mums were featured at vantage points throughout the room.

Guests were registered in the bride's book by Mrs. Chiles Carpenter.

Mrs. T. B. McDuff presided at the wedding cake and Miss Ethel Mae Voss poured. Tea girls were Miss Bobby Jo Antley, Miss Carole Cotton, Miss Joyce Nicklas, Mrs. Jerry Colson and Mrs. Robert Southern.

Mrs. Emory Swetman played soft piano selections during the reception.

For traveling the bride changed to a mauve suit with black and white accessories and the orchid corsage from her wedding bouquet.

Upon return, they will make their home in Winnsboro.

Mr. Scriber, a graduate of Fort Necessity High School, attended Louisiana State University.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Woods of Columbia, Miss.; Mrs. Grady May of Meridian, Miss.; Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Tilton, Kenneth and Tommy Tilton, all of Elizabeth; Mrs. T. B. Justice, Mrs. Dorothy Brady and Dottie of Tallulah; Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Buie, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Wooldridge, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Buie, all of Fort Necessity; Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Bennett of Terminal, Tex.; Mrs. Augusta K. Taliaferro and Mrs. A. S. Krause of Sicily Island.

Also, Mrs. Roy Scriber and Cheryl of Baton Rouge; Mr. and Mrs. Tom McKay of Archibald; Mrs. Mae Kimball of Hodge; Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Voss, Miss Ethel Mae Voss, Miss Julia Cash, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Holman, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. McKay, George Morgan, all of West Monroe; Mrs. F. B. Kelly, Mrs. Pauline Petty, Miss Helen Schelette, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph K. Morgan, Miss Barbara Hancock, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Polk, all of Monroe.

And, Mrs. Alice Teddlie, Mrs. R. L. Southern, Mrs. W. B. Scriber, Ginger and Bill Scriber, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barnado, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Shirley, Miss Frances Stokes, Mrs. Avis Windham, Miss Irene Fallin, Miss Betty Jane Hodgkins, Miss Linda Duplissy, Mrs. R. Simon, Mrs. John Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Calbert, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Todd, Jr. and Linda, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Lupo, Donna and Claude, Mrs. Jennie S. Daniel, Mrs. Neil D. Womble, Mrs. Kate C. Lowry, Mr. and Mrs. F. Kincaid, Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Roy M. Taylor, Miss Marion Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. W. K. McLaurin, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Nelson, Mrs. E. B. Butler, Mrs. Nell Windham, Mrs. Pearl Butler, Miss Alma Bivens, Mrs. Myrla Massey, Bobby Dean Massey, Mrs. Frank Short, Betty Ann Massey, Mrs. Olena Kiper, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lowe, Mr. and Mrs. Everett McClung, Mr. and Mrs. John Peck, Mrs. T. B. McDuff, all of Winnsboro; Mrs. D. A. Hoover of St. Joseph; Mrs. James Woods of Dyersburg, Tenn.

Rehearsal Party

A pink and white motif was noted throughout the Buie Scriber home when they entertained at an after rehearsal supper in their home at Rayville.

Those attending the party were Mr. and Mrs. E. T. McClung, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Scriber, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Nelson, James Scriber, Harrison Kelly Jordan, the Rev. and Mrs. C. Bullard Jones, Mrs. William B. Tolar, Miss Maureen Tilton, Mrs. W. H. Scriber, Mrs. Alice Teddlie, Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Woods, Mrs. James Woods, the hosts and honored couple.

Cutting out biscuits? Be sure to flour the cutter each time you use it. And don't twist the cutter if you want your biscuits to look their best; use the cutter "straight on" and pull it straight up when you remove it.

Two Hostesses Entertain Cultura Club

On Thursday, February 2, The Cultura Book Club met in the home of Mrs. Dan Nevils with Mrs. Charles Oxford co-hostess.

The meeting was opened with the Club Collect. Mrs. E. N. Camp, Jr., President, presided over the business session. Mrs. Gene Williams gave the secretary's report and Mrs. Donald Logan submitted the treasurer's report.

Following the conclusion of the business, Mrs. Harry Liner, Program Chairman, introduced the guest speaker for the evening, Mrs. George Foreman, Executive Secretary of Civil Defense, who gave a most informative and enlightening talk on the urgent need for public awareness of the knowledge of civil defense methods.

Following the program, delicious refreshments with a Valentine motif were served to Mrs. George Foreman, guest speaker, and Mrs. Donald Strain of Fort Wayne, Indiana, and the following members: Mesdames Kenneth Adams, Clyde Albritton, Jr., Bob Branch, E. N. Camp, Jr., Jeff Hennessy, Harry Liner, Donald Logan, W. T. Silmon, Gene Williams, G. L. Shepard, Lake Oxford, K. D. Norris, and the hostesses Mrs. Charles Oxford and Mrs. Dan Nevils.

Mrs. T. H. B. Rankin, Americanism chairman, Abram Morehouse closed the meeting by leading the assembly in the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag.

Girl Scout News

The coming weeks and months should prove eventful for Girl Scouts, what with the coming cookie sale, Girl Scout Week next month, and the planning ahead for all kinds of camping.

We hear that many eager Scouts are already contacting friends and neighbors about the cookie sale. Several leaders report that their girls are so excited they can't wait. Readers, get ready to eat Girl Scout cookies beginning February 27. Some of the troops will sell cans of Girl Scout peanuts and mixed nuts, and any girl can get them for a customer. They're mighty good, too.

Girl Planning Board yesterday devoted its time to plans for the collection of Juliette Low pennies at the annual birthday program on March 11.

Troop 24 is one which has already started on its collection. Leaders Mildred Middleton and Betty McBride have made an attractive box for the pennies, decorated it with Brownie cutouts and a list of all the girls. Each girl is allowed to mark beside her name the amount she brings each week until finally she gets a star for completing her quota of ten cents. The girls have learned that the Juliette Low fund helps spread Scouting and make friends among Scouts everywhere.

Troop 11, Second grade Brownies at Plum Street school, had a Valentine party at their meeting Tuesday, to which they invited their parents. In spite of the downpour, most of the mothers attended, and one daddy was able to come. The girls had planned the party as a culmination of a homemaking project. They had practiced introductions, planned games and songs and refreshments.

In reviewing what they had done since their organization in the fall the girls mentioned that they had had a cookout, making "Brownie Stew," known to most of us as a campfire stew. Gloria Cooper and Susie Branch say they have cooked it at home since they learned to make it. The girls have been making stuffed dolls, which they plan to give to children in a hospital. Each mother received a valentine her daughter had made. The group sang the Brownie Smile Song and gave the Promise, after which the patrol leaders served refreshments. Mrs. J. H. Branch and Mrs. E. R. Youngblood are leaders of these busy Brownies.

A year passes fast for Brownies who are learning lots and having fun. Troop 48 has recently registered for it's second year, with Mrs. M. A. Denoux and Mrs. Ralph Armstrong as leaders and Mrs. B. O. Yeldell, Mrs. E. V. Fisher, Mrs. Floyd Stone, Jr. on the troop committee. The following girls received their new membership cards last week: Sue Allen, Ruth Anne Armstrong, Linda Battistone, Brenda Carso, Marilyn Denoux, Suzanne Fisher, Kay Joyce, Janet Kiper, Sandra Marshall, Pat Pickett Mary Elizabeth Reynolds, Catherine Stone, Linda Williams, Dianne Womack and Mary Alyce Yeldell.

Girl Scouts Organize In Lake Providence

LAKE PROVIDENCE — Much interest is being shown in the organization of a Girl Scout Troop in Lake Providence. At a meeting held Tuesday night, Mrs. Annis Klie, Monroe Executive Director of Girl Scouts in Ouachita Parish, discussed with interested parties, the leadership needs and problems that arise in connection with such organization. She gave an interesting discourse on "How to Go About Finding a Leader", pointing out that it was most essential to have assistants to plan with the leaders on such points as advancements, activity participation and keeping record sheets.

Mrs. Klie recommended, "Do things with the girls!" Other discussion centered around the possibility of joining the area organization, The Silver Water Council, which is composed of Girl Scout troops from Ouachita, Caldwell, Madison, West Carroll, Tensas, Union, Richland, Franklin and Jackson parishes.

Mrs. John Terral was chosen as Troop Leader with Mrs. John Hester and Mrs. W. J. Grossman, Jr., as her assistants. There is a total of 30 girls enrolled at the present time and prospects for many more. Four Brownie groups have been organized and are very active.

Also present at the meeting were Mrs. R. E. Neal, Mrs. Troyce Dukes and Mrs. Rae Martin from the Transylvania community who are interested in organizing a Troop in their locality. They stated that they have the names of 28 prospective members and were desirous of getting started immediately.

TALLULAH — Dr. David Amacker of Southwestern College, Memphis, Tenn., was the guest speaker at a meeting of Lambda Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Society here on Sunday afternoon. He gave a most interesting address on the world situation in which he emphasized the need for increased military preparedness and true knowledge of the free world for concerted effort to present to the Russian people.

Preceding Dr. Amacker's address there was the beautifully impressive initiation ceremony when Miss Mary Moore Mitchell, and Mrs. Bliss Jones of Rayville were initiated and welcomed by the group. Mrs. Mabel Nash of Mangham conducted the business session.

Mrs. W. M. Murphy, hostess for the meeting, served delightful refreshments during the enjoyable social period. Members of the society from Delhi, Rayville, Mangham, Lake Providence and Tallulah were in attendance.

Annual Report Given At Department Club

The Oak Grove Home Department Club met Wednesday, Feb. 8 in the Recreation Room of the Methodist Church for the business and regular bi-monthly luncheon. The meeting opened with a song and prayer was led by Mrs. John H. Hogan. Mrs. Earl Martin led in the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

The 25 members present heard an annual summary of the club's years work.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Ruby Bardin, Mrs. Edgar McCormick, and Mrs. George Rundel.

Weight-watchers might well use a salad dressing made with yogurt. To the yogurt, add lemon juice, salt, pepper and finely grated onion (pulp and juice) to taste. This dressing is good with mixed greens, sliced tomatoes and drained canned snap beans.

Hull-Jordan Vows Pledged In Vicksburg

The Gibson Memorial Methodist Church, Vicksburg, Miss., was the scene late in January of the marriage of Miss Nancy Jordan, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Jordan of Carthage, Miss., to Alton B. Hull, formerly of Lake Providence, but now of Tallulah.

For her wedding, the bride wore a suit of white wool trimmed with black velvet, a white hat and black patent shoes. Her corsage was a purple orchid. Mrs. Bob Letlow, of Tallulah, was the bride's matron of honor and only attendant. Mr. Letlow served as best man.

After a southern wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Hull will reside on Davis street, in Tallulah.

Out - of - town guests for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Gustave N. Jordan and three daughters, Rachel Ann, Margie Lou and Dora Lynn, of New Orleans; Mr. and Mrs. John Shelby McKenzie, Don Hull, of Lake Providence, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Letlow of Tallulah.

Want a wonder spread to serve with your beverage course? Mix cream cheese with anchovy paste, onion salt, prepared mustard, caraway seeds, capers and paprika. Offer this version of the famous Hungarian "Liptauer Cheese" spread with small slices of salty rye or pumpernickel bread.

Couple Has Open House On Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Gates of West Monroe celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at an open house on Sunday.

Arrangements of yellow flowers, gold leaves and greenery were used in the living room where Mr. and Mrs. Gates received their friends.

A yellow cloth overlaid with lace covered the dining table which was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with golden love birds bearing the numeral "50".

Alternating at the punch service were the daughters-in-law. Mrs. Bill Hayes served the anniversary cake.

The guest book was kept by Misses Ann and Cappy Hayes.

More than 100 guests called between the hours of three and six o'clock.

Allen-Brady Vows Are Said In Home Ceremony

A home wedding marked by simplicity was solemnized in a candlelight ceremony Thursday, February 2, when Miss Wanda Raye Brady became the bride of Pvt. R. H. Allen.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Brady of this city. The bridegroom who is stationed at Fort Polk, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Allen of Wallisville, Tex.

Miss Shirley Jean Cooper of West Monroe presented nuptial music and accompanied Miss Betty Jo Taylor of Monroe who sang "Because" and "Always."

White cathedral tapers in branched candelabra were lighted before the ceremony by John Melvin Brady, brother of the bride and Rodney Rusty Wade, nephew of the bride.

Murphy Ballard of Eudora, Ark., brother-in-law of the bridegroom, served as best man.

The guests were received by Mrs. T. L. Ellerbe, aunt of the bride and Mrs. W. V. Clark.

Mrs. Murphy Ballard, sister of the bridegroom, presided at the wedding book, which was placed on a stand near the dining room decorated with a large white satin bow and long streamers.

The bride's table was covered with an eggshell lace cloth lined with pink and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, which was decorated with wedding bells fern and pink camellias.

The cake was flanked by tall white tapers in silver candlesticks with bows of white satin ribbon.

Mrs. W. G. Nixon served the cake, assisted by Miss Janice Kirk and Miss Lillian Price.

Miss Carolyn Hart assisted with the courtesies.

Mrs. W. V. Clark and Mrs. I. M. Corbin presided in the room where the couple's gifts were displayed.

Vary that seven-minute frosting. Use your standard recipe, but when you add the vanilla, beat in a cup of marshmallow-snippets. To get the snippets ready, cut regular-size marshmallows — using a kitchen scissors — into small pieces.

News From The Public Library

This is one of the busiest seasons of the year at the Ouachita Parish Public Library. After the rush of the Christmas holidays is over people have more time to read than at any other period and we have been especially delighted with the patron interest the past few weeks. Of course the fact that we had to suspend Bookmobile service, except to the schools, until our new bookmobile arrives has done a great deal to increase our circulation in Monroe and West Monroe. We are happy that so many of our Bookmobile patrons have come in to the libraries in town to get something to read during this period. I want to again urge those who have books checked out from the Bookmobile to bring them in as soon as you finish reading them. Everyone comes to town at least every two weeks and we would like to keep up with our Bookmobile books in this way.

Among this week's additions to the library are several new novels. "Native Stone" by Edwin Gilbert is a powerful and romantic novel of three young American architects. It is a fascinating account of contemporary life. The scene shifts from the ivied halls of Yale to the offices of New York's leading architectural firms. It is a story that will appeal to many readers and especially to those who enjoyed "The Fountainhead." In fact, this author had to rewrite parts of this book to avoid being charged with plagarism by the author of "The Fountainhead."

We have a large audience for murder mysteries and there is no writer more popular than Mignon Eberhart whose latest book is called "Postmark Murder." The scene of this story is Chicago in the present time and the story is most involved and exciting. A beautiful and appealing story for girls in their late teens is "Penny's Acres" a novel by Mina Lewiton. This is the story of a young girl in a New England town that was slowly dying. It is the story of a young girl who saw the way to save her community and win happiness for herself at the same time.

In the field of non-fiction there are a number of new and practical books. Are you planning a trip to Mexico, Guatemala or the Caribbean region this year? If you are, be sure to read the new book by David and Marian Greenberg, "The Shopping Guide to Mexico, Guatemala and the Caribbean. It is a splendid guide and by checking it on places I have been, I feel that it is very accurate. One of the loveliest books we have had in a long time is "The Jerome Kern Songbook." This book contains the words and music of 50 of his best-loved songs and was edited by Oscar Hammerstein II. This is a beautiful book to take home and enjoy with all the family. A very fine and discerning new biography is "Longfellow" by Edward Wagenknecht. This book fills a long felt need for information on one of the greatest of American poets an l we are very happy to have it.

In the practical field there are several books which will be sure to appeal to many readers who are looking for just such a title. "Your Feet and Their Care" by William A. Rossi contains excellent advice for the care of the feet. Most of us have foot troubles at one time or another and this book can tell you exactly what to do about them. A book which should be of great value to anyone who has problems (and who hasn't) is "The Art of Problem Solving" by Edward Hodnett. The author divides all problem solving into four parts: diagnosis, techniques, scientific approach and art. Under these the author discusses how to ask questions, how to get facts straight, how to find alternatives, how to estimate consequences, how to be logical and how to find imaginative solutions. Each step is illustrated with a clear example.

Another book of great value to a young bride is "Marriage Manners Although the author states that it is for both partners, most of the advice seems to be aimed at the girl. It covers every phase of etiquette in which a young couple might be interested, such as entertaining, neighbors, visiting cards, manners at home and a special section for a serviceman's wife. If you have a recently married couple in your family, this book would be nice for them.

The Ouachita Parish Public Library has a very fine collection of cookbooks and we are always adding to it. Our latest addition is called "The Casserole Cookbook and the Author is Jim Beard. The recipes sound most interesting and easy to do. I can hardly wait to try some of them and I know you will feel the same way when you examine this book.

One reason that we are able to purchase so many new and interesting books of non-fiction is because of our memorial book fund. We would like to remind you again that this is a lovely way in which to remember a departed friend and that it serves to keep his memory alive for a long time. Please remember the library when you next have an occasion to honor a departed friend.

If you are not a patron of the library, you can become one by going to one of the branches and registering. If you are not using its resources, you are missing a fine opportunity for pleasure and profit and we give you a hearty invitation to enroll as soon as possible.

Wanda Hollis James Tiffee Exchange Vows

The Liberty Baptist Church in Haile, was the scene, Sunday evening at 7 p.m. of the marriage of Miss Wanda Louise Hollis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Hollis, of Haile to James B. Tiffee, son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Tiffee, of Gilbert.

The Rev. Lamar Hayes officiated at the double ring ceremony which was performed in the presence of a large gathering of friends and relatives of both families. The church was decorated with standards of white gladioli and chrysanthemums and tall candelabra, garlanded with smilax and holding burning tapers.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES B. TIFFEE

The bride entered the church with her father, who gave her in marriage. Her bridal gown of alencon lace over satin, was fashioned with a torso bodice with scalloped neckline and long sleeves coming to points over her hands. The bouffant skirt was waltz length. Her veil of silk net fell in soft folds from a tiara of pearls. She carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with a white orchid.

Miss Frances Hooper, of Baton Rouge, was maid of honor. Her dress was of light blue satin made along princess lines and she carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Jean Hollis, sister of the bride acted as flower girl. She was wearing a light blue taffeta dress with matching headband.

The candlelighters, Miss Vina Sue Muckelrath, of Winnsboro, and Miss Carleen Griffin, Pioneer, were dressed alike in powder blue dresses of satin brocade and were wearing wrist corsages of pink carnations. Jimmy Hollis, brother of the bride was ring bearer.

Jim Worthington served the bridegroom as best man. The ushers were John Jeff Hollis, brother of the bride, and Bendel Johnson, the bride's cousin.

A reception followed immediately in the social room of the church. Mrs. Hollis was wearing a suit of light brown with matching accessories and Mrs. Tiffee chose a black suit, they both wore corsages of white carnations.

The bride's table, covered with a white cutwork cloth, was centered with an arrangement of white chrysanthemums and white candles. Mrs. Nelda Smothers, of Monroe, served the wedding cake placed at one end of the table, and Miss Muckelrath and Miss Griffin alternated at the punch service at the opposite end. Others assisting were Miss Winnie Carol Wheeler, Mrs. Aubrey Love and Miss Ann Love.

The young couple will make their home in Fort Sill, Okla. where the groom is stationed in the U. S. Army.

The bride is a graduate of the Linville High School and Mr. Tiffee graduated from Gilbert High School. They both received degrees from Northeast State College, in Monroe.

Butter slices of bread; cut each slice into six equal strips and sprinkle with celery seed. Bake in a moderate oven until crisp. Nice to serve with soup or salad.

ROAMIN' IN THE RURAL

—With Euna Spielman

Family Better Fed With Garden

Food is most important for the survival of a family. If food is purchased for the family, the money used to purchase it comes out of the family's income. Home produced foods for 1955 were less than 1954, and it is predicted that 1956 produced foods will be less than 1955. But, overall, farm food production still makes a large contribution to the living of farm families. Home produced foods, when valued at retail prices, provide about 43 per cent of the total money value of the household food needs. It is estimated that about a fourth of the family income is spent for foods.

With decrease in farm family income, part of the food bill can be saved to put on other needs, if home productions is again practiced by having a garden, chickens for meat and eggs, a milk cow, a beef to kill, and a pig for the home freezer. Besides saving this needed income it is a proven fact that when foods are produced at home the family has a better diet.

The agent will be glad to assist any farm family in making a plan to meet food needs through home production. Home gardening bulletins are available by calling 3-2251.

Eggs Needed Daily in Diet

Eggs, you know, are "Tops" in nutrition. They are in the same top class with other protein foods such as milk and meat. They contain three of the B vitamins plus Vitamin A and D. The egg yolk holds a rich store of iron for red blood cells as well as phosphorus and other minerals for the needs of the body

Grade labeling is the best guide to the quality of eggs at th etime of purchase. On the sticker that seals the carton and on the carton itself there is much valuable information. For eggs efficiently graded the buyer will find information covering the quality or grade (A, B, C) the size of the eggs based on weight per dozen and the date the eggs were graded. The grade label, is an assurance of quality after the date of grading only if the eggs have been kept under proper conditions. It is important to see just how the store keeper handles his eggs.

Many of you are producing your own eggs. It is well for farm women not to sell all their eggs to their city sisters but to keep some of this highly nutritious food at home for their own families. "An egg a day" is really more important nutritionally than "An apple a day."

Fat From Pork

Many are killing or buying pork for the home freezer. The fat must be rendered into lard. Every effort should be made to produce good lard. Some suggestions for this job are: Render fat the day after slaughter. The longer the fat is held the lower its keeping qualities. Have pails clean. Lard takes off flavors easily. Fat can be rendered with or without rind. Removing rind gives a whiter fat. The cooking process is the secret of good taste and of keeping quality. Heat slowly until fat melts then heat until fat cooks to a very gentle boil. Do not allow cooking to reach the smoke point. This gives a scorched flavor. Stir constantly to hasten the rendering process. The lard is done when the cracklings turn brown and start to settle. Do not take any lard out until this happens as the lard is not done and will not keep. Add 3 or 4 pounds of commercial hydrogenated vegetable shortening to each 50 pounds of lard just as the cracklings begin to separarte and settle. This treatment will increase the keeping qualities a great deal. Allow lard to cool then strain through 2 or 3 thicknesses of cheese cloth into clean containers that can be made air tight. Sealing in tin cans is best. As lard becomes creamy, stir it thoroughly. This helps to produce a smoother lard. Store in a cool place.

Home Demonstration Club Demonstrations

The Home Management Leaders are giving demonstrations on "Forced Heirs and Wills." The agent is giving a demonstration "Planning, Preparing and Serving the Family Dinner Without A Maid." You are invited.

Dates To Remember

February 24th is the second home management leaders' training with Mrs. Hissong in charge, subject, "Community Property Rights." The leaders will give this demonstration at clubs. Group II in March — Group I in April.

February 28th Mr. Koch will conduct a workshop on care and use of electrical appliances. This is not a leaders training meeting. Everyone interested is invited to attend.

ROAMIN' IN THE RURAL

Family Better Fed With Garden

Food is most important for the survival of a family. If food is purchased for the family, the money used to purchase it comes out of the family's income. Home produced foods for 1955 were less than 1954, and it is predicted that 1956 produced foods will be less than 1955. But, overall, farm food production still makes a large contribution to the living of farm families. Home produced foods, when valued at retail prices, provide about 43 per cent of the total money value of the household food needs. It is estimated that about a fourth of the family income is spent for foods.

With decrease in farm family income, part of the food bill can be saved to put on other needs, if home productions is again practiced by having a garden, chickens for meat and eggs, a milk cow, a beef to kill, and a pig for the home freezer. Besides saving this needed income it is a proven fact that when foods are produced at home the family has a better diet.

The agent will be glad to assist any farm family in making a plan to meet food needs through home production. Home gardening bulletins are available by calling 3-2251.

Eggs Needed Daily in Diet

Eggs, you know, are "Tops" in nutrition. They are in the same top class with other protein foods such as milk and meat. They contain three of the B vitamins plus Vitamin A and D. The egg yolk holds a rich store of iron for red blood cells as well as phosphorus and other minerals for the needs of the body

Grade labeling is the best guide to the quality of eggs at th etime of purchase. On the sticker that seals the carton and on the carton itself there is much valuable information. For eggs efficiently graded the buyer will find information covering the quality or grade (A, B, C) the size of the eggs based on weight per dozen and the date the eggs were graded. The grade label, is an assurance of quality after the date of grading only if the eggs have been kept under proper conditions. It is important to see just how the store keeper handles his eggs.

Many of you are producing your own eggs. It is well for farm women not to sell all their eggs to their city sisters but to keep some of this highly nutritious food at home for their own families. "An egg a day" is really more important nutritionally than "An apple a day."

Fat From Pork

Many are killing or buying pork for the home freezer. The fat must be rendered into lard. Every effort should be made to produce good lard. Some suggestions for this job are: Render fat the day after slaughter. The longer the fat is held the lower its keeping qualities. Have pails clean. Lard takes off flavors easily. Fat can be rendered with or without rind. Removing rind gives a whiter fat. The cooking process is the secret of good taste and of keeping quality. Heat slowly until fat melts then heat until fat cooks to a very gentle boil. Do not allow cooking to reach the smoke point. This gives a scorched flavor. Stir constantly to hasten the rendering process. The lard is done when the cracklings turn brown and start to settle. Do not take any lard out until this happens as the lard is not done and will not keep. Add 3 or 4 pounds of commercial hydrogenated vegetable shortening to each 50 pounds of lard just as the cracklings begin to sepaarte and settle. This treatment will increase the keeping qualities a great deal. Allow lard to cool then strain through 2 or 3 thicknesses of cheese cloth into clean containers that can be made air tight. Sealing in tin cans is best. As lard becomes creamy, stir it thoroughly. This helps to produce a smoother lard. Store in a cool place.

Home Demonstration Club Demonstrations

Kissing Customs Change With The Times

While a kiss has been the gesture of lovers and friends for many centuries, it has meant many different things to different people, according to the Valentine's Day Council.

In ancient Rome, a kiss was nothing to be taken lightly, the Council states. Then, if a man kissed his betrothed, she gained half his effects if he died before marriage. A kiss was a firm legal bond of affection.

Cato, something of a Roman cynic, states thet the custom of kissing on the mouth sprang from the Roman husband's attempt to detect whether his wife had been sampling the wine bottle. The woman who did had more than her husband's displeasure to answer for, for women were prohibited by ancient Roman law from even tasting the infoxicating brew.

It was because of the strict feelings abroad in Rome in the early days of Christianity that the early Christians were subjected to such fierce slander and attack, the Council states. They exchanged kisses at the Love Feasts of the first Disciples and thus incurred the wrath of the authorities. In 397 the Council of Carthage banned all religious kissing between sexes.

Like the flavor of curry powder Then add a little to the salt and pepper you use when cooking pot roast. A dash of sugar may also be added with the curry powder — makes for good browning as well as flavor.

Grated lemon or orange rind — or both — can do wonders for canned applesauce. Add the citrus rind, too, when you are preparing the applesauce at home; stir it in, after cooking the apples, when you add the sugar.

MISS MARY ALICE DREW'S engagement to Harvey L. McFalls, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. McFalls of this city, has been announced in Houston, Tex., by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Drew of that city. The wedding will be an event of early Spring.

Miss Greer, Albert Walker Pledge Troth

The wedding of Miss Sidney Anne Greer and Mr. Albert Waller was solemnized Sunday, January 29, 1956, at 3:00 p.m. in the First Methodist Church at Chatham, with the Rev. J. T. Garrett, pastor of the First Methodist church officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Greer of Chatham, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Waller of Epps.

The altar was decorated with baskets of white gladioli. In the center of the altar, the cross was placed with a background of green vines. Miss Polly Anne Head of Monroe, at the organ provided nuptial music and her sister, Miss Billie Jean Head sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a steel blue torso-effect taffeta dress with round neck and pleated sleeves. The dress featured five rows of eyelet embroidery with self material bows beginning under the bust and continuing to the full bouffant skirt. She wore navy blue pumps, a white flowered hat and carried white split carnations atop a white Testament. For something old, she wore her mother's cameo brooch on a borrowed chain from her cousin, Miss Agnes Lee Greer. For something blue she carried a blue lace handkerchief and completed the tradition with a penny in her shoe.

She was awaited at the altar by her bridegroom and his best man, C. B. Roberts. The usher was Charles Greer, brother of the bride.

The bride's only attendant, her sister - in - law, Mrs. Robert B. Greer of San Antonio, Texas, was dressed in a light blue antique taffeta made on princess lines with a square neck and a self material bow at the high waist band. To complete her ensemble, she wore a matching flower hat and navy shoes. Her corsage pinned at her waist was of pink carnations.

The bride's mother was wearing a navy blue pure silk shantung suit, with a matching navy faille duster. Her accessories were white, and she wore a corsage of white feathered carnations. The bridegroom's mother was dressed in a navy blue gabardine suit with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Brumley. The bridal couple and their attendants were in the receiving line. Mrs. Billy Johnson of Shreveport, invited guests to sign the register. The bride's table was laid with a lace cloth over pink. At one end of the table was the tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom and at the opposite end was the crystal punch service. Crystal candelabra with white candles were at either side. Miss Billie Jean Head served cake and Mrs. George Moore poured punch.

Out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Waller, Eula Bell Waller, Mrs. Mary Louise Segers, Bill Crowe and Gay Whitaker, all of Epps; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Greer, Mrs. J. R. Greer, Marvin Pipes and Martha Harris, Ann Perkins, Mrs. Ralph Murphy and Donnie Murphy, Mrs. R. L. Golson, Mrs. I. P. Ray, Billie Jean Head, Roger Robinson and C. B Roberts, of Monroe; Mrs. Billy Johnson, Anita Sue Thomasson, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Raymond, Capt. and Mrs. Carl A. Barr, Audrey McGee, of Shreveport, and Mrs. Robert B. Greer of San Antonio, Tex.

For the wedding trip, the bride changed into a pastel blue wool jumper with a matching boxy jacket trimmed in navy. Her accessories were navy and she pinned her bridal corsage on her shoulder.

After a brief wedding trip, the couple are at home at 401 Filhiol avenue, Monroe, where both the bride and groom are attending Northeast Louisiana State College.

Cupid's Arrows Based Solidly In Mythology

Cupid, the traditional symbol of lovers, comes armed with bow and arrows for a reason based solidly in mythology, according to the Valentine's Day Council.

The ancient Greeks believed that all diseases were caused by the invisible poisoned arrows of evil or angry deities. The more irresponsible and maddening forms and fevers of love were looked upon by the ancient Greeks as real though mysterious afflictions, hence must have come from a god's arrow, the Council states.

REV. AND MRS. JOE BROADWAY

Broadway-Cloud Nuptials Pledged In Central Church

In an impressive double-ring ceremony at seven o'clock on Friday evening at the Central Baptist Church of Monroe, Miss Johnnie Mae Cloud, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Cloud of this city, became the bride of the Reverend Joe Broadway, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Broadway of Winnsboro. The ceremony was performed by the Reverend C. Roger Johnson.

The altar was decorated with two tall baskets of white stock with satin streamers with a center background of an arch being formed of tall white candelabra.

The nuptial music was presented by Bob Oldenburg at the piano who also accompanied Mrs. Loraine Williams as she sang "Always" and "Whither Thou Goest." The traditional wedding marches by Lohengrin were used to mark the beginning and you can at the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a waltz length, pale blue dress of pima silk and cotton fashioned along princess lines. It featured a bouffant skirt, with a low neckline and a roll collar. She wore a white straw hat covered in irridescent sequins and carried a white Bible topped by a white orchid.

The bride had as her only attendant and matron of honor, her cousin, Mrs. L. G. Tidwell, Jr., of Shreveport. She wore a pale pink two-piece dress of embossed cotton. It featured a round collar trimmed in sequins and rhinestones with three quarter length sleeves. She wore a pink hat and a shoulder corsage of white carnations.

Serving as candlelighters were Dale Cloud, only brother of the bride, and Bobby Shipp.

Jackie Broadway served his brother as best man. Ushers were Wade McKinley of Louisville, Ky., and Neil Carlson of Shreveport.

Mrs. Cloud, the bride's mother, was becomingly attired in a navy lace over satin with white accessories. She wore a shoulder corsage of white carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride. The bride's table was overlaid with a white cutwork cloth with a centerpiece of pink flowers and pink candles. Other flowers were placed at vantage points throughout the room.

The punch bowl was placed at one end of the table and the three-tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and groom was placed at the other.

Those assisting with the courtesies and serving were Mrs. W. P. Fore, sister of the groom of Shreveport, Mrs. John A. Cuney of Winnsboro, and Mrs. B. S. Dupree.

Mrs. Johnny Barnes and Miss Margaret Calhoun presided at the guest book.

The bride is a graduate of Ouachita Parish High school and Bish Mathis Institute.

The groom is a graduate of Winnsboro High school and Louisiana College. He attended the New Orleans Baptist Theological seminary.

February Stone Carries Special Charm Aura

As a birthstone, the amethyst, over and above its association with St. Valentine, carries forward its own special aura of goodness and beneficence from the Greek and Roman eras. In the mythical Island of the Blessed, where favorites of the gods dwell forever, there was said to be an enduring altar of amethyst, and the amethystine colors — palest violet to deepest purple — came to be associated with love, truth and hope. Still traditional in bishops' rings, amethysts, as symbols of an inner serenity, were long felt to be ample safeguards against any form of intoxication or deep unrest: Even to dream of amethysts meant freedom from harm.

MISS MARY ALICE DREW'S engagement to Harvey L. McFalls, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. McFalls of this city, has been announced in Houston, Tex., by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Drew of that city. The wedding will be an event of early Spring.

Miss Greer, Albert Walker Pledge Troth

The wedding of Miss Sidney Anne Greer and Mr. Albert Waller was solemnized Sunday, January 29, 1956, at 3:00 p.m. in the First Methodist Church at Chatham, with the Rev. J. T. Garrett, pastor of the First Methodist church officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Greer of Chatham, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Waller of Epps.

The altar was decorated with baskets of white gladioli. In the center of the altar, the cross was placed with a background of green vines. Miss Polly Anne Head of Monroe, at the organ provided nuptial music and her sister, Miss Billie Jean Head sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a steel blue torso-effect taffeta dress with round neck and pleated sleeves. The dress featured five rows of eyelet embroidery with self material bows beginning under the bust and continuing to the full bouffant skirt. She wore navy blue pumps, a white flowered hat and carried white split carnations atop a white Testament. For something old, she wore her mother's cameo brooch on a borrowed chain from her cousin, Miss Agnes Lee Greer. For something blue she carried a blue lace handkerchief and completed the tradition with a penny in her shoe.

She was awaited at the altar by her bridegroom and his best man, C. B. Roberts. The usher was Charles Greer, brother of the bride.

The bride's only attendant, her sister - in - law, Mrs. Robert B. Greer of San Antonio, Texas, was dressed in a light blue antique taffeta made on princess lines with a square neck and a self material bow at the high waist band. To complete her ensemble, she wore a matching flower hat and navy shoes. Her corsage pinned at her waist was of pink carnations.

Morehouse Vote Commissioners To Be Instructed

BASTROP, Feb. 11 (Special)—Commissioners and alternate commissioners for the February 21st, 2nd Democratic Primary election in Morehouse parish will be instructed about their duties and use of voting machines in a meeting at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 14, in the new high school auditorium here, Ray Green, Clerk of Court and Parish Custodian, has announced.

Green also announced that voting machines to be used in the election are being prepared in the voting machine warehouse at Mer Rouge and that they may be inspected at 2 p.m. on Thursday, Feb. 16. The seals on the voting machines will be broken at the warehouse at 10 a.m., Feb. 25, Green said.

Absentee voting in Morehouse parish began Saturday, Feb. 11, at 8 a.m. and will conclude on Saturday, Feb. 18, at 5 p.m., Green announced.

Bible Words for Today

ISAIAH 30:1-2 - "Woe to the rebellious children, saith the Lord, that take counsel, but not of me; and that cover with a covering, but not of my Spirit, that they may add sin to sin: that walk to go down into Egypt, and have not asked at my mouth; to strengthen themselves in the strength of Pharaoh, and to trust in the shadow of Egypt!"

When I was still a junior in high school, on January 15, 1916, at the urging of my pastor I tried preaching my first sermon before a real congregation,—my home church in Altoona, Pa.

There are many memories associated with that experience. One is that my cousin, who timed me, reported that I had preached for 38 minutes — considerably longer than I now ordinarily preach. Another is that I rehearsed that sermon repeatedly in my bedroom, with only the bed posts, chair and bureau as my imaginary congregation.

It has long since occurred to me that I should have chosen a much simpler text than Isaiah 30:1-2, a less pretentious subject than "The Shadow of Egypt". But I console myself about that first sermon with this realization: That, though a novice, I was on the right track, and that a major mark of Christian living is the daily choices we must make between ways that are in keeping with the loving sovereignty of God and all the lesser ways which have no substance but are only shadows with no lasting worth or meaning.

Bible Words for Today

ISAIAH 30:1-2 - "Woe to the rebellious children, saith the Lord, that take counsel, but not of me; and that cover with a covering, but not of my Spirit, that they may add sin to sin: that walk to go down into Egypt, and have not asked at my mouth; to strengthen themselves in the strength of Pharaoh, and to trust in the shadow of Egypt!"

When I was still a junior in high school, on January 15, 1916, at the urging of my pastor I tried preaching my first sermon before a real congregation,—my home church in Altoona, Pa.

There are many memories associated with that experience. One is that my cousin, who timed me, reported that I had preached for 38 minutes — considerably longer than I now ordinarily preach. Another is that I rehearsed that sermon repeatedly in my bedroom, with only the bed posts, chair and bureau as my imaginary congregation.

It has long since occurred to me that I should have chosen a much simpler text than Isaiah 30:1-2, a less pretentious subject than "The Shadow of Egypt". But I console myself about that first sermon with this realization: That, though a novice, I was on the right track, and that a major mark of Christian living is the daily choices we must make between ways that are in keeping with the loving sovereignty of God and all the lesser ways which have no substance but are only shadows with no lasting worth or meaning.

Entire Globe Plans To Celebrate Day Of Prayer

A day of prayer begun by a small group of U. S. women seventy years ago, will be marked by millions of Christians around the globe in services dedicated to world peace and understanding. On Friday, the World Day of Prayer will be observed in more than 20,000 U. S. communities and in more than 134 other countries on almost every continent and island.

At services circling the earth for more than twenty-four hours, people of all ages and races will pray in more than a thousand languages and dialects for understanding among the nations of the world. And with their prayers will go offerings of money and material goods to help relieve human need and suffering wherever it exists. In the United States alone last year, World Day of Prayer offerings provided more than $460,958 for co-operative Christian ministries in health, education, and welfare at home and abroad.

Sponsored in the United States by United Church Women a general department of the National Council of Churches, the program is prepared each year by an author from one of the 134 co-operating countries. This seventieth year is marked by a service written by American Indian leaders from the Cook Training School in Phoenix, Arizona. With the theme, "One flock, one shepherd," it abounds in the picturesque and expressive language of a people living close to nature, the lessons in tree and leaf, in the winds, in the sunset. Its call is from "The Mighty One, God the Lord who speaks and summons the earth from the rising of the sun to its setting," to a oneness that alone can bring peace.

In the theme and the far-flung call can be seen an analogy to the story of a shepherd on a lonely ranch in America's west. His violin, the only close companion during long winter evenings, was out of tune, and try as he would, the shepherd could not retune it. He wrote to one of the national radio networks and asked if, on a certain evening when their orchestra was scheduled to broadcast, they would have the first violinist sound the 'A' so he could bring his own instrument into harmony again. The designated night arrived and across the miles from the city, to the Isolated farmhouse went the message. "Stand by for the 'A', and join us in Beethoven's Pastorale Symphony, which we are tonight dedicating to a shepherd in Montana." The great maestro sounded the 'A' several times, and then the orchestra led into the symphony. The shepherd caught the tone, brought his violin into key and in a moment, as his skill permitted, was blending the notes from his instrument to the harmonies of the orchestra.

Out over a globe-encircling network goes the "spirit of the World Day of Prayer." From it the peoples of the earth who "tune in" can get the true note and can bring their lives into closer harmony with the Great Maestro and with their fellow men. Each of us acknowledges that there is undue discord in the world, a world that has in it the making of a great symphony. But symphonies take constant keeping in tune, and they take hard work.

Here is revealed the second purpose of the World Day of Prayer beyond the spiritual fellowship. It is the desire to work and to help others that comes as a result of study, prayer and fellowship. This expresses itself in an offering, poured out on behalf of many needs.

Women and children and their menfolk, having recently learned to read, eagerly pore over magazines that help direct them on child care, sanitation, and gardening. They read in Spanish, Hindi, Mayan, Arabic, Amharic, Persian Otelcia.

Young women come and go from buildings that are new. And it is a new fact that in Africa women have an equal opportunity with men in getting an education. The World Day of Prayer offerings have helped make possible the Women's Center at the Protestant Medical Institute at Kimpese in the Congo.

St. Mark's Church In Shreveport To Raise $700,000

SHREVEPORT, (Special) —Plans for the erection of a new sanctuary building for St. Mark's Episcoapl Church have been announced with the launching of a campaign to raise $700,000. Estimated cost of the new structure will bring the total up to $1,000,000 it is reported.

J. Pat Beaird, president of the J. B. Beaird Corp. has been appointed general chairman for the drive.

The construction of the new edifice is a part of the planned growth fo St. Mark's as was first scheduled in 1946. Then it was planned that the present church building would become the educational building and a parochial school.

The new building will be erected on the lot in front of the present building fronting on Fairfield and Rutherford streets.

The needs for a large building has long been apparent. The seating capacity is now limited to 350 which will be virtually tripled in the new building.

DR. JAS. RICHARDS

Alabama Church To Hear Address By Dr. Richards

Dr. James McDowell Richards, moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church, U. S., will be one of the principal speakers at the annual Laymen's Association of Red River Presbytery meeting which will be held at the Alabama Presbyterian church near Choudrant February 22. His subject will be "A Time for Greatness."

This will be the 37th annual meeting of this group, comprised of all men who are members of Presbyterian churches in north Louisiana to a point a little south of Monroe. Charles Griffis of Rayville is president and M. E. Mischler of Shreveport is vice president. Registration for the all - day meeting will open at 9:30 a.m., and the meeting will get underway at 10 o'clock.

Dr. Richards has been president of Columbia Theological Seminary at Decatur, Ga., since 1932. He also serves as professor of practical theology. He holds degrees from the following colleges and universities: B. A. from Davidson College in 1922 and D. D. in 1933; M. A. from Princeton University in 1923; B. A. from Oxford University in England in 1925; M. A. as a Rhodes Scholar at Oxford in 1930 and a B. D. from Columbia Theological Seminary in 1928

He was ordained as a Presbyterian minister in 1928 and served as pastor of several churches in Georgia until 1932 when he was elected president of Columbia Theological Seminary. Dr. Richards is president of the board of trustees at Davidson College, is a member of the permanent committee on Christian Education and chairman of the Board of Church Extension of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. He served as vice president of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America in 1942-44 and was a member of the executive committee of that body from 1941 to 1950. He was president of the Presbyterian Educational Association of the South in 1947 and was elected moderator of the Presbyterian Church, U. S., for 1955-56.

Distressed Are Comforted With Prayer By Phone

The First Presbyterian church, a few days ago, instituted "Bet a Prayer by Telephone", in quite similar manner as one gets through courtesy of the Ouachita National bank, the time of the day over the telephone. Call 5-3166 any hour of the day or night and this brief but stimulating prayer is available.

The idea was first tried out in New York City and met with great success. Now other northern cities put the plan in use, and it is now getting a hold in the South. The Rev. W. H. McFadden states that his church has now four phones in use and it is possible to get the prayer, the phraseology changed each day by the pastor.

Sometimes the past week the line has been busy for some fairly long intervals, but this only accentuates that this prayer is needed in demand at many hours of day and night.

Martin Luther Film To Be Shown Tonight

The Martin Luther Film will be shown in the West Monroe Methodist Church sanctuary Sunday night at 7:30. This will take the place of the regular service.

REV. BAYNE E. DRISKELL

Rev. Driskell, Noted Evangelist, To Speak Here

The Rev. Bayne E. Driskell, of Stillwater, Okla. national evangelist for the Disciples of Christ (Christian church) will be in Monroe four days to lead a revival series in the First Christian church, Monroe.

He will speak to the assembled classes of the church school and deliver the sermon at the morning hour Sunday. There will be ample facilities for small children in the nursery.

Reverend Driskell is author of "A Comprehensive Evangelistic Plan which is the result of 20 years of study and research. He has had phenominal success with it in many churches all over the country. In Indianapolis alone 3,529 were added in a single day. Last Sunday in Shreveport goal set were exceeded.

Twenty churches have been led through this wonderful man to double their membership rolls.

Miss Sarah Kees Now Youth Leader

URANIA, Feb. 11 —(Special) — Miss Sarah Lynn Kees, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Kees, of Urania, will assume duties as youth worker for the Woman's Missionary Union of Arizona on February 15.

Miss Kees, who graduated from Louisiana Tech in January, will be stationed in Phoenix.

At Louisiana Tech Miss Kees was active in both religious and social activities while majoring in music. She served on the executive council of the Baptist Student Union and was president of the Young Women's Association.

Today's YOUR GUIDING STAR Message:

0. II John 8. Look to yourself, that you may not lose what you have worked for, but may win a full reward.
1. I John 5:4. This is the victory that overcomes the world, our faith.
2. Heb. 12:5. Do not regard lightly discipline, nor lose courage when you are punished.
3. Prov. 28:2. When a land transgresses it has many rulers; but with men of understanding and knowledge its stability will long continue.
4. Heb. 13:9. Do not be led away by diverse and strange teachings; not by foods, which have not benefited their adherents.

Friday Proclaimed World Day Of Prayer

Monroe Mayor John E. Coon and West Monroe Mayor J. Allen Norris have proclaimed Friday, February 17, as "World Day of Prayer" in the Twin Cities.

The proclamation was issued in conjunction with other similar proclamations all over the United States naming that day as "World Day of Prayer."

The United Council of Church Women asked for the proclamations on "an international, interdenominational, interracial basis to join the people of the world together in the furtherance of the doctrine, 'The Lord is Thy Keeper'."

The proclamation urged that residents of the Twin Cities observe some specific meeting on Friday, or pause for one minute of prayer at 12 noon.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST
No. 2nd at Auburn
"Soul" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, February 12, 1956.
The Golden Text is: "I will set my tabernacle among you: and my soul shall not abhor you. And I will walk among you, and will be your God, and ye shall be my people." (Lev. 26:11, 12).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "O bless our God, ye people, and make the voice of his praise to be heard: Which holdeth our soul in life, and suffereth not our feet to be moved." (Ps. 66:8, 9).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriputers" by Mary Baker Eddy: "As used in Christian Science, Soul is properly the synonym of Spirit, or God; but out of Science, soul is identical with sense, with material sensation." (482).

Entire Globe Plans To Celebrate Day Of Prayer

A day of prayer begun by a small group of U. S. women seventy years ago, will be marked by millions of Christians around the globe in services dedicated to world peace and understanding. On Friday, the World Day of Prayer will be observed in more than 20,000 U. S. communities and in more than 134 other countries on almost every continent and island.

At services circling the earth for more than twenty-four hours, people of all ages and races will pray in more than a thousand languages and dialects for understanding among the nations of the world. And with their prayers will go offerings of money and material goods to help relieve human need and suffering wherever it exists. In the United States alone last year, World Day of Prayer offerings provided more than $460,958 for co-operative Christian ministries in health, education, and welfare at home and abroad.

Sponsored in the United States by United Church Women a general department of the National Council of Churches, the program is prepared each year by an author from one of the 134 co-operating countries. This seventieth year is marked by a service written by American Indian leaders from the Cook Training School in Phoenix, Arizona. With the theme, "One flock, one shepherd," it abounds in the picturesque and expressive language of a people living close to nature, the lessons in tree and leaf, in the winds, in the sunset. Its call is from "The Mighty One, God the Lord who speaks and summons the earth from the rising of the sun to its setting," to a oneness that alone can bring peace.

In the theme and the far-flung call can be seen an analogy to the story of a shepherd on a lonely ranch in America's west. His violin, the only close companion during long winter evenings, was out of tune, and try as he would, the shepherd could not retune it. He wrote to one of the national radio networks and asked if, on a certain evening when their orchestra was scheduled to broadcast, they would have the first violinist sound the 'A' so he could bring his own instrument into harmony again. The designated night arrived and across the miles from the city, to the isolated farmhouse went the message. "Stand by for the 'A', and join us in Beethoven's Pastorale Symphony, which we are tonight dedicating to a shepherd in Montana." The great maestro sounded the 'A' several times, and then the orchestra led into the symphony. The shepherd caught the tone, brought his violin into key and in a moment, as his skill permitted, was blending the notes from his instrument to the harmonies of the orchestra.

Out over a globe-encircling network goes the "spirit of the World Day of Prayer." From it the peoples of the earth who "tune in" can get the true note and can bring their lives into closer harmony with the Great Maestro and with their fellow men. Each of us acknowledges that there is undue discord in the world, a world that has in it the making of a great symphony. But symphonies take constant keeping in tune, and they take hard work.

Here is revealed the second purpose of the World Day of Prayer beyond the spiritual fellowship. It is the desire to work and to help others that comes as a result of study, prayer and fellowship. This expresses itself in an offering, poured out on behalf of many needs.

Women and children and their menfolk, having recently learned to read, eagerly pore over magazines that help direct them on child care, sanitation, and gardening. They read in Spanish, Hindi, Mayan, Arabic, Amharic, Persian Otelela.

Young women come and go from buildings that are new. And it is a new fact that in Africa women have an equal opportunity with men in getting an education. The World Day of Prayer offerings have helped make possible the Women's Center at the Protestant Medical Institute at Kimpese in the Congo.

St. Mark's Church In Shreveport To Raise $700,000

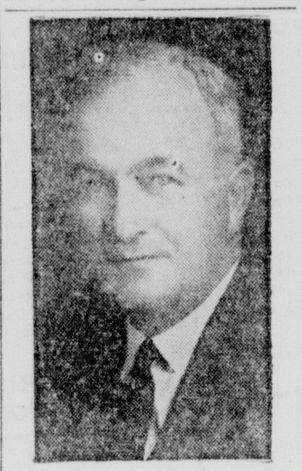
SHREVEPORT, (Special) —Plans for the erection of a new sanctuary building for St. Mark's Episcoapl Church have been announced with the launching of a campaign to raise $700,000. Estimated cost of the new structure will bring the total up to $1,000,000 it is reported.

J. Pat Beaird, president of the J. B. Beaird Corp. has been appointed general chairman for the drive.

The construction of the new edifice is a part of the planned growth fo St. Mark's as was first scheduled in 1946. Then it was planned that the present church building would become the educational building and a parochial school.

The new building will be erected on the lot in front of the present building fronting on Fairfield and Rutherford streets.

The needs for a large building has long been apparent. The seating capacity is now limited to 350 which will be virtually tripled in the new building.



DR. JAS. RICHARDS

Alabama Church To Hear Address By Dr. Richards

Dr. James McDowell Richards, moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church, U. S., will be one of the principal speakers at the annual Laymen s Association of Red River Presbytery meeting which will be held at the Alabama Presbyterian church near Choudrant February 22. His subject will be "A Time for Greatness."

This will be the 37th annual meeting of this group, comprised of all men who are members of Presbyterian churches in north Louisiana to a point a little south of Monroe. Charles Griffis of Rayville is president and M. E. Mischler of Shreveport is vice president. Registration for the all - day meeting will open at 9:30 a.m., and the meeting will get underway at 10 o'clock.

Dr. Richards has been president of Columbia Theological Seminary at Decatur, Ga., since 1932. He also serves as professor of practical theology. He holds degrees from the following colleges and universities: B. A. from Davidson College in 1922 and D. D. in 1933; M. A. from Princeton University in 1923; B. A. from Oxford University in England in 1925; M. A. as a Rhodes Scholar at Oxford in 1930 and a B. D. from Columbia Theological Seminary in 1928

He was ordained as a Presbyterian minister in 1928 and served as pastor of several churches in Georgia until 1932 when he was elected president of Columbia Theological Seminary. Dr. Richards is president of the board of trustees at Davidson College, is a member of the permanent committee on Christian Education and chairman of the Board of Church Extension of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. He served as vice president of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America in 1942-44 and was a member of the executive committee of that body from 1941 to 1950. He was president of the Presbyterian Educational Association of the South in 1947 and was elected moderator of the Presbyterian Church, U. S., for 1955-56.

Distressed Are Comforted With Prayer By Phone

The First Presbyterian church, a few days ago, instituted "Bet a Prayer by Telephone", in quite similar manner as one gets through courtesy of the Ouachita National bank, the time of the day over the telephone. Call 5-3166 any hour of the day or night and this brief but stimulating prayer is available.

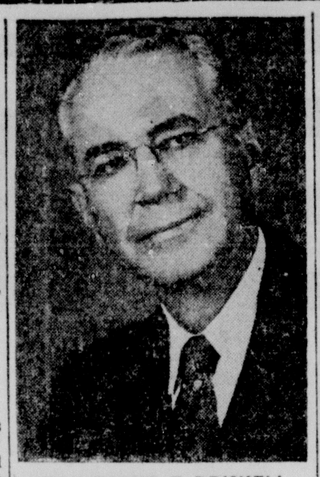
The idea was first tried out in New York City and met with great success. Now other northern cities put the plan in use, and it is now getting a hold in the South. The Rev. W. H. McFadden states that his church has now four phones in use and it is possible to get the prayer, the phraseology changed each day by the pastor.

Sometimes the past week the line has been busy for some fairly long intervals, but this only accentuates that this prayer is neeeded in demand at many hours of day and night.

Martin Luther Film To Be Shown Tonight

The Martin Luther Film will be shown in the West Monroe Methodist Church sanctuary Sunday night at 7:30. This will take the place of the regular service.

Add chili powder to canned stewed tomatoes for extra zip.



REV. BAYNE E. DRISKELL

Rev. Driskell, Noted Evangelist, To Speak Here

The Rev. Bayne E. Driskell, of Stillwater, Okla. national evangelist for the Disciples of Christ (Christian church) will be in Monroe four days to lead a revival series in the First Christian church, Monroe.

He will speak to the assembled classes of the church school and deliver the sermon at the morning hour Sunday. There will be ample facilities for small children in the nursery.

Reverend Driskell is author of "A Comprehensive Evangelistic Plan which is the result of 20 years of study and research. He has had phenominal success with it in many churches all over the country. In Indianapolis alone 3,529 were added in a single day. Last Sunday in Shreveport goal set were exceeded.

Twenty churches have been led through this wonderful man to double their membership rolls.

Miss Sarah Kees Now Youth Leader

URANIA, Feb. 11 —(Special) — Miss Sarah Lynn Kees, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Kees, of Urania, will assume duties as youth worker for the Woman's Missionary Union of Arizona on February 15.

Miss Kees, who graduated from Louisiana Tech in January, will be stationed in Phoenix.

At Louisiana Tech Miss Kees was active in both religious and social activities while majoring in music. She served on the executive council of the Baptist Student Union and was president of the Young Women's Association.

In 1953 Miss Kees represented La. Tech as a summer missionary in Arizona.

Friday Proclaimed World Day Of Prayer

Monroe Mayor John E. Coon and West Monroe Mayor J. Allen Norris have proclaimed Friday, February 17, as "World Day of Prayer" in the Twin Cities.

The proclamation was issued in conjunction with other similar proclamations all over the United States naming that day as "World Day of Prayer."

The United Council of Church Women asked for the proclamations on "an international, interdenominational, interracial basis to join the people of the world together in the furtherance of the doctrine, 'The Lord is Thy Keeper'."

The proclamation urged that residents of the Twin Cities observe some specific meeting on Friday, or pause for one minute of prayer at 12 noon.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST
No. 2nd at Auburn

"Soul" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, February 12, 1956.
The Golden Text is: "I will set my tabernacle among you: and my soul shall not abhor you. And I will walk among you, and will be your God, and ye shall be my people." (Lev. 26:11, 12).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "O bless our God, ye people, and make the voice of his praise to be heard: Which holdeth our soul in life, and suffereth not our feet to be moved." (Ps. 66:8, 9).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriputers" by Mary Baker Eddy: "As used in Christian Science, Soul is properly the synonym of Spirit, or God; but out of Science, soul is identical with sense, with material sensation." (482).

Today's YOUR GUIDING STAR Message:

0. II John 8. Look to yourself, that you may not lose what you have worked for, but may win a full reward.
1. I John 5:4. This is the victory that overcomes the world, our faith.
2. Heb. 12:5. Do not regard lightly discipline, nor lose courage when you are punished.
3. Prov. 28:2. When a land transgresses it has many rulers; but with men of understanding and knowledge its stability will long continue.
4. Heb. 13:9. Do not be led away by diverse and strange teachings; not by foods, which have not benefited their adherents.

THE HOME SHIFT—

With Mildred Swift

Petunias Gain In Popularity

The rains were wonderful and we haven't had too much. This old earth got pretty dry and wrinkled during the long drought years. It takes a heap of rain to catch up.

Ramblin' As Usual

Standing at the window washing dishes last week, I noticed my winter honeysuckle in bloom. In fact it has been in bloom two or more weeks. Think her (or his or its) feelings were deeply hurt because I failed to mention it along with other bloomers. Really, it's such a quiet, undemanding plant that it is often overlooked. It boasts no gorgeous blossoms, just a little white one with a vague kind of fragrance — not an evergreen and yet not completely deciduous. This honeysuckle was used quite a lot in past years — usually in screen planting even though it is not an evergreen.

Did you see the dwarf confederate jasmine last Wednesday on "Open House"? It is the non-running type and wonderful for ground cover and has the same white bloom that smells so very sweet. This can be found in your nurseries here in north Louisiana.

Many gardeners are finding scale and lots of it on camellias. It's too early to spray with oil emulsion. Wait until danger of freeze is over for that, but you can spray with a strong solution of laundry soap. This will help until spraying time.

All-American Selections

Not long ago we talked about the latest All - America rose, Circus, and the winners in that field in gladiolus, Appleblossom and Royal Stewart. There were only two winners in the All - America Selections this year. A petunia and a carrot. The petunia that was the lone flower winner goes by the name of Fire Dance. It is scarlet red with a flashlight yellow throat. It belongs to the grandiflora class of petunias with much larger, fringed or ruffled flowers. The plant itself is compact and spreading, growing about twelve inches high. They will spread as much as 30 inches if given room. The flowers measure four inches in size and are freely produced from spring to fall. A few plants can make a colorful display.

If you plan to plant from seeds, petunias should be planted as soon as possible. They germinate better if the weather is not too hot and our winter days will be over before you know it. Petunia seed seldom are saved if planted in open beds. Use a pot or box with good drainage, and bake your soil to disinfect it.

Another petunia that's very much in gardening news is Paleface, a white 1955 introduction. The supply of seed was inadequate to meet the demand last season.

Food News

Pork took a sharp rise in price but this is expected to be temporary. When fall pigs start coming to market in a few weeks, the price should drop again. Beef is the headliner, and quality cuts are your good buy. Poultry prices are the same as in past weeks but a rise in prict is expected.

The cold weather halted the downward trend of egg prices but they are cheaper than a month ago. Plenty of tuna packed in oil makes the price attractive. Your packs are: grated, chunk, light meat, and white meat. White meat is the most delicate in flavor and highest in price.

You'll find good quality in the potatoes you buy. Farmers are sending only their best "spuds" to market, because there is keen competition in the potato markets. Mr. Producer is selling those lower grade potatoes for livestock feed, starch manufacture or other non-food use. Some potatoes are scrubbed and tubbed before reaching you, the consumer. Some have a heavy waxing, but this treatment does not improve the keeping quality.

Other food plentifuls in this are peanut butter, dried peas, and beans, lettuce, celery, apples, sweet potatoes, cabbage, onions oranges.

The cotton people tell us to pick cotton right away — meaning cotton materials. The gorgeous array of treated cottons are in the stores and they just can't last too long. When you see you'll buy, they are so tempting. The companion pieces have so many interesting possibilities — suits, two piese dresses, trims. Remember your interfacings make the difference in a cheap dress or an expensive one. They just give that "oomph" to your garments.

Large handbags and more hat are the big fashion leaders. More hat means a big picture hat for summer. These just seem to be fashioned for tall graceful women like Mildred Ewing and Martha Kilpatrick. I'll never forget the day I observed while Mildred was trying on big hats in a downtown store. She looked like a fashion model. Yours truly has always yearned for a hat that style, but being short and dumpy had refrained. But — on this day — I just looked from my head up and took home a picture hat. But alas! When I looked in a full length mirror the proverbial frog under a toad stool was a graceful sight compared to me. Moral of the sorry — look at yourself in a full length mirror before buying. We can't all be tall and graceful like Mildred Ewing and Martha Kilpatrick. Neither can we all wear the very tight skirts. Honest — some of the girls in New Orleans had to hobble to get about. Plump people look plumper in snug fitting clothes.

Announcements

I'm leaving the list of best buys with Mrs. Swanner, each week. Several have called in for these so by leaving them with the secretary you can get them any time you want to shop. Just call 3-2251 and ask for Mrs. Swanner and she'll read the list to you. These are also given each Thursday on radio at 9:05 and every Friday on TV Open House.

Your Open House shows fir this next week are: Monday, Katherine Hoyt from Winnsboro will demonstrate, "Take Care of Your Eyes"; Tuesday, Anne Houser will demonstrate "Poultry Practices"; Wednesday, Mary Margaret will bring the flower arrangements from the Fifth District Garden Center, and Mr. Wright from Louisiana Tech will give his sixth lesson in flower arrangement; Thursday, TBA; Friday is Marketing Day with Mildred and Mammy.

See you next Sunday.

Mrs. Evans Receives Honor At District Banquet

At a banquet in Alexandria last Saturday, another wonderful honor was bestowed on our own Jo Evans (Mrs. U. B. Evans, Ferriday). The yellow Crusenian Amaryllis, a new species to science, was named Amaryllis Evansae.

The announcement was made by Ira F. Nelson, Professof of Horticulture at Southwestern Louisiana Institute.

In paying tribute to Mrs. Evans, he said that she had organized the Louisiana Society for Horticultural Research which is domiciled at SLI.

In a telegram to Mrs. Evans and her daughter, Mrs. Marianna Evans Applegate, Mr. Nelson read the following message signed by himself and Hamilton P. Traub: "In recognition of your foresight and determined effort in connection with bringing new Amaryllis breeding stock to American horticulture the yellow Crusenian Amaryllis, which is a new species to science, shall forever bear the name Amaryllis Evansae". Mr. Nelson then presented Mrs. Evans with a plant of this new amaryllis bearing two exquisite pale yellow blooms. More than 200 gardeners and friends of Mrs. Evans attended the banquet which was sponsored by the Eighth District Federation of Garden Clubs.

Mr. Adrian Frylink of New York, director of the Travel Foundation presented Mrs. Evans with the annual award, as the woman who has done the most for American Horticulture in 1955. The award is a fully paid two and a-half month tour of European gardens. Prior to the presentation of the foundation's scroll, Mrs. E. B. Knotts, of Sicily Island, and director of the Fifth District, presented Mrs. Evans with a check for $100 and a bouquet of red roses in behalf of the District. Mrs. Evans endorsed the check for establishing a Horticultural Travel Scholarship fund of the Louisiana Garden Club Federation.

Mrs. Lewis M. Hull, Boonton, Jersey, a past president of the National Council of State Garden Clubs, told of Mrs. Evans work both on state and national levels. Many other distinguished guests were present to pay tribute to our leading horticulturist.

House plants were featured in the Horticulture section. Mrs. J. E. Jackson was awarded ribbons for large leaf coleus (grown from seed), Chenille Plant (Acalypha) and Alternanthera. All three of these make colorful house plants in the winter and provide color in our flower borders during the summer months.

Mrs. W. A. Kunze was awarded first place in the arraagement section. A lovely brown compote was selected for the mass arrangement in shades of tan and brown. Small brown cattails, dock and wheat were used for height. Sea oats and teazel provided transition in form and color. The arrangement was free-standing (to be seen from both sides) The focal area on one side was of bright yellow yarrow and a cluster of brown magnolia leaves. On the other side, a dozen wood roses, in shades of brown, were effectively grouped as a center of interest.

Second place award went to Mrs. F. P. Robinson for a composition in a copper kettle. Mrs. Robinson created a lovely crescent line with podocarpus (Japanese Yew) following the lines of the container. Emphasizing the curve of the crescent she used brilliant red-violet geraniums with their own foliage covering the rim of the container.

A third arrangement by Mrs. Kunze featured camellias. A black iron container was used for the line mass arrangement of Japanese Yew, accented with single red camellias with self foliage. Angel wing begonia leaves were skillfully placed at the base of design unifying the container and arrangement. Next Wednesday John Wright will be with us again with a flower arrangement lesson on television. One p.m. On Open House. The Garden Wonders Club of Bastrop will exhibit next Tuesday at the Center.

Spring Flowers Begin To Bloom

With the coming of the longer days, the heart of winter has at last relented, and early spring flowers are beginning to show themselves. With a very low average temperature, plants get held back just as they do farther north. February's long days will soon help spring flowers to make up for lost time, however, and, if we do not go into another long cold spell, everything will be up to schedule. Such are the vagaries of weather in the South!

The little golden flowers of the rare yellow spring colchicum that ordinarily open in spite of a thermometer that registers from ten to eighteen when it dips down in the first ten days of January have not bloomed yet. They are from a cold part of the world, and our winters are a joke to them. The citron colored hoop petticoat daffodils that flower in January are just ready to pop open now. And the buds of iris reticulata are just under the surface at the base of each leaf. It will take only one more shower to bring them out! The end of each leaf on these tiny bulbous irises has a well developed claw on it. At home in their native habitat, this strong little weapon is needed to pierce through the hard earth when Spring stirs these irises into action. The bulbs of these little irises seem to thrive in pots of gritty soil that keeps them from getting too wet.

The pots probably get very dry in summer after the leaves have died down, and this is just what they want.

In the garden, all the forms of Iris reticulata seem to die out from a fungous disease unless they are kept from too much moisture in our wet summers. Growing them in pots has another advantage: you know where they are all the time, and you can pull the pots up, enjoy the flowers in the house and set them back when they are through blooming.

Snowdrops, of course bloomed earlier and are still blooming in some gardens. You just have to try out the different kinds of snowdrops offered in the bulb catalogues and see if they like your garden. In some places in the South, they have gone native, but not all kinds will do this by any means. Southerners are apt to call snowflakes "snowdrops,"

They are a different genus with stems as long as daffodil stems. Every old garden has lots of them, and they bloom with the early and mid-season daffodils. The foliage is like daffodil foliage too, and the bulbs are the size of daffodil bulbs. Not so snowdrops; they have little bulbs, small foliage and tiny white and green flowers that are a different shape from snowflake flowers.

Speaking of snowflakes reminds one of the beautiful new variety called Gravetye Giant, a variety that has much larger flowers than the old-fashioned ones. The foliage is shorter and wider, and the whole effect more dainty than that of the old kinds. All of the snowflakes are useful in the spring garden to lighten the effect of the heavy masses of daffodils, especially the big trumpet types. The airy blossoms of the snowflakes are not effective the first two or three years after they are planted unless you set two or three bulbs together.

Monroe Maternal Clinic Starting 20 Years Service

Marking a real community service in social welfare, aiding financially underprivileged mothers, regardless of race or creed in the Twin Cities and Ouachita parish, the Monroe Maternal and Infant Welfare clinic is now starting its twentieth year of service. It is a non-sectarian organization designed, sponsored and maintained by the Catholic Daughters of America. It began to serve local needs in November 1936.

Members of the board of directors are as follows: Mrs. R. N. Slator, chairman; Mrs. L. A. Breard, Sr., Mrs. R. W. Glaholt, Mrs. B. W. Morrison, and Mrs. L. V. Tarver.

Its program is channeled to the social betterment of the needy, expectant mother and her family. Gifts of food, medicine, clothing and the incidentals required at childbirth are provided where money for the family is lacking. In cooperation with the Louisiana State Board of Health and its local health unit is its program of free prenatal care to expectant mothers who receive from some local physician written assurance that the case is one of need.

To a mother not seeking charity and whose means are limited the clinic is privileged to supply hospital advice and service for a very nominal fee that can be made available in worthy cases. This phase of clinic work in public service is available through the kindly cooperation of the Sisters at St. Francis Hospital.

Literally hundreds of families in the past 19 years have felt the benign influence of the Monroe Maternal and Infant Welfare in its wide scope of community work.

A recent report of the past year's activity presented to the board of directors showed that over 500 mothers applied for clinic care and that medicine, food, clothing, household furnishings and aid in the hospital were given 26 and that 17 layettes were given infants and 36 babies received milk.

At the Health Center, at St. John and Grammont street, the clinic is held every Tuesday morning starting at 8 a.m. with the physician and health department nurses in charge.

More than 160,000 acres of land in Michigan is used for state parks and recreation areas.

MARY HAWORTH'S MAIL

Longtime Friendship Is Threatened When Woman Takes Offense At Anothers' Gifts

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Gerda was born in Europe and has been educated in American schools. We were in school together some years ago and I came to value her as a person and best pal. We are in the same profession, and Gerda is now doing post-graduate study.

Since circumstances have separated us, I try to keep in touch by letter and personal visits when possible. But recently our friendship is threatened by a misunderstanding over gift-giving ...

I've always tried to be thoughtful about gift-giving—and give from the heart, as an expression of loving and sharing. When I last saw Gerda I asked what she wanted more than anything, and she said, "Money." So at Chrismas I sent her $10, together with inexpensive stationery which I thought might be useful (as I'd noticed she didn't have any.)

Donor Baffled By the Flare-up

Now Gerda has returned the money, and writes she has mailed back the stationery, too. In part her letter says, "You send me money and stationery because you think I need it. This is not your role, not the role of a friend—but of husband, parents, family, or the person herself ... Your gift reminds me of the Kwakitl Indians of the Northwest, who give gifts to show their superiority to the recipient. You probably had no such intention, but it somehow comes out that way ..."

Until now I had thought our interests and philosophies were alike. There was never any quarrelling in these years of friendship; and generosity has been mutually bestowed (and appreciated) many times. What could have happened in the past year to spark such a reaction from her? Is this a cultural difference not heretofore verbalized? Or, have I given just cause for offense, by an error in judgment or etiquette? And what can I do now? Please straighten me out ... R.M.

Critic Shows To Disadvantage

DEAR R.M.: Whatever your errors of judgment or etiquette, in sending gift-money and stationery to Gerda, her outraged response is far, far worse. Her critique of your offerings is boorish and brutally intended. Her ego health is in pretty bad shape, it seems.

The tenor of her letter indicates that she vacillates between self-contempt and intellectual pomposity. She fears patronage, such as might label her inferior; and tends to patronize, as if to assert her supremacy. She is pretty unstable, emotionally.

As for what happened this past year, to upset her so, and cause her to "take it out" on you at Christmas—your guess is as good as mine. But she sounds jealous—as if smarting from a fancied rejection. Maybe she felt your gifts were too offhand—as if you hadn't invested enough fond care in them. And possibly she construes this to mean that somebody else rates higher in your affections than she does, recently.

Seamy Side Of Intimacy

In any case, the nakedly familiar tone of her lecturing letter indicates that she has felt close to you, very much accepted by you, in the preceding chapters of friendship. And now all at once her neurosis is showing. It is characteristic of neurotics, to childishly abuse intimate friendships, by picking flaws in buddies, when unrelated events disturb them. And this trait is especially assertive in persons who are maladjusted to the opposite sex.

If this were merely a cultural difference, and Gerda had good manners, which are always kindly, she would have taken the thought for the deed, as the saying goes, and, recognizing your intent to please, would have thanked you nicely, even supposing you'd pulled a boner.

As for how to handle the incident, you've done nothing to apologize for, so don't apologize. But to be civil, you might send Gerda a bland note to say you are sorry your Christmas gifts boomeranged; and you've studied her remarks carefully. Then a line or two about other things, and sign off, amiably. Let her make the next move, and you keep your dignity. M.H.

Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write to her in care of this newspaper.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

QUESTION: I am a Christian and my family and I have always tried to pay our bills. However, in recent months we find ourselves getting behind in our payments and we do not know what to do. M. W.

ANSWER: There are two things you must do. First of all you should make a careful study of you budget and find out whether you are spending money for things which are not necessary; possibly good in themselves but with which you could just as well do without. Secondly, you should examine your own heart and see what place Christ has in your own life. Is He your God on Sunday but only a casual friend the rest of the week? Have you truly put Him first in your life? Christ has given us the answer to our economic problems but so often we fail to recognize the simplicity and the effectiveness of His plan. He tells us in the Bible: "But seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness; and all these things (houses, lands, food, clothing — the necessities of life) shall be added unto you." The heart of the promise is that we must put Him first in every area of our lives, and when we do, He provides all things necessary.

Petunias Gain In Popularity

The rains were wonderful and we haven't had too much. This old earth got pretty dry and wrinkled during the long drought years. It takes a heap of rain to catch up.

Ramblin' As Usual

Standing at the window washing dishes last week, I noticed my winter honeysuckle in bloom. In fact it has been in bloom two or more weeks. Think her (or his or its) feelings were deeply hurt because I failed to mention it along with other bloomers. Really, it's such a quiet, undemanding plant that it is often overlooked. It boasts no gorgeous blossoms, just a little white one with a vague kind of fragrance — not an evergreen and yet not completely deciduous. This honeysuckle was used quite a lot in past years — usually in screen planting even though it is not an evergreen.

Did you see the dwarf confederate jasmine last Wednesday on "Open House"? It is the non-running type and wonderful for ground cover and has the same white bloom that smells so very sweet. This can be found in your nurseries here in north Louisiana.

Many gardeners are finding scale and lots of it on camellias. It's too early to spray with oil emulsion. Wait until danger of freeze is over for that, but you can spray with a strong solution of laundry soap. This will help until spraying time.

All-American Selections

Not long ago we talked about the latest All - America rose, Circus, and the winners in that field in gladiolus, Appleblossom and Royal Stewart. There were only two winners in the All - America Selections this year. A petunia and a carrot. The petunia that was the lone flower winner goes by the name of Fire Dance. It is scarlet red with a flashlight yellow throat. It belongs to the grandiflora class of petunias with much larger, fringed or ruffled flowers. The plant itself is compact and spreading, growing about twelve inches high. They will spread as much as 30 inches if given room. The flowers measure four inches in size and are freely produced from spring to fall. A few plants can make a colorful display.

If you plan to plant from seeds, petunias should be planted as soon as possible. They germinate better if the weather is not too hot and our winter days will be over before you know it. Petunia seed seldom are saved if planted in open beds. Use a pot or box with good drainage, and bake your soil to disinfect it.

Another petunia that's very much in gardening news is Paleface, a white 1955 introduction. The supply of seed was inadequate to meet the demand last season.

Food News

Pork took a sharp rise in price but this is expected to be temporary. When fall pigs start coming to market in a few weeks, the price should drop again. Beef is the headliner, and quality cuts are your good buy. Poultry prices are the same as in past weeks but a rise in prict is expected.

The cold weather halted the downward trend of egg prices but they are cheaper than a month ago. Plenty of tuna packed in oil makes the price attractive. Your packs are: grated, chunk, light meat, and white meat. White meat is the most delicate in flavor and highest in price.

You'll find good quality in the potatoes you buy. Farmers are sending only their best "spuds" to market, because there is keen competition in the potato markets. Mr. Producer is selling those lower grade potatoes for livestock feed, starch manufacture or other nonfood use. Some potatoes are scrubbed and tubbed b e f o r e reaching you, the consumer. Some have a heavy waxing, but this treatment does not improve the keeping quality.

Other food plentifuls in this are peanut butter, d r i e d peas, and beans, lettuce, celery, apples, sweet potatoes, cabbage, onions oranges.

The cotton people tell us to pick cotton right away — meaning cotton materials. The gorgeous array of treated cottons are in the stores and they just can't last too long. When you see you'll buy, they are so tempting. The companion pieces have so many interesting possibilities — suits, two piese dresses, trims. Remember your interfacings make the difference in a cheap dress or an expensive one. They just give that "oomph" to your garments.

Large handbags and more hat are the big fashion leaders. More hat means a big picture hat for summer. These just seem to be fashioned for tall graceful women like Mildred Ewing and Martha Kilpatrick. I'll never forget the day I observed while Mildred was trying on big hats in a downtown store. She looked like a fashion model. Yours truly has always yearned for a hat that style, but being short and dumpy had refrained. But — on this day — I just looked from my head up and took home a picture hat. But alas! When I looked in a full length mirror the proverbial frog under a toad stool was a graceful sight compared to me. Moral of the sorry — look at yourself in a full length mirror before buying. We can't all be tall and graceful like Mildred Ewing and Martha Kilpatrick. Neither can we all wear the very tight skirts. Honest — some of the girls in New Orleans had to hobble to get about. Plump people look plumper in snug fitting clothes.

Announcements

I'm leaving the list of best buys with Mrs. Swanner, each week. Several have called in for these so by leaving them with the secretary you can get them any time you want to shop. Just call 3-2251 and ask for Mrs. Swanner and she'll read the list to you. These are also given each Thursday on radio at 9:05 and every Friday on TV Open House.

Your Open House shows fir this next week are: Monday, Katherine Hoyt from Winnsboro will demonstrate, "Take Care of Your Eyes"; Tuesday, Anne Houser will demonstrate "Poultry Practices"; Wednesday, Mary Margaret will bring the flower arrangements from the Fifth District Garden Center, and Mr. Wright from Louisiana Tech will give his sixth lesson in flower arrangement; Thursday, TBA; Friday is Marketing Day with Mildred and Mammy.

See you next Sunday.

Mrs. Evans Receives Honor At District Banquet

At a banquet in Alexandria last Saturday, another wonderful honor was bestowed on our own Jo Evans (Mrs. U. B. Evans, Ferriday). The yellow Crusenian Amaryllis, a new species to science, was named Amaryllis Evansae.

The announcement was made by Ira F. Nelson, Professof of Horticulture at Southwestern Louisiana Institute.

In paying tribute to Mrs. Evans, he said that she had organized the Louisiana Society for Horticultural Research which is domiciled at SLI.

In a telegram to Mrs. Evans and her daughter, Mrs. Marianna Evans Applegate, Mr. Nelson read the following message signed by himself and Hamilton P. Traub: "In recognition of your foresight and determined effort in connection with bringing new Amaryllis breeding stock to American horticulture the yellow Crusenian Amaryllis, which is a new species to science, shall forever bear the name Amaryllis Evansae". Mr. Nelson then presented Mrs. Evans with a plant of this new amaryllis bearing two exquisite pale yellow blooms. More than 200 gardeners and friends of Mrs. Evans attended the banquet which was sponsored by the Eighth District Federation of Garden Clubs.

Mr. Adrian Frylink of New York, director of the Travel Foundation presented Mrs. Evans with the annual award, as the woman who has done the most for American Horticulture in 1955. The award is a fully paid two and a-half month tour of European gardens. Prior to the presentation of the foundation's scroll, Mrs. E. B. Knotts, of Sicily Island, and director of the Fifth District, presented Mrs. Evans with a check for $100 and a bouquet of red roses in behalf of the District. Mrs. Evans endorsed the check for establishing a Horticultural Travel Scholarship fund of the Louisiana Garden Club Federation.

Mrs. Lewis M. Hull, Boonton, Jersey, a past president of the National Council of State Garden Clubs, told of Mrs. Evans work both on state and national levels. Many other distinguished guests were present to pay tribute to our leading horticulturist.

House plants were featured in the Horticulture section. Mrs. J. E. Jackson was awarded ribbons for large leaf coleus (grown from seed), Chenille Plant (Acalypha) and Alternanthera. All three of these make colorful house plants in the winter and provide color in our flower borders during the summer months.

Mrs. W. A. Kunze was awarded first place in the arraagement section. A lovely brown compote was selected for the mass arrangement in shades of tan and brown. Small brown cattails, dock and wheat were used for height. Sea oats and teazel provided transition in form and color. Emphasizing the curve of the crescent she used brilliant red-violet geraniums with their own foliage covering the rim of the container.

A third arrangement by Mrs. Kunze featured camellias. A black iron container was used for the line mass arrangement of Japanese Yew, accented with single red camellias with self foliage. Angel wing begonia leaves were skillfully placed at the base of design unifying the container and arrangement. Next Wednesday John Wright will be with us again with a flower arrangement lesson on television. One p.m. On Open House. The Garden Wonders Club of Bastrop will exhibit next Tuesday at the Center.

Or, have I given just cause for offense, by an error in judgment or etiquette? And what can I do now? Please straighten me out ... R.M.

Critic Shows To Disadvantage

DEAR R.M.: Whatever your errors of judgment or etiquette, in sending gift-money and stationery to Gerda, her outraged response is far, far worse. Her critique of your offerings is boorish and brutally intended. Her ego health is in pretty bad shape, it seems.

The tenor of her letter indicates that she vacillates between self-contempt and intellectual pomposity. She fears patronage, such as might label her inferior; and tends to patronize, as if to assert her supremacy. She is pretty unstable, emotionally.

As for what happened this past year, to upset her so, and cause her to "take it out" on you at Christmas—your guess is as good as mine. But she sounds jealous—as if smarting from a fancied rejection. Maybe she felt your gifts were too offhand—as if you hadn't invested enough fond care in them. And possibly she construes this to mean that somebody else rates higher in your affections than she does, recently.

Seamy Side Of Intimacy

In any case, the nakedly familiar tone of her lecturing letter indicates that she has felt close to you, very much accepted by you, in the preceding chapters of friendship. And now all at once her neurosis is showing. It is characteristic of neurotics, to childishly abuse intimate friendships, by picking flaws in buddies, when unrelated events disturb them. And this trait is especially assertive in persons who are maladjusted to the opposite sex.

If this were merely a cultural difference, and Gerda had good manners, which are always kindly, she would have taken the thought for the deed, as the saying goes, and, recognizing your intent to please, would have thanked you nicely, even supposing you'd pulled a boner.

As for how to handle the incident, you've done nothing to apologize for, so don't apologize. But to be civil, you might send Gerda a bland note to say you are sorry your Christmas gifts boomeranged; and you've studied her remarks carefully. Then a line or two about other things, and sign off, amiably. Let her make the next move, and you keep your dignity. M.H.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

QUESTION: I am a Christian and my family and I have always tried to pay our bills. However, in recent months we find ourselves getting behind in our payments and we do not know what to do. M. W.

ANSWER: There are two things you must do. First of all you should make a careful study of you budget and find out whether you are spending money for things which are not necessary; possibly good in themselves but with which you could just as well do without. Secondly, you should examine your own heart and see what place Christ has in your own life. Is He your God on Sunday but only a casual friend the rest of the week? Have you truly put Him first in your life? Christ has given us the answer to our economic problems but so often we fail to recognize the simplicity and the effectiveness of His plan. He tells us in the Bible: "But seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness; and all these things (houses, lands, food, clothing — the necessities of life) shall be added unto you." The heart of the promise is that we must put Him first in every area of our lives, and when we do, He provides all things necessary.

TV Notes

Herb Shriner has signed a five-year contract with CBS for his own weekly one-hour variety show beginning next fall. He'll be through with "Two for the Money" after this season.

TV waves do funny things at times. A viewer in mid-winter Minneapolis was startled recently to pick up a live baseball telecast on his set. Fans in shirtsleeves, too. A freak in the upper air had brought it to him all the way from Cuba.

The Governor's Award, highest honor of the state of Ohio, has been given to the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. for its long sponsorship of "The Voice of Firestone" on radio and TV.

Reminder: Date of the return of Imogene Coca to TV is Feb. 26. 7:30 p.m., when she'll headline a Max Liebman spectacular on NBC. It's a one-show deal. Her co-star will be Tony Randall, another former TV regular who has been seen infrequently since "Mr. Peepers" went off the air last spring.

Charles Applewhite, the pop singer who came out of Texas a few seasons back, will be portraying something like his own story when he does an acting job March 25 for a "GE Theater" production on CBS. The hero of "Exits and Entrances" is a Texas lad who tries to hit the big times as a recording star.

On Feb. 18 ABC will present an hour-long dramatization at 7:30 p. m. showing the origin of "The Lone Ranger." This will mark the 23rd anniversay of this veteran which, of course, started on radio. This program is entirely separate from the regular series on ABC Thursday nights.

Jackie Gleason told some interviewing teen-agers that there just is no magic formula for breaking into TV. In the case of almost everyone, it boils down to a bit of luck of some sort. "But," he added, "you must be ready for the break when it comes; so, experience, study and practice are really important."

WABD, DuMont local station in New York, has a new type of motion picture program called "Tune in Anytime Theater." Each day a movie is presented three times in quick succession.

Jack Hawkins, one of Britain's finest actors, has been added to that already stellar array of talent for the March 5 NBC version of Shaw's "Caesar and Cleopatra."

Singer Frankie Laine has recorded the theme song of the CBS "Adventures of Robin Hood" program. His is the sixth platter version to hit the market.

HAROLD SINCLAIR

BOOKS

The Horse Soldiers. By Harold Sinclair Harper.

It is April, 1863. Colonel Marlowe is in session with Generals Hurlbut and Smith, in Hurlbut's Northern Mississippi headquarters. Grant, aiming at Vicksburg, wants to cut off the strongpoint's supplies by severing the Southern railroad.

Marlowe is to lead a cavalry brigade through heavily invested enemy territory and smash rails and telegraph wires near Newton.

So off we start in this novel, with some 1,200 mounted men — dragoons in a romance, they joke, horse soldiers in real war. They ride from La Grange 600 miles the length of Mississippi, come out in Louisiana, 16 days later, mission accomplished but asleep on their feet, some dead and wounded left behind, bandaged, filthy, ragged.

Marlowe has difficult, individualistic subordinates, Keller the surgeon, and Gray, and Bryce the ex-teacher. The whole Western Confederacy is alerted, but by singular good luck and the sort of open-field running a novelist should not be allowed to get away with, the main force stays intact.

But Sinclair can't be blamed. It's the fault of history, for he bases his story on the famous Grierson's Raid. History is not overplayed, not sentimentalized, not falsified. There are superb passages of drama; the bloody loss of the first horse that steps up the speed of the story; the cruel mixture of justice and injustice by which "the best men get the roughest job;" the laying out of the wounded, with touching symbolism, under lilacs in bloom; the exhausted Bryce's dream confounding Athenians and Syracusans with Yanks and Rebs, Nicias with Buell, Thucydides' war with our great conflict. This is the best Civil War novel of this season and many others; it's a bang-up good story, a bang-bang-bang-up good one.

W. G. Rogers

Record Reviews

Emory Cook's "The Compleat in Fidelytie" is either going to be one of the best or one of the worst long - playing records of 1956. It's all a matter of sense of humor.

Emory is the eminently successful head of Cook Laboratories, a Connecticut company which manufactures sound reproduction equipment, phonograph records and other related items.

In his spare time Cook goes on sound collection missions. He has recorded the sound of steam locomotives ("Rail Dynamics"), celestial noises, jazz jamborees, native music of the West Indies, etc.

Being a big man in the making of hi-fi equipment, Cook got fed up with what he believes are pretentious hi-fi testing records. So he assembled some of his own sounds in a move to put an end to such projects.

His answer is "The Compleat in Fidelytie," now available on the Cook label. It is an assemblage of nice noises such as the blowing of a train whistle, funny noises such as the playback of an old cylinder record, deafening noises such as the roar of a jet plane, and nerve-wracking noises such as the crying of a leather - lunged baby.

You have to have an unusual sense of humor to appreciate this record, and if you do, "The Compleat in Fidelytie" will be a prized item. If you're nervous, you'll throw it in the nearest ash can. (I'm keeping mine just to entertain or annoy guests who drop in).

On the silky side, Capitol has come forth with music that will soothe jangled nerves. It's called "Music To Change Her Mind," starring Jackie Gleason and his orchestra.

Featured are a mellow trumpet and a background of strings on 15 soft numbers, including "She's Funny That Way," "Dancing in the Dark" and "It's the Talk of the Town."

Tops in pops — "Lipstick and Candy and Rubbersole Shoes" by Julius LaRosa (RCA-Victor), "Helen of Troy Theme" by Leroy Holmes and his Orchestra (MGM), "Vino Vino" by the Gaylords (Mercury) and "Kiss and Run" by Peggy King (Columbia).

Best revivals — "Tin Pan Alley Medley" by Crazy Otto (seven numbers on one 45 rpm) on the Decca label and "Am I Blue" by Bill Farrell (Mercury).

Best parody of the week — "Sixteen Tons," a Yiddish takeoff on the popular hit, by Mickey Katz (Capitol).

STAMPS

Perhaps one of the reasons for such popularity is that philately is never static. A variety of stamps can be collected from hundreds of countries. Each year thousands of new stamps are issued.

That's why many collectors, after serious work in the hobby, soon specialize. Some may collect adhesives of only one country. Others may want a group of countries such as British Colonies, Central America or the Middle East.

Coming into prominence, especially in English - speaking lands, is the topical specialist. This individual collects stamps pertaining to one subject — sports, religion, music, aviation, animals or railroads.

Take sports for example. Here are some sports that have appeared on postage stamps: yacht racing — Bahamas, polo-Iran, salmon fishing — Newfoundland, baseball — United States, spear fishing —Fiji, soccer — Bulgaria, gymnastics — Czechoslovakia, wrestling — Finland, tug of war — France, auto racing — Italy, javelin throwing — Japan, basketball—Monaco, boxing — Netherlands, figure skating — Poland, tennis—Russia, ice hockey — Sweden, putting the stone — Switzerland.

Many nations have issued special sports sets honoring specific athletic meets or Olympic Games. Hungary has had several such sets which have included skiing, skating, soccer, hurdling, fencing, hammer throwing and water polo.

If one were interested in saving stamps on animals, such a collection might include: goose — Canada, pheasant — Japan, grouse—Finland, elephant — Ceylon, caribou— Newfoundland, gazelle—Togo, lion — Mozambique, bison — United States, leopard — Belgian Congo, Alpine hare — Liechtenstein.

For fish enthusiasts there are: trout — Japan, swordfish — New Zealand, dolphin — Cayman Islands, sailfish — Seychelles.

Artists and works of art are likewise universal. Greece has issued a stamp showing St. Paul by El Greco. An Austrian stamp has Picture of a Woman by Kriehuber. Belgium has issued St. Magdalena by Gerard David and Self Portrait by Rubens.

One might even save stamps related to one person. Several countries have honored George Washington, Christopher Columbus, Florence Nightingale and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Organizations such as the Universal Postal Union, Red Cross and the United Nations have received philatelic honors all over the globe.

There are innumerable possibilities in topical collecting. It's up to you.

MUSIC

The New York Philharmonic - Symphony gave the world premiere of the newest work of Ralph Shapey, youthful composer, on Feb. 9, with Dimitri Mitropoulos conducting. It is a one - movement symphony in five sections, entitled: "Challenge: The Family of Man." The work was inspired by an exhibition of photographs at the Museum of Modern Arts with the title, "The Family of Man."

On the same program Jascha Heifetz, violinist, was soloist in Beethoven's violin concerto. He will tour Europe this spring and then hang up his bow for all of next season in order to have a "sabbatical" year of rest.

The sixth concert of the season of Thomas Scherman and the Little Orchestra featured two rarely heard sacred works — the 50th cantata of Johann Sebastian Bach and Schubert's A Flat Mass which he composed at the age of 22. The orchestra was joined by the Trinity Church Choir. The program also included Ralph Vaughan Williams' little known work, "Flos Campi," a suite for viola, small chorus, and orchestra.

The Metropolitan Opera season has advanced to the first presentations of "La Boheme" and "Der Rosenkavalier."

In the first, a pleasingly youthful cast gave the piece the aura of youth which is required by the story but is not always present. Lovely Lucine Amara was the Mimi, Jean Fenn the Musetta, and Giuseppe Campora the Roldolfo.

In the latter, Lisa Della Casa, sang the princess role for the first time at the Met, and Otto Edelmann gave his first Baron Ochs. Rise Stevens was back in her accustomed role of the cavalier. The Met hadn't staged "Der Rosenkavalier" since the 1952-53 season.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

'They're Either Too Young Or Too Old...!'

A recent letter from a young teen-ager says in part "Mother is afraid of growing older and I am afraid I will not grow old soon enough."

This just goes to show how people are harassed by age consciousness. Many women worry as they approach middle age, while both men and women are apt to be apologetic about their ages from middle age on.

Whenever we meet a person who never mentions age simply because he never thinks about it, that individual seems youthful. If we all could forget about age and just concentrate on life I think we would all be healthier, happier, and better looking.

Then think of all the teen-agers who are so impatient to grow up, to look grown-up and to make their own decisions. This impatience to make their own decisions is natural but it leads to a lot of turmoil between children and parents. This is too bad because it spoils so much fun they could have together.

The young lady who wrote the letter quoted above was worried because her bust had not developed by the age of 13½. She said that many of her friends of the same age already have curves.

Girls develop a bust at varying ages, some much sooner than others. There certainly is no need for worry if your bustline has not filled out by the age of 13 or even older.

Be patient about growing up. Enjoy the teen-age years and do not make them hectic by pulling at the leash. Soon enough you will have all the adult responsibilities you could ever hope for and you will look back on these carefree years wistfully at times. Before you know it you may be tempted to put your age back a few years rather than boost it.

Psychologists say that one of the best rules for vibrant living is to live fully in every period of life. Every age period has its advantages and special pleasures.

THE GREAT LAKES - 6
Lake Ontario

The smallest and most eastern of the Great Lakes -- Lake Ontario -- never freezes in the winter. This enables large ships to sail the entire length of the lake during any part of the year.

Lake Ontario lies between the Province of Ontario in Canada and the northwestern part of New York. Emptying into the Atlantic Ocean through the St. Lawrence river, Lake Ontario is connected with Lake Erie at the southwest by the Niagara river and the Welland Canal. It is connected with the Hudson river and New York City by the Erie Canal.

Wherever junior editors live -- in cities or on farms -- they are affected by the busy operations of the Great Lakes. All together the Lakes play a great part in the prosperity of both the United States and Canada. Truly they are deserving of their name -- Great Lakes.

JUNIOR EDITORS pays $10 for any reader's idea that is used. Write your suggestion to "Junior Editors" in care of this newspaper; it cannot be acknowledged or returned and in case of duplication of ideas, the first submission will be accepted.

TV Notes

Herb Shriner has signed a five-year contract with CBS for his own weekly one-hour variety show beginning next fall. He'll be through with "Two for the Money" after this season.

TV waves do funny things at times. A viewer in mid-winter Minneapolis was startled recently to pick up a live baseball telecast on his set. Fans in shirtsleeves, too. A freak in the upper air had brought it to him all the way from Cuba.

The Governor's Award, highest honor of the state of Ohio, has been given to the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. for its long sponsorship of "The Voice of Firestone" on radio and TV.

Reminder: Date of the return of Imogene Coca to TV is Feb. 26, 7:30 p.m., when she'll headline a Max Liebman spectacular on NBC. It's a one-show deal. Her co-star will be Tony Randall, another former TV regular who has been seen infrequently since "Mr. Peepers" went off the air last spring.

Charles Applewhite, the pop singer who came out of Texas a few seasons back, will be portraying something like his own story when he does an acting job March 25 for a "GE Theater" production on CBS. The hero of "Exits and Entrances" is a Texas lad who tries to hit the big times as a recording star.

On Feb. 18 ABC will present an hour-long dramatization at 7:30 p.m. showing the origin of "The Lone Ranger." This will mark the 23rd anniversay of this veteran which, of course, started on radio. This program is entirely separate from the regular series on ABC Thursday nights.

Jackie Gleason told some interviewing teen-agers that there just is no magic formula for breaking into TV. In the case of almost everyone, it boils down to a bit of luck of some sort. "But," he added, "you must be ready for the break when it comes; so, experience, study and practice are really important."

WABD, DuMont local station in New York, has a new type of motion picture program called "Tune in Anytime Theater." Each day a movie is presented three times in quick succession.

Jack Hawkins, one of Britain's finest actors, has been added to that already stellar array of talent for the March 5 NBC version of Shaw's "Caesar and Cleopatra."

Singer Frankie Laine has recorded the theme song of the CBS "Adventures of Robin Hood" program. His is the sixth platter version to hit the market.

You'll laugh 'til your eyes run!

HAROLD SINCLAIR

BOOKS

The Horse Soldiers. By Harold Sinclair Harper.

It is April, 1863. Colonel Marlowe is in session with Generals Hurlbut and Smith, in Hurlbut's Northern Mississippi headquarters. Grant, aiming at Vicksburg, wants to cut off the strongpoint's supplies by severing the Southern railroad.

Marlowe is to lead a cavalry brigade through heavily invested enemy territory and smash rails and telegraph wires near Newton.

So off we start in this novel, with some 1,200 mounted men — dragoons in a romance, they joke, horse soldiers in real war. They ride from La Grange 600 miles the length of Mississippi, come out in Louisiana, 16 days later, mission accomplished but asleep on their feet, some dead and wounded left behind, bandaged, filthy, ragged.

Marlowe has difficult, individualistic subordinates, Keller the surgeon, and Gray, and Bryce the ex-teacher. The whole Western Confederacy is alerted, but by singular good luck and the sort of open-field running a novelist should not be allowed to get away with, the main force stays intact.

But Sinclair can't be blamed. It's the fault of history, for he bases his story on the famous Grierson's Raid. History is not overplayed, not sentimentalized, not falsified. There are superb passages of drama; the bloody loss of the first horse that steps up the speed of the story; the cruel mixture of justice and injustice by which "the best men get the roughest job;" the laying out of the wounded, with touching symbolism, under lilacs in bloom; the exhausted Bryce's dream confounding Athenians and Syracusans with Yanks and Rebs. Nicias with Buell, Thucydides' war with our great conflict. This is the best Civil War novel of this season and many others; it's a bang-up good story, a bang-bang-bang-up good one.

Record Reviews

Emory Cook's "The Compleat in Fidelytie" is either going to be one of the best or one of the worst long - playing records of 1956. It's all a matter of sense of humor.

Emory is the eminently successful head of Cook Laboratories, a Connecticut company which manufactures sound reproduction equipment, phonograph records and other related items.

In his spare time Cook goes on sound collection missions. He has recorded the sound of steam locomotives ("Rail Dynamics"), celestial noises, jazz jamborees, native music of the West Indies, etc.

Being a big man in the making of hi-fi equipment, Cook got fed up with what he believes are pretentious hi-fi testing records. So he assembled some of his own sounds in a move to put an end to such projects.

His answer is "The Compleat in Fidelytie," now available on the Cook label. It is an assemblage of nice noises such as the blowing of a train whistle, funny noises such as the playback of an old cylinder record, deafening noises such as the roar of a jet plane, and nerve-wracking noises such as the crying of a leather - lunged baby.

You have to have an unusual sense of humor to appreciate this record, and if you do, "The Compleat in Fidelytie" will be a prized item. If you're nervous, you'll throw it in the nearest ash can. (I'm keeping mine just to entertain or annoy guests who drop in).

On the silky side, Capitol has come forth with music that will soothe jangled nerves. It's called "Music To Change Her Mind," starring Jackie Gleason and his orchestra.

Featured are a mellow trumpet and a background of strings on 15 soft numbers, including "She's Funny That Way," "Dancing in the Dark" and "It's the Talk of the Town."

Tops in pops — "Lipstick and Candy and Rubbersole Shoes" by Julius LaRosa (RCA-Victor), "Helen of Troy Theme" by Leroy Holmes and his Orchestra (MGM), "Vino Vino" by the Gaylords (Mercury) and "Kiss and Run" by Peggy King (Columbia).

Best revivals — "Tin Pan Alley Medley" by Crazy Otto (seven numbers on one 45 rpm) on the Decca label and "Am I Blue" by Bill Farrell (Mercury).

Best parody of the week — "Sixteen Tons," a Yiddish takeoff on the popular hit, by Mickey Katz (Capitol).

STAMPS

Year after year surveys reveal that stamp collecting ranks among the leading hobbies of the world.

Perhaps one of the reasons for such popularity is that philately is never static. A variety of stamps can be collected from hundreds of countries. Each year thousands of new stamps are issued.

That's why many collectors, after serious work in the hobby, soon specialize. Some may collect adhesives of only one country. Others may want a group of countries such as British Colonies, Central America or the Middle East.

Coming into prominence, especially in English - speaking lands, is the topical specialist. This individual collects stamps pertaining to one subject — sports, religion, music, aviation, animals or railroads.

Take sports for example. Here are some sports that have appeared on postage stamps: yacht racing — Bahamas, polo-Iran, salmon fishing — Newfoundland, baseball — United States, spear fishing —Fiji, soccer — Bulgaria, gymnastics — Czechoslovakia, wrestling — Finland, tug of war — France, auto racing — Italy, javelin throwing — Japan, basketball—Monaco, boxing — Netherlands, figure skating — Poland, tennis—Russia, ice hockey — Sweden, putting the stone — Switzerland.

Many nations have issued special sports sets honoring specific athletic meets or Olympic Games. Hungary has had several such sets which have included skiing, skating, soccer, hurdling, fencing, hammer throwing and water polo.

If one were interested in saving stamps on animals, such a collection might include: goose — Canada, pheasant — Japan, grouse—Finland, elephant — Ceylon, caribou— Newfoundland, gazelle—Togo, lion — Mozambique, bison — United States, leopard — Belgian Congo, Alpine hare — Liechtenstein.

For fish enthusiasts there are: trout — Japan, swordfish — New Zealand, dolphin — Cayman Islands, sailfish — Seychelles.

Artists and works of art are likewise universal. Greece has issued a stamp showing St. Paul by El Greco. An Austrian stamp has Picture of a Woman by Kriehuber. Belgium has issued St. Magdalena by Gerard David and Self Portrait by Rubens.

One might even save stamps related to one person. Several countries have honored George Washington, Christopher Columbus, Florence Nightingale and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Organizations such as the Universal Postal Union, Red Cross and the United Nations have received philatelic honors all over the globe.

There are innumerable possibilities in topical collecting. It's up to you.

MUSIC

The New York Philharmonic - Symphony gave the world premiere of the newest work of Ralph Shapey, youthful composer, on Feb. 9, with Dimitri Mitropoulos conducting. It is a one - movement symphony in five sections, entitled: "Challenge: The Family of Man." The work was inspired by an exhibition of photographs at the Museum of Modern Arts with the title, "The Family of Man."

On the same program Jascha Heifetz, violinist, was soloist in Beethoven's violin concerto. He will tour Europe this spring and then hang up his bow for all of next season in order to have a "sabbatical" year of rest.

The sixth concert of the season of Thomas Scherman and the Little Orchestra featured two rarely heard sacred works — the 50th cantata of Johann Sebastian Bach and Schubert's A Flat Mass which he composed at the age of 22. The orchestra was joined by the Trinity Church Choir. The program also included Ralph Vaughan Williams' little known work, "Flos Campi," a suite for viola, small chorus, and orchestra.

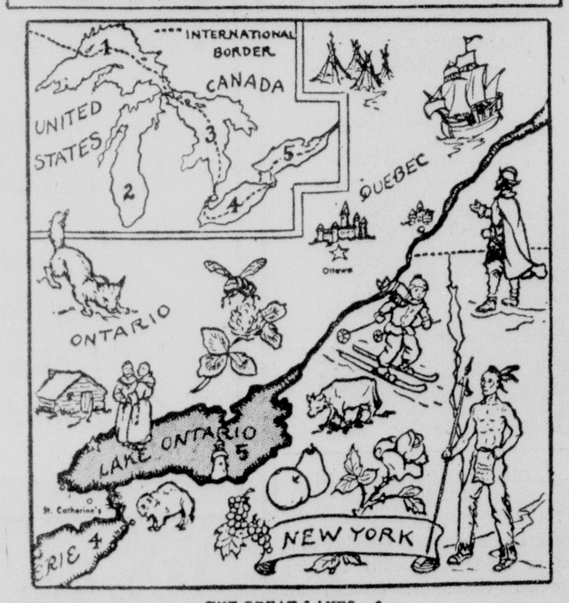
The Metropolitan Opera season has advanced to the first presentations of "La Boheme" and "Der Rosenkavalier."

In the first, a pleasingly youthful cast gave the piece the aura of youth which is required by the story but is not always present. Lovely Lucine Amara was the Mimi, Jean Fenn the Musetta, and Giuseppe Campora the Roldolfo.

In the latter, Lisa Della Casa, sang the princess role for the first time at the Met, and Otto Edelmann gave his first Baron Ochs. Rise Stevens was back in her accustomed role of the cavalier. The Met hadn't staged "Der Rosenkavalier" since the 1952-53 season.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS



THE GREAT LAKES - 6

Lake Ontario

The smallest and most eastern of the Great Lakes -- Lake Ontario -- never freezes in the winter. This enables large ships to sail the entire length of the lake during any part of the year.

Lake Ontario lies between the Province of Ontario in Canada and the northwestern part of New York. Emptying into the Atlantic Ocean through the St. Lawrence river, Lake Ontario is connected with Lake Erie at the southwest by the Niagara river and the Welland Canal. It is connected with the Hudson river and New York City by the Erie Canal.

Wherever junior editors live -- in cities or on farms -- they are affected by the busy operations of the Great Lakes. All together the Lakes play a great part in the prosperity of both the United States and Canada. Truly they are deserving of their name -- Great Lakes.

JUNIOR EDITORS pays $10 for any reader's idea that is used. Write your suggestion to "Junior Editors" in care of this newspaper; it cannot be acknowledged or returned and in case of duplication of ideas, the first submission will be accepted.

MONDAY: Humpty-Dumpty on the Wall

By Josephine Lowman

'They're Either Too Young Or Too Old...!'

A recent letter from a young teen-ager says in part "Mother is afraid of growing older and I am afraid I will not grow old soon enough."

This just goes to show how people are harassed by age consciousness. Many women worry as they approach middle age, while both men and women are apt to be apologetic about their ages from middle age on.

Whenever we meet a person who never mentions age simply because he never thinks about it, that individual seems youthful. If we all could forget about age and just concentrate on life I think we would all be healthier, happier, and better looking.

Then think of all the teen-agers who are so impatient to grow up, to look grown-up and to make their own decisions. This impatience to make their own decisions is natural but it leads to a lot of turmoil between children and parents. This is too bad because it spoils so much fun they could have together.

The young lady who wrote the letter quoted above was worried because her bust had not developed by the age of 13½. She said that many of her friends of the same age already have curves.

Girls develop a bust at varying ages, some much sooner than others. There certainly is no need for worry if your bustline has not filled out by the age of 13 or even older.

Be patient about growing up. Enjoy the teen-age years and do not make them hectic by pulling at the leash. Soon enough you will have all the adult responsibilities you could ever hope for and you will look back on these carefree years wistfully at times. Before you know it you may be tempted to put your age back a few years rather than boost it.

Psychologists say that one of the best rules for vibrant living is to live fully in every period of life. Every age period has its advantages and special pleasures.

In Hollywood

By Jimmy Fidler

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 11 — Deborah Kerr flashes a quick smile in my direction, as I stand on the sidelines, during rehearsal of a scene for the musical version of "The King and I." Yul Brynner, the king, clears his throat with a reverbrating roar. Silence falls over the set.

Deborah's features immediately undergo a dramatic change. From the friendly, down-to-earth expression which is her natural look, her face becomes the face of "Anna", the rather prim but beautiful English-woman who teaches in the household of the King of Siam. She looks a bit frightened and somewhat awed, standing before the royal presence. Her eyes are downcast.

The scene is a magnificent reception hall in the palace. Glittering chandeliers, brilliant candelabra and lofty, gold-encrusted pillars reflect a rich glow on the highly polished black marble floor. Deborar wears a ballgown. But this is no ordinary ballgown. Sixty yard of mauve satin were used for the dress alone. Twenty more yards went into the petticoats. The skirt is one of those billowing kind, suspended from the waist over a heavy metal frame. The entire costume weights nearly fifty pounds!

Try suspending fifty pounds of dead weight around your body — try standing in the middle of a room for six or eight hours a day, with only a few breaks for resting. Try, at the same time, to look graceful, gay, completely at ease. Try acting a role, singing a song. It is not easy, believe me.

Nor is it easy for Deborah Kerr, although you'd never suspect this, from her conduct. Not until Walter Lang, the director yells "Cut!" Then Deborah's shoulders sag a little. She sighs with relief and patiently waits for three assistants to hold her gown so that she can walk back to her dressing-room. . .The actress slowly emerges as herself. The role of Anna is out there, on the stage.

"Let's have some hot tea", she says. "That'll pick up up a bit." After one or two sips, she seems as good as new — behaves as if the day has just begun.

Leaning back as far as the gown will allow, Deborah tells me, "I simply love 'Anna'. If an actress is lucky — she gets a part that does absolutely everything for her. This is it, for me. It's my "Gone With The Wind'. It only happens once in a lifetime."

"I didn't know you could sing and dance," I said.

Deborah laughed softly. "Jimmie," she said, "neither did anybody else. But I started my career as a youngster in London, in the Sadlers Wells Ballet. I wanted desperately to act, and as luck would have it, I was told, one afternoon, that Gabriel Pascal was auditioning. I was all prepared with some sort of fiery speech, to prove I was just the type. Pascal heard me through, then quietly asked me to recite the Lord's Prayer! For a moment I thought he was making fun of me — but he wasn't. I did it — and got the part."

"I didn't think much about going into movies, then. It was all theater. But I've got two little girls now, and I've gone through a bit of a change in my thinking. In the theater it is very difficult to maintain any kind of a home-life. During the run of "Tea and Sympathy" on Broadway, I found that out. When the children got up in the morning, I'd still be asleep. When I left for the theater, they'd be outdoors with their nurse, or in school. By the time I got home — they'd be fast asleep. When I'm making a movie, I seem terribly busy — but somehow there's time for everything — and especially for the children.

Deborah looked anxiously out of the door of her dressing-room, and then turned to me, explaining, "if I seem sort of absent-minded, it's because I expect my five-year-old Francesca, to arrive at any moment!" She went on to say. "Having them come to the studio now and then is fun for all of us. It brings them closer to what I'm doing, and when we get home, they chatter away about what they've seen here and even imitate my acting! It's sort of a game. I've learned that children don't have to be with their parents all the time, as long as they are secure in the knowledge that one or the other is within calling distance when a minor crisis comes up. They've just got to know that you're there, if they need you."

At this point, little "Frankie" arrived with her nurse.

Her dark eyes sparkling the youngster said, "stand up, mommy, and let me see your party dress."

Deborah obediently stood up and swirled, so that Frankie could see all of the petticoats too. "Oooh, that's pretty," she cried. "When I grow up will I have a dress like that?"

"Of course darling," laughed her mother. "If you play 'Mrs. Anna, too!"

The rest period was over. Deborah straightened her shoulders, stood tall and regal. She became "Mrs. Anna," once more. With the aid of many hands, she swept onto the set, this time to dance for the king — and her small daughter, Franscesca

Opening lead: King of clubs.

In today's hand, we seem to come face to face with a paradox, for declarer, as a safety measure, takes a finesse in order to avoid the risk of another finesse. This sounds rather confusing, but before we get down to an analysis of the play, let us look for a minute at the bidding.

After South's one spade response, North's hand became worth 19 points in support of spades (the queen becomes promoted and the void is valued at 5 points), so he made a jump raise. South, having a good opening bid himself, had little doubt that the hand would produce a slam but decided to probe by showing the ace of diamonds. North returned the compliment by displaying the ace of hearts, whereupon South contracted for a small slam in spades.

The king of clubs was opened. declarer ruffed in dummy and drew the outstanding trumps in two rounds. It was time to develop the diamond suit and declarer realized that with a holding of nine cards in a suit the play for the drop was slightly superior to an attempt to finesse. If the diamond queen failed to drop, declarer still had open to him the 50 per cent chance that the heart finesse would work.

On the verge of executing this play, declarer suddenly saw a way to assure his contract regardless of the adverse holdings. When West played the ten of diamonds at the second round of that suit, there is only one diamond missing, and that one is the queen. By finessing the jack declarer cinches the hand. If the finesse should win, declarer has but to try the heart finesse for an overtrick. If the finesse should lose, East will have the doubtful pleasure of presenting South with a trick.

If East returns a club, declarer ruffs in dummy discarding one of the hearts in the closed hand. The other heart goes on the long diamond. If East returns a heart, obviously, it is into the ace-queen in dummy and, thereafter the defense might as well issue the order to cease fire.

ASKS FOR SHIP WRIT

HOUSTON, Feb. 11 — UP —A West German shipping firm asked U. S. District court Friday for a writ of attachment on the Norwegian tanker Havtrins, scheduled to dock soon at Houston. The firm charges that the tanker "operating in an improper manner," hit the German firm's ship, Elbe, in the North Sea Sept. 29 and killed 15 members of the Elbe's crew. The German firm, Nordsee Deutsch Hochseifricherei Aklien Gesellschaft, also wants $350,000 damages.

Epic Of Love And War 'Helen Of Troy' Opens

"Helen of Troy," Warner Bros.' spectacular film from the story of Homer's "Iliad," premieres locally today at the Paramount Theatre. The motion picture depicts the period fabled in the history of the ancient world as "the Age of Titans," when the two great powers of the era, the Greek city states and the city of Troy fought for world supremacy. The entire encounter is believed to have been started by Queen Helen's love for Paris, Prince of Troy.

"Helen of Troy" was launched by Warner Bros. in an unprecedented global premiere, January 26. For the first time in motion picture history, a film was shown simultaneously in over 50 countries.

Rossana Podesta, the Italian beauty who won the role after hundreds were tested for the part, is seen as Helen, the girl whose face launched a thousand ships. In the part of Paris, described as the "handsomest man in the world" is Jack Sernas. A leading actor in European films, Sernas, it is predicted, will soon become a favorite of American motion picture fans.

"Helen of Troy" brings to the screen the passionate story of the Spartan Queen Helen, and the Trojan Prince Paris, and the war which raged for ten years. The battles of barbaric fury which Homer described in "The Iliad" are reportedly brought to the screen on a scale never dreamed of by the Greeks or the Trojans. The burning and pillage of Troy; the storming of the golden gates; the hand-to-hand combat of Paris and Ajax; the death of Achilles; the wonder horse built by the Greeks; and above all, the beauty of Helen; are some of the scenes which promise a motion picture of historic importance.

"Helen of Troy" was filmed in CinemaScope and WarnerColor in Rome at the CineCitta Studios and on locations throughout Italy. Robert Wise directed.

LATVIAN PIANIST TO APPEAR HERE—Herman Godes, gifted Latvian pianist who preferred to remain a displaced person to returning to his Russian-occupied homeland after four years in German concentration camps in World War II, will be the Twin City Concert Association's second offering of the 1955-56 season. He will appear in the Neville High School auditorium at 8:15 p.m. Monday, Feb. 20, in the course of his second season on the American concert stage. Music critics have lauded his "true musicianship and power of interpretation."

Little Theatre Curtain Call

By FLETA D. LATHAM

As with all our Little Theatre production, authenticity is the keynote of sets and costumes. And "The Little Foxes" is no exception. The set is being furnished with Victorian pieces and the costumes will be of the period, too.

Le Petit Theatre of New Orleans has graciously loaned the lovely costumes which will be worn by Beth Breese, Alice Montgomery, Sandra Johnson, and Judy Calk.

Wardrobes for Bid Causey, Charles Wilhite, Gerald Monday, K. D. Hayes, Art Johnson Jr. and Lovell Hayden have been ordered from a costume house in New York and should arrive soon.

Fine acting, magnificent set, stunning costumes and a good script equal an illustrious production. And that is what "The Little Foxes" promises to be.

Be sure to see this show when it opens on Friday, February 17 for a five nights run.

Random notes: Rehearsals are underway for NLSC's production of "A Man Called Peter". George Brian who is directing the play tells us it is adapted from the book of the same name and, to his knowledge, has not been done by any theatre group in Louisiana. It will be presented at Brown Auditorium on March 1 and 2 . . .

Edith and Jack Coburn have made a victorian floor lamp especially for the antique lamp shade which Little Theatre has been saving for just such a play as "The Little Foxes."

Little Theatre Sketch

Bid Causey . . . portraying the role of Horace in "The Little Foxes" describes himself as "a dull character." We think he is trying to hide his light under a bushel basket.

Bid says he has no particular hobbies. Likes to hunt, enjoys spectator sports, particularly football, and he plays golf.

In the culinary department he likes good, thick, juicy, barbecue steaks, Mexican and French foods. Has to watch the amount he eats — gets fat.

Prefers casual clothes but does like to dress up occasionally.

Ambition — same as everyone— to make a lot of money. Says that if people were placed in two classes, doer or dreamer, he would fall under the dreamer classification.

Bid who is well known in Little Theatre circles, has appeared in numerous plays, the latest being "Dial M for Murder". We know that his portrayal of Horace in "The Little Foxes" will be skillfully handled.

Mardi Gras Ball For Colored Will Be Held Tuesday

Frank Perkins for the 29th time will stage a Mardi Gras celebration for Monroe. All day Tuesday, attired in a fire red costume, and with pitchfork in hand, he will appear at many places in downtown Monroe.

The final event, the Mardi Gras ball, following the crowning of the queen, will take place at 1711 DeSiard street.

This year there will be no parade by King Zulu and his retinue.

2. It is the feeling of age, whether it's men or women. Bodily powers slow down with age — mental powers do not, although mental speed declines. Even mental powers decline considerably because people feel they decline. In "Catholic Digest," man says to 100-year-old eastern farmer, "You won't be here long." "No," he answers, "I'm planning soon to move out West." Another ascribed his 100 years to "taking vitamin pills after 99!" Feel old, and you are old.

3. An experiment by educational consultant Andrew F. Schott made up on 2,000 Milwaukee school children (related in "Parent's Magazine") shows that children using adding machines in grades 4 to 9 averaged three times their arithmetic learning. The highest grades — 4th, 5th, and 6th — learned at twice the normal rate, while 7th, 8th, and 9th graders gained five times the normal rate — as much in one semester as they would ordinarily learn in two years. Problem-solving ability gained as much. 1956, John F. Dille Co.

HOUSTON, Feb. 11 — UP —A West German shipping firm asked U. S. District court Friday for a writ of attachment on the Norwegian tanker Havtrins, scheduled to dock soon at Houston. The firm charges that the tanker "operating in an improper manner," hit the German firm's ship, Elbe, in the North Sea Sept. 29 and killed 15 members of the Elbe's crew. The German firm, Nordsee Deutsch Hochseifricherei Aklien Gesellschaft, also wants $350,000 damages.

Epic Of Love And War 'Helen Of Troy' Opens

"Helen of Troy," Warner Bros.' spectacular film from the story of Homer's "Iliad," premieres locally today at the Paramount Theatre. The motion picture depicts the period fabled in the history of the ancient world as "the Age of Titans," when the two great powers of the era, the Greek city states and the city of Troy fought for world supremacy. The entire encounter is believed to have been started by Queen Helen's love for Paris, Prince of Troy.

"Helen of Troy" was launched by Warner Bros. in an unprecedented global premiere, January 26. For the first time in motion picture history, a film was shown simultaneously in over 50 countries.

Rossana Podesta, the Italian beauty who won the role after hundreds were tested for the part, is seen as Helen, the girl whose face launched a thousand ships. In the part of Paris, described as the "handsomest man in the world" is Jack Sernas. A leading actor in European films, Sernas, it is predicted, will soon become a favorite of American motion picture fans.

"Helen of Troy" brings to the screen the passionate story of the Spartan Queen Helen, and the Trojan Prince Paris, and the war which raged for ten years. The battles of barbaric fury which Homer described in "The Iliad" are reportedly brought to the screen on a scale never dreamed of by the Greeks or the Trojans. The burning and pillage of Troy; the storming of the golden gates; the hand-to-hand combat of Paris and Ajax; the death of Achilles; the wonder horse built by the Greeks; and above all, the beauty of Helen; are some of the scenes which promise a motion picture of historic importance.

"Helen of Troy" was filmed in CinemaScope and WarnerColor in Rome at the CineCitta Studios and on locations throughout Italy. Robert Wise directed.

LATVIAN PIANIST TO APPEAR HERE—Herman Godes, gifted Latvian pianist who preferred to remain a displaced person to returning to his Russian-occupied homeland after four years in German concentration camps in World War II, will be the Twin City Concert Association's second offering of the 1955-56 season. He will appear in the Neville High School auditorium at 8:15 p.m. Monday, Feb. 20, in the course of his second season on the American concert stage. Music critics have lauded his "true musicianship and power of interpretation."

Little Theatre Curtain Call

By FLETA D. LATHAM

As with all our Little Theatre production, authenticity is the keynote of sets and costumes. And "The Little Foxes" is no exception. The set is being furnished with Victorian pieces and the costumes will be of the period, too.

Le Petit Theatre of New Orleans has graciously loaned the lovely costumes which will be worn by Beth Breese, Alice Montgomery, Sandra Johnson, and Judy Calk.

Wardrobes for Bid Causey, Charles Wilhite, Gerald Monday, K. D. Hayes, Art Johnson Jr. and Lovell Hayden have been ordered from a costume house in New York and should arrive soon.

Fine acting, magnificent set, stunning costumes and a good script equal an illustrious production. And that is what "The Little Foxes" promises to be.

Be sure to see this show when it opens on Friday, February 17 for a five nights run.

Random notes: Rehearsals are underway for NLSC's production of "A Man Called Peter". George Brian who is directing the play tells us it is adapted from the book of the same name and, to his knowledge, has not been done by any theatre group in Louisiana. It will be presented at Brown Auditorium on March 1 and 2 . . .

Edith and Jack Coburn have made a victorian floor lamp especially for the antique lamp shade which Little Theatre has been saving for just such a play as "The Little Foxes."

Little Theatre Sketch

Bid Causey . . . portraying the role of Horace in "The Little Foxes" describes himself as "a dull character." We think he is trying to hide his light under a bushel basket.

Bid says he has no particular hobbies. Likes to hunt, enjoys spectator sports, particularly football, and he plays golf.

In the culinary department he likes good, thick, juicy, barbecue steaks, Mexican and French foods. Has to watch the amount he eats — gets fat.

Prefers casual clothes but does like to dress up occasionally.

Ambition — same as everyone—to make a lot of money. Says that if people were placed in two classes, doer or dreamer, he would fall under the dreamer classification.

Bid who is well known in Little Theatre circles, has appeared in numerous plays, the latest being "Dial M for Murder". We know that his portrayal of Horace in "The Little Foxes" will be skillfully handled.

Mardi Gras Ball For Colored Will Be Held Tuesday

Frank Perkins for the 29th time will stage a Mardi Gras celebration for Monroe. All day Tuesday, attired in a fire red costume, and with pitchfork in hand, he will appear at many places in downtown Monroe.

The final event, the Mardi Gras ball, following the crowning of the queen, will take place at 1711 DeSiard street.

This year there will be no parade by King Zulu and his retinue.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

Answer to uestion No. 1

1. Yes. A farmer told his doctor, he was worried about his wife's health. He said, "After doin' the milkin', gettin' breakfast, fixin' the school lunches for the kids, sloppin' the higs, and doin' the washin', she complains of bein' tired." This is why in L. M. Terman's five-year study of marriage, psychologists rated "inconsiderateness" most serious among over fifty complaints. Our booklet, "Facing the Facts of Married Life," helps both husbands and wives. Nonprofit. 15c (coin only) and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Answer to uestion No. 2

2. It is the feeling of age, whether it's men or women. Bodily powers slow down with age — mental powers do not, although mental speed declines. Even mental powers decline considerably because people feel they decline. In "Catholic Digest," man says to 100-year-old eastern farmer, "You won't be here long." "No," he answers, "I'm planning soon to move out West." Another ascribed his 100 years to "taking vitamin pills after 99!" Feel old, and you are old.

Answer to uestion No. 3

3. An experiment by educational consultant Andrew F. Schott made up on 2,000 Milwaukee school children (related in "Parent's Magazine") shows that children using adding machines in grades 4 to 9 averaged three times their arithmetic learning. The highest grades — 4th, 5th, and 6th — learned at twice the normal rate, while 7th, 8th, and 9th graders gained five times the normal rate — as much in one semester as they would ordinarily learn in two years. Problem-solving ability gained as much. 1956, John F. Dille Co.

Becker Joins Up With New Army Medical Program

Quinn H. Becker, of Monroe, a senior at the Louisiana State University School of Medicine, became one of the first youths in the state to enroll in the Army's new Senior Medical Student program as he was sworn in as a second lieutenant, medical service corps, by Colonel J. G. Reynolds, chief, Louisiana Military District, in a brief ceremony in the Colonel's office.

The 25-year-old Becker, who lives with his wife, the former Gladys Roussell of Oak Grove and their three-year-old son, Quinn, at 631 Yetta avenue in Harvey, will complete his senior year of medical training as a commissioned officer, drawing full pay and allowances.

Upon completion of the current academic year, Lt. Becker will become eligible for promotion to the rank of 1st lieutenant, medical corps, U. S. Army Reserve, and will be called to active duty for a three-year period.

Attending Northeast Louisiana State College in Monroe on an academic scholarship, young Becker later completed his undergraduate studies at L. S. U. He is a member of Alpha Omega Alpha, honorary medical fraternity. Participating in the Army ROTC program in college, Becker was commissioned a 2d lieutenant, military police corps reserve in June 1952. Since September 1955, Lt. Becker has been assigned to the 332d General Hospital, a reserve unit at Camp Leroy Johnson.

Quick Butter-Fluff Rolls

Recipe by Rita Martin

1 cup lukewarm buttermilk or sour milk
¼ cup sugar
1 tsp. salt
½ tsp. soda
¼ cup shortening
2 eggs
1 cake compressed yeast or 1 pkg. dry granular yeast*
¼ cup lukewarm water*
4-4¼ cups sifted Robin Hood Flour

*Soak yeast in lukewarm water 5 minutes.

BEAT—2 minutes on electric mixer or by hand until smooth.
STIR IN—remaining flour to make soft dough. Knead on lightly floured board until smooth and elastic.
ROLL—dough into oblong 10" x 16". Cut into 6 long strips. Spread with soft butter. Place 3 strips of dough in each stack.
CUT—each stack into 12 equal pieces (1½"). Place in greased muffin cups; brush with butter. Cover and let rise until light (45-60 minutes).

A LETTER? WHO FROM?

WHAT'S SHE SAY?

WOW! THEY MUST BE RICH.

OH, THEY'RE GETTIN' ALONG. I GUESS. AND SHE SAYS ROSCO WAS REAL BUSY HARVESTING 20 ACRES OF WINTER TOMATOES.

TWENTY ACRES?

YOU KNOW WHAT I PAID FOR TOMATOES IN THE STORE THIS WINTER? ONE DIME APIECE!

YES, SIREE! A WHOLE DIME! TEN CENTS A TOMATO! THINK OF THE MILLIONS OF TOMATOES YOU COULD GROW ON 20 ACRES!

THEY OWN ORANGE GROVES TOO, AND... THEY MUST BE [illegible]!

MILLIONAIRES ...AND NEITHER OF THEM MARRIED... NOBODY TO LEAVE ALL THAT MONEY TO!

THEN IT'S HIGH TIME WE'RE INVITIN' GOOD OLD COUSIN ROSCO AND LUCILLE TO VISIT US, SO WE CAN GET REAL FRIENDLY.

HOT DOGS! NOW YOU'RE CLICKIN', MOM!

WHOOP!

OH, DEAR! I SURE HATE FOR THEM TO SEE THE HOUSE LOOKIN' LIKE THIS.

WE'VE JUST GOT TO WALL-PAPER THE PARLOR, SI, AND--

AND I GOTTA GET ME A NEW TOOTH.

WHOA! HOLD ON!

YOU TRYIN' TO RUIN EVERYTHING? IF WE APPEAR PROSPEROUS, THEY'LL DO NOTHING. BUT IF WE'RE NEEDY... AND HINT RIGHT... OUR BELOVED COUSINS MAY REALLY LET GO OF SOME OF THAT MONEY.

OH... I SEE.

POP, YOU'RE A GENIUS!

MEANWHILE: I'M REALLY TOUCHED, BABY SISTER. THEY'RE THE ONLY COUSINS WHO EVER THOUGHT ENOUGH OF US--TO ASK US TO VISIT THEM.

ISN'T IT WONDERFUL! NOW, LET'S SEE, YOU'LL NEED NEW CLOTHES... A NEW SUIT, HAT, SHOES---

WHO, ME? BUT WE'VE JUST BOUGHT A CAR, REDECORATED THE HOUSE AND PAID OFF THE MORTGAGE. I CAN'T AFFORD A NEW SUIT!

JUST THE SAME, BROTHER, WE HAVEN'T SEEN THEM IN YEARS, AND WE MUST MAKE A GOOD IMPRESSION.

YOUR MOTHER TOLD ME YOU WERE GOING TO MARRY THAT MAN BARTON~

OH, DARLING, GRANDPA WAS TRYING TO FIND ME A HUSBAND. I WAS ONLY HUMORING HIM. YOU KNOW THERE'S ONLY ONE MAN FOR ME.

I FEEL BETTER NOW, DIANA. I'M ALREADY OVERDUE IN THE JUNGLE, BUT I'LL BE BACK SOON.

I'LL BE WAITING ALWAYS.

~AND HE FINISHED OFF THAT MONSTROUS GRIZZLY JUST LIKE THIS~THEN OVER THE CLIFF HE WENT WITH THE OTHER ONE~NEVER SAW ANYTHING LIKE IT~!

YES, HE HAS A WAY OF GETTING THINGS DONE.

HAS HE! THE WAY HE HANDLED THOSE TWO ARMED THUGS WITH HIS BARE HANDS! SUCH NERVE~SUCH SPEED~

PAPA ~~ER~ MR. BARTON IS WAITING TO SEE YOU.

WILSON McCOY 2-12

ER~MR. BARTON, THE ER~POSITION I HAD IN MIND FOR YOU IS FILLED. MY OFFICE WILL FIND YOU SOMETHING ELSE.

THANK YOU, MR. PALMER.

HE NEVER TOLD ME WHAT THE POSITION WAS.

HE IS THE LIMIT! HE WOULDN'T LET HIS GRANDDAUGHTER BE INTERESTED IN A MASKED MAN WHO LIVED IN A CAVE. HE'D FIND A PROPER HUSBAND. NOW LISTEN TO HIM!

IF YOU EVER LET GO OF HIM, I'LL CUT YOU OFF WITHOUT A DIME!

NEW ADVENTURE NEXT WEEK

TIM TYLER'S LUCK

BY LYMAN YOUNG and TOM MASSEY ®

LET'S START BACK TO YOUR SHACK, MR. PACKER. I'M WORRIED ABOUT SPUD—

OKAY, THIS SHOULD SATISFY US FOR TODAY!

IT'S GOLD THEY'RE GETTING! HM-THEY'RE LEAVING THE PLACE!

CHASE BACK FOR 'EM, LAD— I'LL HIKE AHEAD SLOWLY TILL YOU REJOIN ME— I'LL TAKE THE SHOVEL—

BIRCH IS PAYING A VISIT TO OLD PACKER'S SHACK! WE'RE BOTH INTERESTED IN THAT GOLD YOU'VE BEEN PANNING FROM THE STREAM—

MEANTIME...

I'LL HAVE TIME TO TAKE A QUICK PLUNGE IN THE RIVER BEFORE TIM AND HOAGY RETURN—
